B. Office Building

Boston's office space increased by more than 50 percent in the last ten years with an increment of 13.2 million square feet of new space and 500,000 square feet of converted space, lifting the city's stock of private space from 25,000,000 square feet in 1968 to 38,000,000 square feet in 1978. This office development was completed at a cost of $400 million. This growth is without historic parallels and compares with 3,000,000 square feet completed in the early 1960s; 3,000,000 square feet in the thirty-year period prior to 1960 and 8,000,000 square feet in the previous record-breaking decade of the 1920s.

This extraordinary period of office building for Boston's professional, business, finance, communications, and utility industries has had a profound impact on the growth and transformation of the city's economy. These services activities which experienced virtually continuous growth in this period, account for more than one quarter of the city's jobs. In this process of construction and growth, 66,000 permanent jobs were generated. The dynamic growth of these activities responded to the public initiative embodied in the city's public improvements program, the Boston-sponsored state tax-incentive law, 121A, the urban renewal program, and the national trend toward greater growth in services activities rather than in goods producing activities.

Office construction activity peaked in 1975 when 5,000,000 square feet of space was completed. With this concentration of completions in one year and the national economic recession of 1975, the office vacancy rate rose until early 1977. With economic recovery in the nation and in Boston, office vacancies have fallen sharply since then. There is a shortage of office space at present, heightened activity for the conversion and rehabilitation of older commercial buildings, and a notable rise in office rents. The market tightening will intensify as there were negligible completions last year and none anticipated in 1979.

The future looks bright. New office building projects are entering the pipeline. A just-completed survey of the enterprises occupying Boston's office space reveals that these firms plan to expand their employment by 15,000 workers over the next five years and will require 3,000,000 square feet of new or renovated space.

NEW SENIOR SERVICE COORDINATOR AT EAST BOSTON

East Boston senior residents will be better connected to the services they need through the addition of a Boston Elderly Commission employee, John Zucarro, who works as the Neighborhood Senior Service Coordinator in the East Boston Little City Hall.

The Neighborhood Senior Service Program (NSSP), operated by the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, places a full-time staff member of the commission in each Little City Hall. These staff persons serve as liaisons for information and referrals on health and social services available to senior citizens from both the city and private agencies.

Mayor Kevin H. White emphasizes: "The NSSP coordinator provides seniors with better access to elderly services and allows them to have their needs cared for right in their own neighborhoods.

"We are hoping that with Mr. Zucarro in the Little City Hall, more seniors will take advantage of available services," says Elderly Commissioner Elaine Guiney.

As Neighborhood Senior Service Coordinator, John is coordinating the upcoming East Boston Senior Citizens Day on June 26 at the East Boston/Harborside School. Special events for the day will include: entertainment, refreshments, a Mayor's Older Bostonians (M.O.B.) registration table, free blood pressure tests, two slide shows, and guest speakers Mayor Kevin H. White and Captain Louis Scapichio of the Boston Police Department.

Those interested in East Boston Senior Citizens Day or any of the other programs offered by the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly should call John Zucarro at 567-6460.

BLOODLINE IS LIFELINE GIVE BLOOD

EMT BOYCOTT OF DISASTER DRILL TERMED "EXTRAORDINARILY UNFORTUNATE"

Boston Health and Hospitals Commissioner David L. Rosenbloom, on June 6, called the announced intention of city-employed emergency medical technicians (EMTs) to boycott Logan Airport Major Disaster Drill "extraordinarily unfortunate," and hoped that the EMT's action would not result in erosion of public trust in the service.

Said Commissioner Rosenbloom, "It is extraordinarily unfortunate that the EMTs on whom we have come to rely in times of emergency, have decided to picket for their own private interest instead of participating in a voluntary training exercise at Logan Airport. That drill could save lives in an airport emergency."

Commissioner Rosenbloom said, "This boycott reflects poorly upon this city's emergency medical service. Contingency plans built into the Logan drill covered the absences of the EMTs, but their boycott raises questions about their intentions to maintain normal service to Boston residents."

The EMTs boycotted the drill to express their dissatisfaction with a negotiated contract agreement. Under the terms of the current contract which expires in 1980, EMTs will receive an 8 percent raise this year. In addition, under the terms of that contract, the union and the city submitted a dispute over the EMTs' pay level to an independent binding arbitration. The arbitrator ruled in favor of the EMTs giving them an additional 4.5 percent increase, retroactive to January 1, 1978. The city is now moving to implement those pay raises in conformance with the contract.

Additionally, the city has offered to set up a joint committee with the EMTs to begin discussion about the contract. The results of those discussions would become part of the next contract negotiations.

Rosenbloom added, "The Boston EMTs have received ten wage increases since 1973. Their salary range compares favorably with the national average for EMTs. That national average is $4.80 per hour. City EMTs average $4.95 per hour. The contract was a result of freely conducted negotiations. The city is respecting the terms of the contract, and we expect the union to do the same."

Commissioner Rosenbloom warned the EMTs that any attempt to implement a boycott of their regular duties by hampering in any way the delivery of patients to Boston hospitals would be met sternly.

"The statute in this regard is clear. Any concerted boycott of duties will be construed as withholding services. The law interprets that as a strike — and strikes of municipal employees are illegal."

Rosenbloom reassured the Boston public that normal ambulance service in the city will continue, but that "911" would still secure emergency ambulance service.

SUMMERTHING: INSTANT HAPPINESS!

Vice-Mayor Sullivan announces Summerthing's 12th Season

Free concerts by nationally known performers will highlight the schedule for Summerthing's twelfth season which was announced June 7, in ceremonies at City Hall Plaza.

As clowns and musicians performed and the 68-foot, Busch hot-air balloon hovered overhead, the Summerthing showmobile provided the setting for the announcement by Boston Vice-Mayor Edward T. Sullivan.

"Since its founding by Mayor White in 1967, Summerthing has offered Boston residents something new and special every summer," the Vice-Mayor said. He went on to announce that this year for the first time Busch Beer will sponsor sixteen, free, neighborhood performances by such nationally known entertainers as Tom Rush, the Kingston Trio, Leo Kottke, Stanley Turtenline, Freddy Hubbard, Tito Puente, and Mongo Santa Maria.

Busch will also sponsor "Jazz at Copley Square," a series of free concerts every Sunday evening beginning July 8, and a special benefit concert for Summerthing featuring James Taylor at Harvard Stadium.

Also speaking at today's ceremonies was Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs Director, Helen Rees, who expressed the city's appreciation for the contributions of Busch and other local and national corporations that make Summerthing possible.

Summerthing will kick off the season on July 1, with the third annual Walk to the Sea, featuring the Child World Parade, dedicated to the International Year of the Child with elephants and camels, floats, balloons, marching bands, and antique cars. The parade will begin in Copley Square at 1 p.m. and proceed to Waterfront Park where the Greatest Children's Show on Earth will be presented from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Also on July 1, will be an 8 p.m. performance by a major entertainment act at City Hall Plaza, and a national fireworks display at 10 p.m. at Boston Inner Harbor.

Other opening events, on Wednesday, July 4, will include the Boston Crusaders at 9:30 a.m. at City Hall Plaza, a harbor parade of sail, and the annual "Turnaround" of the U.S.S. "Constitution," and an 8 p.m. performance by the Boston Pops Orchestra at the Hatch Shell.

Among the many other Summerthing activities coordinated by the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs scheduled for this summer are:

- Dance at the Hatch Shell, with the Alvin Ailey Dance Company, the Joffrey Ballet II, the Hartford Ballet, the Louis Falco Dance Company and other troupes.

- Fourteen performances by the Boston Ballet in Boston neighborhoods.

- Big Bands on Boston Common providing music and dancing every Saturday evening.

- Discotech and Soul Train, providing music and disc jockeys in Boston neighborhoods every night during the summer.

- Senior Summerthing, which will send ten shows a day to Boston nursing homes, elderly housing projects, nutrition centers, and social centers throughout the city.

— Summerthing Circus Theatre, providing two performances a day for children all summer long in Boston neighborhoods.

These and all other Summerthing events will be listed in daily and weekly newspapers, and on ARTS-LINE, 261-1660.

SCIENCE MUSEUM GAINS IN LAST FISCAL YEAR

For the fourth consecutive year, Boston's Museum of Science has raised more than $2 million toward its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary campaign goal, President Mark C. Wheeler announced at the recent annual meeting.

Almost $9.5 million has now been acquired, with some $3 million still needed to reach the $12.5 million goal by the campaign's end in May, 1980, Wheeler said.

In giving the director's report, Bradford Washburn said the museum had almost one million visitors in its 1978-79 fiscal year. The count was 998,393. Its biggest day and an all-time high was last July 4 when it clocked 12,139 visitors, almost double its previous record day.

The School Visits Program contributed to these increases with 20,000 more children from this state and 5,000 more from out of state participating over the previous year. The total was 222,000.

Other gains included a rise in corporate support, bringing to 431 the number of Business Members, all giving unrestricted funds. Ninety-one are Horizon Group Members, with $1,000 or more in annual dues.

Washburn paid special tribute to the volunteer Service League which contributed $100,000, raised mainly through a series of giant garage sales, for a solar energy exhibition area in the new Theatre of Electricity Building.

Washburn also commented on the Museum's strong international reputation. In the last three weeks alone, he said, professional visitors seeking ideas have come from fourteen countries, from China to the Ivory Coast to Venezuela. He quoted a Hongkong leader involved in planning a science museum for that city who explained its need in the same terms the Museum of Science uses:

"The strength of our city will depend directly on the quality of its citizens, and this quality tomorrow will depend directly on the quality of the education of our children today."

President Wheeler's report revealed in addition that the museum has achieved 85 percent and 86 percent of the matching funds for grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities respectively. The matching effort broadening the museum's support, bringing 1,053 new donors in two years.

The goals of the current campaign are, Wheeler said, to complete the construction of the Theatre of Electricity Building, equip it, and operate it, as well as to double endowment, cover operating deficits, and make improvements in the Charles Hayden Planetarium.

66,000 BOSTON STUDENTS RECEIVE ASSIGNMENTS

Student assignments for the 1979-1980 school year were issued on Wednesday, June 6, 1979, to 66,000 Boston Public School students. Judge W. Arthur Garrity approved the assignments.

Parents or students seeking assistance may visit or telephone any school or community district office, or they may call the School Information Center at 726-6555. The Information Center, is located at 26 Court Street.

The recruitment drive for new kindergarteners and first-graders will continue through the summer. School officials are optimistic that they can slow down the enrollment decline in the school system. They pointed out that the popular Extended Day Kindergarten Program still has some vacancies. They also noted that federal and state funds made available to Boston since the start of desegregation have enabled the system to provide a wide range of enrichment and remedial services in its elementary schools. John Coakley, senior officer for Desegregation Implementation, said that he was especially encouraged by enrollments in the ten high school Cooperative Vocational Education programs. For the first time in five years, these programs, which provide training in such skill areas as auto repair, electricity, and business education, are at or near capacity.

TRACK IMPROVEMENTS SET FOR MBTA

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), on June 4, awarded a contract not to exceed $2,595,870 to the Lexington firm of Thomas K. Dyer, Inc., for the provision of engineering and design work necessary for a track improvement program which will see up to 40 percent of the Authority's rapid transit and streetcar trackage reconstructed.

Since this contract exceeds $1 million, prior approval from the United States Department of Transportation is needed. The federal funds will represent 80 percent of the total project cost.

The track improvement program will rebuild track segments that have not been renewed within the last twenty years. It will consist of renewal of track, crossovers, and turnouts on the Green Line streetcar system including the Arborway, Beacon Street, Commonwealth Avenue, Riverside, and central subway as far as Lechmere Station.

Also, the three rapid transit lines' trackage will be rebuilt from Codman Yard on the Cambridge-Dorchester Red Line to Harvard Square; Orient Heights Yard on the Blue Line; and the Orange Line subway between Essex Station and Haymarket Station.

The first construction work in connection with this contract is expected to get under way in the summer of 1980.

A DECADE OF DEVELOPMENT IN BOSTON

Part V

C. Hotel Construction

The construction of 2,000 hotel rooms since 1968 makes up almost one-third of Boston's present stock of 7,000 rooms. Some 1,800 rooms had been built in the the early 1960s. In the thirty years before that, however, less than 100 rooms were constructed. The demand for hotel rooms in the city has increased notably over the last ten years and Boston's hotels have enjoyed one of the highest occupancy rates in comparison with other large cities. Other indices of the severity of the hotel shortage and the growth in demand are: 1) a current deficit equivalent to one-fourth of the hotel stock; and 2) developer proposals to construct new hotels which would more than double the present stock. Boston's hotels have a relatively greater concentration in the luxury class reflecting the business role of the city and the clientele these firms serve. Business visitors account for one-half of Boston's hotel use; convention goers one-third; and tourists one-fifth. Boston's hotels are closely associated with the recent growth in the downtown, services-oriented economy and the increasing number of tourists who have flocked to the city over the past decade.

D. Housing Development

Almost 18,000 dwelling units were constructed in the 1968-78 decade. This is equivalent to 7 percent of the housing stock currently estimated at 241,000 units. The new construction signified an increase in the city's housing stock from 232,000 reported in the 1970 census; the net increase of 9,000 units reflects a similar number of demolitions since 1970. Most of the new housing has been publicly assisted. The housing construction activity also reflects a substantial level of housing improvement and upgrading, some condominium conversion and general increased confidence in neighborhood revitalization. Virtually every neighborhood of the city has benefited from housing investment. Substantial numbers of dwelling units for the elderly were constructed — over 6,000 in the period

Boston's housing improvement program, which provides cash grants for housing fix-up for low- and moderate-income families, has been a mainstay of the city's neighborhood revitalization strategy as demonstrated by its large share of the Community Development Block Grant program. A measure of the notable advance in neighborhood revitalization in the last few years is the substantial shift in housing mortgage financing from FHA "last resort" funding to private savings bank financing as rising confidence induced the private sector participation.

As a result of the new construction, demolitions, improvements, and conversions, as well as the normalization of mortgage financing, the physical condition of Boston's housing has been substantially bettered. Boston is now experiencing growing demand pressure on the housing stock due to the increasing attractiveness of the city as well as the coming of age of the postwar babies who are now in their home settlement period. UNICEF EXHIBIT AT CITY HALL

"Pictures from a Small Planet," an exhibit of children's artwork from an international collection, will be on display July 10 to August 15 at Boston City Hall's fifth floor Main Gallery. Sponsored by the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs, the exhibit is part of a United Nations national tour, dedicated to the International Year of the Child in its efforts to encourage all people to "Think Children."

The exhibits are designed to provide a vivid insight into the world as viewed by children, highlighting both the universality and the uniqueness of the child experience. The shows have been organized around such themes as fun and play, family portraits, city scenes, farm life, masks and celebrations, sports, work, religion, and nature.

Boston City Hall's fifth floor Main Gallery is free and open to the public, Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE ANNOUNCEMENT

Boston's Museum of Science announces four new Business Members from Boston.

There are four new Business Members added to the museum's list. They are Mass. Gas & Electric Light Supply Co., Friend Street; C. Walsh, Movers, 100 Southampton Street; George H. Dean Co., (Printers), 645 Summer Street; and Moseley, Hallgarten, Estabrook & Weedon, Inc., 60 State Street.

These firms are among more than 430 in New England that support the museum as a means of participating in cultural and educational activities in the community. One of the privileges of membership is free passes that can be distributed to employees and their families. Some 75,000 such passes are being made available to acquaint newcomers to the area with museum resources and to provide others with a family recreation facility.

Business and industrial firms also support the museum's program by sponsoring exhibits, acting as consultants, and utilizing the museum for science-oriented meetings and announcements.

E. Retail Development

Boston is in the early stages of a substantial retail revival following two decades of sales loss to the burgeoning suburban shopping malls, when the city's population was declining and that of the metro region was growing. The most vital sign of the retail revival is the construction, conversion, and substantial rehabilitation of almost 2 million square feet of retail space in the last decade, equivalent to about one-tenth of the city's total stock of retail space. Some of the leading retail developments over the period were Lord & Taylor in 1969; Woolworth's in 1970; Saks Fifth Avenue in 1971; Filene's addition in 1972; Faneuil Marketplace; and the Jordan Marsh redesign in 1978.

This new investment in the retail sector is banking on capturing a rising share of an expanding metropolitan market, plus growth flowing from an increase in downtown employment, population, and tourist visitors. Since 1972, Boston's per capita income has been rising more rapidly than that of the state, portending new, local retail market growth. Recent surveys of shopping patterns of three market areas — Faneuil Marketplace, the Downtown Crossing at Washington Street, and Newbury/Boylston Streets — reveal impressive success in capturing suburban shoppers, who make up more than one-half of the retail customers in these areas. The extraordinary success of Faneuil Marketplace, the good retail health of Newbury Street, and the Downtown Crossing bode well for the future role of retail trade in Boston's economy. Meanwhile, a notable movement of renovation of the city's neighborhood commercial districts has also been under way.

F. Medical Institutions

Some $370 million of investment in Boston's medical facilities more than maintained the city's international preeminence in this field. Medical services is one of Boston's great export activities. With thirty-five hospitals and the medical and dental schools of Harvard, Tufts, and Boston University, this key sector of the city's economic base involves some 46,000 professional and auxiliary workers, almost 10 percent of Boston's job total. An estimated 50 percent of these medical services represents exports, serving the medical needs of large numbers of patients in the New England region, the nation and the world.

UNITED WAY GRANTS FUNDS TO FOUR HOSPITALS

The United Way of Mass. Bay has allocated a total of $100,000 to four nonprofit hospitals for special projects in community health. Approved by the United Way's voluntary board of directors at its May meeting, the grants were made from the United Way's Hospital-Based Projects Program. Open to all fifty-three nonprofit hospitals in the Mass. Bay area, the program provides one-time grants to support specific community health projects proposed by the hospitals.

Two of the four grants are for programs to combat child abuse.

Somerville Hospital received $28,500 to establish a comprehensive emergency service system for abused and neglected children. The project is intended to serve the high risk populations of Somerville and Cambridge.

North Shore Children's Hospital, in Salem, was awarded $19,000 for a similar program in child abuse, including a broad-scale community outreach and educational program.

Emerson Hospital, in Concord, was allotted $23,000 to develop a multidisciplinary program of home and inpatient care for the terminally ill patient and family. The program will be based on the growing and popular hospice concept of home care.

Massachusetts General Hospital received $29,500 for a program of alternative care in community-based settings for elderly and frail patients. Rather than be placed in nursing homes upon release from hospitals, patients who cannot live independently will be placed in homes of people recruited and trained to care of the patient.

The $100,000 for the projects is part of the total $16 million in allocations made by the United Way in 1979 for human care services to people in the Mass. Bay area. The four projects were selected from a total of seventeen submitted to the United Way by hospitals throughout the Mass. Bay area.

WALK TO THE SEA!

"Walk to the Sea," a festival of free activities to kick off Summer's twelfth annual season will enter its third celebrated year on July 1. MAYOR CALLS NEXT TWELVE MONTHS MOST CHALLENGING FOR DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, on June 12, called the coming twelve months "the most critical year Democrats have faced since 1932," and he warned his fellow Democratic mayors, meeting in Pittsburgh, that they should brace for the effects of the "twin evils of energy scarcity and inflation," problems he portrayed as more potentially damaging to cities than the race problems of the 1960s.

Mayor White said, "Energy scarcity and inflation need immediate and simultaneous responses. They are exacerbating the problems of American cities, and they are accelerating apprehension and fear with potentially more power than the racial problems of the 1960s. Those two problems, more than any others, threaten to undermine all the positive social programs designed by the Democratic party over the past four decades."

Other factors heading the challenging agenda addressed by Mayor White are:

- the conservative budget-cutting posture of the public. . . . "It is not an aberration; it is a real and consistent challenge."

- diminished concern for the problems of the cities. . . . "The burden falls on us to reverse the trend and rekindle the spirit of concern for the cities and the people who live in them."

- recognition that the upcoming presidential campaign will be bitter and divisive. . . . "Challenges to the party of the poor and the cities will arise from within as well as outside the party. A Republican administration, as many of us who have been mayors for any time know, is not the best thing for the cities."

Reporting on his stewardship over the past year as the president of the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, Mayor White said "The single most important accomplishment of this group in the last year was not persuading the President to restore $2 billion in urban aid, or testifying before Congress to retain essential urban programs, or challenging the nation's governors to become partners with our mayors to reduce the property tax burden. The single most important accomplishment was that this organization, which was created five years ago by Henry Maier, has come of age. It is now a firmly established mechanism that can effect and provide leadership in national policy, as well as argue for the special needs of the cities."

NEW APPOINTMENT

Mayor appoints Joseph Alviani Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston.

Mayor Kevin H. White on June 13, appointed Joseph D. Alviani Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston.

Alviani, thirty-three, has served as Acting Corporation Counsel for the city since mid-January of this year.

Since his appointment, Alviani has instituted organizational changes in the Law Department, dividing the office into separate functional divisions with supervisors managing the case loads of the individual attorneys.

The Law Department has also assumed a more affirmative stance on litigation. That posture is reflected by the tax-exempt suit filed against the Commonwealth; the attempt to compel the Federal Aviation Administration to alter the flight patterns at Logan Airport; the successful attempt to restrain the sale of the Gilbert Stuart portraits of George and Martha Washington to the Smithsonian Institution; and most recently, the suit against the abnormally high gasoline prices charged at the Beacon Hill Gulf Station.

Alviani, had served as Special Counsel to the Mayor since October, 1977. He succeeds Herbert Gleason as Corporation Counsel.

Said Mayor White, "The transition period is now over in the Law Department. Joe Alviani has shown initiative and leadership. He has instituted managerial reforms, and has worked hard to maintain the high standards of practice which have marked the city Corporation Counsel's office."

During his tenure as Special Counsel to the Mayor, Alviani served as liaison between the Mayor's Office, the Corporation Counsel, and city department heads. He also monitored the affirmative action agreement between the city and the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, and helped develop the city strategy on the tax-exempt suit against the state.

From 1974 to his appointment, Alviani had served the U.S. Conference of Mayors first as a legislative counsel for criminal justice, health, and employment and training, and more recently as executive director and associate general counsel.

A magna cum laude graduate of Dartmouth College, Alviani graduated from Harvard Law School in 1970. Book editor of the Harvard Journal on Legislation, he was associated with the Boston law firm of Goodwin, Proctor and Hoar from 1971 to 1973.

In 1973, Alviani, a Jersey City, New Jersey native, was appointed associate counsel to the select subcommittee on labor of the U.S. House of Representatives. In that capacity, he participated in the drafting and enactment of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and the Occupational Health and Safety Act (OSHA).

Alviani, who will earn $35,000 per year in his new post, resides in Boston with his wife, Judith.

EAGLE EXHIBITION AT SCIENCE MUSEUM

What better topic for the Fourth of July than the American Eagle?

In good time for the patriotic holiday, our national emblem is featured in a new exhibition at Boston's Museum of Science.

The exhibition from the Smithsonian Institution portrays a bird with vision six times more accurate than humans', capable of soaring 14,000 feet above the earth, possessing a wingspan of eight feet.

Color photographs of eagles in flight, perched in eyries 100 feet high, swooping upon their fish-prey, and guarding their young were taken in natural habitats of Alaska, Minnesota, Montana, Florida, and Wisconsin.

The eagle has its place in myths and legends, particularly its association with kings and gods. Its selection for the Great Seal of the United States was therefore not surprising, although the decision was made only after six years of discussion—and as everybody knows, Benjamin Franklin favored the wild turkey.

Today, inroads of modern industrial life threaten the bird's survival. Deliberate shooting is the leading direct cause of death. However, the disappearance of the wildness and poisons picked up in the food chain from pesticides, chemical manufacturing wastes, and heavy metals have affected the eagle population. Below the fortieth parallel the bird is listed as an endangered species.

A mounted eagle from the museum's collections gives a third dimension to this traveling display. It remains through August 19.

FOUR FINALISTS NAMED IN CURLEY STATUE COMPETITION

Mayor Kevin H. White, on June 12, announced the names of the four finalists in the competition for the commission to sculpt the City of Boston's proposed statue of former Mayor James Michael Curley.

The artists, chosen by a panel named by the city Art Commission are: Theodore Barbarossa of Belmont, Mass.; Frank Gaylord of Barre, Vt.; Penelope Jencks of Newton, Mass.; and Lloyd Lillie also of Newton.

Said Mayor White, "Mayor Curley was a political and cultural treasure of the City of Boston. His statue must also fill an important role in the artistic life of the city."

Marvin E. Goody, chairman of the Art Commission, the sponsor of the competition, said that the judges chose the finalists from over twenty proposals.

The winner of the competition will be chosen in September on the basis of the proposals now under consideration.

The jury consists of: Jonathan Fairbanks, curator of American Decorative Art and Sculpture at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and New York City artist, Bruno Lucchesi.

MAYOR WHITE MOURNS DEATH OF LEVERETT SALTONSTALL

Mayor Kevin H. White on June 16 mourned the death of former Massachusetts U.S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall as "the passing of a man whose entire career typified the highest ideals of public service."

Mayor White said, "Senator Saltonstall was a very great man who had one of the most distinguished political careers in the history of Massachusetts. The City of Boston two years ago made him a 'Grand Bostonian,' the highest award that can be granted an individual."

Mayor White added, "Leverett Saltonstall served in the State Legislature with my father. My grandmother worked as a maid for the Saltonstalls. I was privileged to know him for part of his life. I think that he represented the best there is in public life, and we shall miss him very much."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

SUFFOLK COUNTY Boston Juvenile Court Social Work Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising and award a contract to Ms. Patricia A. Gorman, a self-employed, professional social worker and child welfare specialist residing at 81 Richard Drive, Hanover, Mass.

Under this contract Ms. Gorman, the person previously described, will conduct investigations into matters concerning children before the court under care and protection petitions pursuant to Massachusetts General Laws Annotated, chapter 119, section 24.

This contract will extend from July 1, 1978, to June 30, 1979, at a cost not to exceed $20,000.

Her resume outlines her educational and professional qualifications.

Because of its highly specialized nature this is a service not readily acquired, and it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

The costs are reasonable as compared with those offered by other accredited social service agencies.

Sincerely,
Francis G. Poitras,
Presiding Justice.

Sheriff's Office Physician's Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I request permission to dispense with public advertising in the City Record, and award a contract to Dr. Timothy Lyons of Milton, Mass., for physician services at the Charles Street Jail, for the period July 1, 1978, to June 30, 1979, at a cost not to exceed $20,000.

Dr. Lyons has had extensive experience at various jails, in particular the Charles Street Jail, and is familiar with the rules and practices at the jail. Additionally, Dr. Lyons has been for several years the jail physician who had been appointed to a previously budgeted position for institutional physician; a position which had been deleted in order to conform with my objective of placing services on a contractual basis.

Physician services are part of the regular jail services and enhance the philosophy contained in the Federal Court order of Judge Garrity concerning the humaneness of treatment.

In view of the nature of the services to be engaged, it is my view that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Yours sincerely,
Dennis J. Kearney,
Sheriff.

The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the areas of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to, bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

In addition to the above requirement, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 20 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Room 401, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

What is Good?

"What is the real good?"
I ask in musing mood.
"Order," said the law court;
"Knowledge," said the school;
"Truth," said the wise man;
"Pleasure," said the fool;
"Love," said the maiden;
"Beauty," said the page;
"Freedom," said the dreamer;
"Home," said the sage;
"Fame," said the soldier;
"Equity," said the seer.
Spoke my heart fully sad:
"The answer is not here."

Then within my bosom
Softly this I heard:
"Each heart holds the secret:"
"Kindness is the word."

Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 714 (Contract Office), sealed, marked "Proposal for Repairs to Sidewalks in Area III, City of Boston," and left at Room 714 (Contract Office), seventh floor, City Hall, before 2 p.m. of THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1979.

The proposals will then be publicly opened and read in the Hearing Room, 801 City Hall, One City Hall Square.

Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. All proposals must be from bidders of record on file at Room 714, City Hall. There will be a charge of five dollars ($5), NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. If the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the areas of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to, bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

In addition to the above requirement, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 20 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Room 401, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

Declaration of Independence

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

WHEN in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.—He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.—He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.—He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless these people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.—He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depositories of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.—He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.—He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsion within.—He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Law for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.—He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judicial powers.—He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.—He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.—He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.—He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.—He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed

WE, THEREFORE, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES: that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do.—And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

MAYOR'S PREDICTION RE ENERGY COSTS

predicts suburban migration into cities.*

Mayor Kevin H. White has predicted that escalating energy costs would drive increasing numbers of suburban, middle-class families back into the cities which they had fled in the late 1960's, and warned the mayors of the nation's cities to mobilize for the demand that migration would place on already frail urban economies.

Mayor White, forty-nine, Boston's mayor for the past twelve years, said that the traditional city property-tax base would be "strained to the very limits of its endurance" by such an immigration.

The Mayor added, "Those energy costs also hit the city street sweeper, police car, and senior shuttle. That burden, added to an ever-growing inflation rate, and the prospect of an exodus from the suburbs back into the cities, is a chilling prospect."

Mayor White said, "Who would have thought at our annual meeting four years ago when people were fleeing cities, that today we would be concerned about people moving back into them."

He added, "This represents a dual challenge to us as mayors and as Democrats. First, as mayors, we must be able to provide services for an expanding and demanding population. Secondly, as the Democrats in closest touch with the traditional urban strongholds of the party, we are obliged to protect longtime city residents from being priced out of the city in terms of property, goods, and services by more affluent suburban invaders."

Mayor White, president of the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, made those observations in Pittsburgh for the NCDM annual meeting. He ended his year-long term and was succeeded by Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson.

Conceived originally in 1973 as a vehicle to publicly lobby the Nixon administration for more aid to cities, the National Conference of Democratic Mayors in the past year has grown into a significant force within its own party.

This year, the conference has had two main areas of concentration:

- lobbying for genuine and meaningful property tax reform; and
- lobbying for an equitable and realistic level of federal aid and a retention of valuable programs, such as CETA, in the face of Proposition 13 fever.

Genuine tax reform will be a long time coming, but the Democratic mayors last summer urged the National Governor's Conference, meeting in Boston, to address that most serious of economic needs.

Mayor White became a prime mover in the fight for tax reform in Massachusetts by leading the overwhelmingly successful fight for the classification amendment on the November, 1978, ballot.

The passage of that constitutional amendment will diminish the impact of court-ordered 100 percent valuation in Massachusetts.

Under the urban policy initiatives of the Carter administration, the nation's cities in 1978, were forced to take a fresh look at their relationship to the federal government, justifying key programs in the face of more critical fiscal constraints.

Accepting the presidency of the NCDM last June at the annual meeting in Atlanta, Mayor White promised that the mayors would not turn their backs on those dependent upon them.

"As Democratic mayors, we represent larger Democratic constituencies than any other group of elected officials in this country. We represent a constituency responsible for all the social progress this country has made in the past fifty years, a constituency critically dependent upon public services. We cannot, and I trust will not, abandon that constituency in the interest of political expediency."

But the pressure of diminishing federal resources in 1978 would challenge the resourcefulness of any urban chief executive.

As federal resources dwindled even more through the year, the NCDM lobbied hard in the executive branch and the Congress to retain the vital countercyclical funding program, and the CETA jobs program.

At the mid-term, Democratic mini-convention in December, 1978, the NCDM voiced its concerns about the diminished program to Vice President Walter Mondale.

That meeting resulted in a meeting later that month between the mayors, led by Mayor White, and the President. There, significant cuts in the countercyclical award formula were restored, and the CETA program was reinstated.

MCDONOUGH ORDINANCE PASSED BY COUNCIL

A $100 minimum fuel allotment to help elderly families in Boston pay heating bills next winter was approved by the City Council on June 20.

Sponsor, Councillor Patrick F. McDonough of Dorchester, said that the elderly fuel assistance to families not on rent subsidy would amount only to a "miniscule" part of the total Boston spends on its operations — less than a half-cent per dollar.

"If we're able to provide the elderly cakes in the summer, we must not fail to help provide them warmth in the winter," McDonough said.

He noted that the prospective 90 cent-per-gallon charge for home heating oil means a "bleak — even desperate" — outlook next year for Boston's elderly.

The ordinance sent to the Mayor for his action would cover an estimated 30,000 households headed by a person sixty-five years of age and over and who does not live in rent-subsidized or public housing.

As written, the McDonough ordinance requires the city's Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly to ascertain eligible households and distribute to each qualifying family of not less than $100 by February 1, 1980.

In a companion Council order by McDonough, the city's budget supervisor was directed to prepare for submission to the Mayor a supplementary budget providing for the 100-minimum, elderly fuel entitlements.

Funds would be given "each household, headed by a person sixty-five years of age or over, the rent of which is not presently subsidized by federal or state funds."

McDonough told his Council colleagues the measures are steps "to ease the economic strain on such households" next year. He said the fuel price crunch will face many elderly on limited income with the choice of starving or freezing."

He estimated the $3-million cost would be an insignificant burden on the city budget for the tangible benefit it would bring elderly on fixed incomes.

McDonough said a large number of elderly to benefit from the fuel cost aid are long-time residents struggling to maintain their own homes and give their neighborhoods stability." He said "They should be encouraged, not made to suffer the cold."

BOSTON "POPS" OPENS SEASON

Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone announced on June 14, that the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra will open its 1979 Esplanade season on Wednesday, July 4, at 6:30 p.m., with a two-hour program.

Harry Ellis Dickson will conduct the free Pops concerts on the Esplanade this year, according to Commissioner Carbone, who said several such events are planned at the Hatch Shell. No fireworks are planned for July 4 on the Esplanade.

In addition to the July 4 concert, the Boston Pops will perform on Sunday, July 15, from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.; on Sunday, July 22, during the same time period; and each evening from Tuesday, July 24 through Sunday, July 29, from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. There will also be a special children's concert on Thursday, July 26, from 10:15 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

NEW, CLEANER SKYLINES

Energy prices are defying gravity and soaring up and away. The effects may alter many aspects of our lives, as well as reshape our skylines.

With current energy requirements, it takes 13.8 million barrels of oil to light, heat, or cool commercial and residential buildings in the United States every single day! That is one-third of the nation's total energy consumption.

To curb this gargantuan appetite for fuel, the U.S. Department of Energy is developing "building energy performance standards" which will be proposed this summer. If adopted, the standards would cause a dramatic drop in energy use in building yet to be constructed and also affect architectural styles.

One of the advantages of cutting energy use, says the American Lung Association, would be fewer pollutants in the air we breathe.

To determine how best to curb energy use in buildings, the Department of Energy asked designers of more than a hundred buildings constructed during the last few years to draw up redesigned plans for the same buildings, but to put energy reduction as the top priority. The striking findings point the way for significant energy cuts in future construction and may result in proposed energy budgets for new buildings measured in specific thermal units.

Included in the redesigns were high efficiency lights with special reflectors that cut conventional wattage use; automatic, motion-sensitive systems that turn on lights when someone enters a room and turns them off when the person leaves; heat recovery plans that draw in excess warmth from lights and people and redirect the warmth to cooler areas; lower ceilings; reshaped walls that minimize southern and northern exposures; double-glazed windows which can be opened in summer; and thick masonry walls.

Energy conservation and cleaner air can be a bigger part of our future as well as our present. To find out more about curbing air pollution, contact the American Lung Association of Boston — the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and breath.

MAYOR TAKES WALKING TOUR OF DUDLEY STATION BUSINESS DISTRICT

Mayor Kevin H. White, along with Deputy Mayor Clarence Jones, took a walking tour recently of the Dudley Terminal Business District which will be undergoing a major revitalization effort beginning this summer.

One million dollars has been awarded by the City to the Dudley Station business area under the Urban Development Action Grant program.

Said Mayor White, "The Dudley Station area is just one of the many Boston neighborhoods that are upgrading their community through UDAG. Because of the availability of these funds, the business people and residents of this area will see a community reborn, and benefiting all who work, shop, and live here."

So far seven proposals for revitalization of businesses in the Dudley Terminal area have been received by the city's UDAG office.

MAYOR PRESENTS FARBER AWARD

Mayor Kevin H. White recently presented David Farber, outgoing executive director of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, with a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl in appreciation for his years of service to the Allston-Brighton community and the residents of the City of Boston.

MAYOR HONORS MEMORY OF LINCOLN G. POPE, JR.

Mayor Kevin H. White, on June 22, dedicated the William E. Carter (World War II veteran) playground tennis court in Roxbury in memory of Lincoln G. Pope, Jr.

Lincoln G. Pope was the first Black Democrat to be elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives, representing what was the Ninth Suffolk district.

Pope was born in 1916, and formally educated in Everett. After serving in the U.S. Army as a master sergeant, he continued his education, graduating with honors from Boston University School of Liberal Arts in 1949.

He was first elected in 1956, serving three consecutive terms. In 1960, Pope was appointed to the post of legislative assistant to the sergeant at arms of the House of Representatives.

After a short illness he died in his home in Roxbury on January 10, 1979.

Mayor White said, "Lincoln Pope was a man of integrity, convictions, and a tremendous asset to the Roxbury Community.

"Not only was Lincoln Pope a leader and community organizer, but an avid tennis player as well. These tennis courts will serve as a constant reminder to the community of his many contributions."

The playground is open to the public and is located at the corner of Columbus Avenue and Camden Street.

ROXBURY RESIDENTS: TAKE NOTE!

Mayor Kevin H. White's designation of Roxbury's Madison Park High School as a new Boston Community School will be the focus this Sunday July 8, at 10 p.m., on the WROR-FM radio series highlighting community education in Boston's neighborhoods. Host Paul Grogan, director of the Mayor's Office of Community Schools will be joined by guests Tom Hennessey, Madison Park High School headmaster, and Roscoe Morris, Roxbury Little City Full manager, to discuss the future community use of Madison Park High School.

In addition, an open community meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 10, at 7 p.m., in the Madison Park High School Main Auditorium to explore community interest and direction of the newly designated facility. All Roxbury residents are encouraged to attend to learn more about how they can participate in the development of new community programs at the school.

A unique feature of the Boston Community Schools Program is that each school is governed by a group of locally elected neighborhood representatives who serve on a community school council. The council delegates duties in such areas as planning, programming, budgeting, evaluation, personnel, public relations, and fund raising.

As community participation is the cornerstone of successful community school programs across the city, Roxbury residents are invited to take an active role in council development.

HAROLD SACKS TO BE HONORED

Harold B. Sacks, recently retired Executive Secretary of the Boston Retirement Board, will be tendered an appreciation dinner on Friday, July 20, at 8 p.m., at Florian Hall, 55 Fleet Street, Dorchester.

IMPRESSIVE POLICE CEREMONIES

Mayor White presides at promotion ceremonies for seven new command staff officers; Frank Coleman named Deputy Superintendent.

Mayor Kevin H. White, on June 14, presided at promotion ceremonies at the Hyde Park Municipal Building, marking the addition of seven veteran officers to the Department Command Staff, two as superintendents and five as deputy superintendents.

Among those promoted was Detective Lieutenant Francis J. Coleman, the head of the District One Detective Bureau. Coleman, a fifty-four-year-old veteran of twenty-four years on the Boston Police Department, becomes a deputy superintendent in command of the South Boston and Dorchester area. A Boston native and Charlestown resident, Coleman is a World War II veteran.

Said Mayor White, "These promotions are part of a total reorganization effort by Commissioner Jordan to more effectively police the neighborhoods of this city. The men he has chosen bring a wealth of experience to their command roles, and I know they will follow the high visibility-high responsiveness philosophy which has become this department's hallmark."

Said Commissioner Joseph M. Jordan, "These new command staff officers should provide considerable new energy and leadership to deal with the daily policing needs of this city. They are experienced men who have come up through the ranks. They know this city, its people, and its problems."

The promotions are:

— Deputy Superintendent Earl A. Bolt, area commander of Roxbury and Mattapan, is promoted to superintendent. He will command the Bureau of Investigative Services.

— Deputy Superintendent Edward F. Connolly, area commander of West Roxbury, Roslindale, Hyde Park, and Jamaica Plain, promoted to superintendent. He will now command the Bureau of Field Services, making him responsible for coordination of all the daily activities of the uniformed officers in the city's eleven districts. All seven deputy superintendents commanding areas are under his command.

— Capt. William P. MacDonald, commander of District 15, Charlestown, will become a deputy superintendent. His duties will now entail command of Area A, which includes Charlestown and District 7 in East Boston.

— Capt. Stanley W. Dirsia moves from command of the newly expanded Mounted Patrol Unit to command of Area F. That area, formerly under the command of Supt. Connolly, encompasses West Roxbury, Hyde Park, Roslindale, and Jamaica Plain.

— Capt. William J. O'Brien moves to deputy superintendent from the command of the Staff Inspection and Field Units to the command of the Internal Affairs Division.

— Capt. Robert Bradley, commander of the Mobile Operations Patrol (MOP), is promoted to deputy superintendent, commanding a newly expanded MOP.

— Lt. Det. Francis J. Coleman moves from head of Detective Bureau at District 1 to deputy superintendent in command of the South Boston and Dorchester area.

— Superintendent John F. Doyle, Jr. moves from the Bureau of Investigative Services to executive officer of the department. He will coordinate the separate units of the Commissioner's Office including Labor Relations, Budget Management, Informational Services, and the Administration and Operations Staffs.

— Dept. Supt. Paul E. Johnson leaves the position of director of the Training and Education Division at the Boston Police Academy to become commander of Area D, encompassing Roxbury and Mattapan.

The promotion of Deputy Johnson, with the promotion to Superintendent of Deputy Bolt, marks the first time in the Boston Police Department's history that two black men have held major command positions.

Mayor White, Senator LoPresti dedicate Sumner Street Park in honor of the late Michael LoPresti, Sr.

Mayor Kevin H. White and State Senator Michael LoPresti, Jr., on June 15, presided at the dedication of the former North Ferry Park in honor of the Senator's father, the late Michael LoPresti, Sr.

East Boston residents were invited to attend the ceremony, which took place at the park on Sumner Street.

The $2-million, waterfront park is one of the most comprehensive park and recreation complexes in Boston, with facilities for residents of all ages.

It was constructed with federal funds by the city's Public Facilities Department, with assistance from a number of city, state, and federal agencies.

The prime mover in helping to establish the new park was the East Boston Land Use Advisory Council, which held community meetings and conducted a two-year planning and design process under the chairmanship of Edith DeAngelis.

The East Boston Neighborhood Council, East Boston APAC, and other community groups were also involved in the process.

Mayor White said that dedicating the park in honor of the late East Boston state senator "is the highest honor we can pay to a man who served this part of the city with intense commitment in a number of roles for several decades."

CONSUMERS: LOOK BEFORE YOU MAIL!

What's socially acceptable today may not be well received in the future. It may be oh, so proper, but is it mailable?

That's what consumers should determine before purchasing those tiny little invitations, RSVPs, birth announcements, thank-you notes, and similar items which may not be mailable after July 15.

As of that date, the Postal Service will begin enforcing letter mail, size standards, to reduce mail handling costs, and eliminate one of the main causes of damaged or delayed mail.

Under the new regulation, letters and cards less than 3 1/2 by 5 inches will not be accepted for mailing.

Extra large envelopes — more than 6 1/8 by 11 1/2 inches — will incur a 7¢ surcharge, if they weigh one ounce or less.

Those tiny envelopes create jams in mail processing machinery, damaging not only the small piece, but often other mail as well.

The larger envelopes — those subject to the surcharge — cannot be processed by machine, but must be handled manually, at considerably higher cost.

For about three years the Postal Service has been working with envelope manufacturers and stationers to help them adapt to the new standards. Most of them long ago stopped production of the undersized items.

But, consumers should be wary of "bargain" prices offered by stores that might still have stocks of the non-mailable items.

Little cards and envelopes may be mailed after July 15, only if they are placed in larger, standard envelopes before mailing, the Postal Service says.

WORK TO DO

Dear Lord, throughout this busy day
How shall I find the time to pray?
How can I possibly afford
To pause and have my soul restored?

I'd like some leisure time with You,
But there is so much work to do.
When I had voiced this fervent plea
I seemed to hear God answer me:
"My child, for every common task
You have help, if you but ask.

You need not seek a place apart
To ease the longing in your heart.
Remember, God is yearning too,
To share in all the work you do."

G. Higher Education Facilities

Some $280 million of investment in higher education facilities in Boston in the 1968-78 decade served to advance the leadership of Boston's private universities as well as an important start in the expansion of public higher education, providing improved access for the city's lower-and middle-income students. Boston, with a college student population exceeding 100,000, makes this, more than any other large city, a college town. Higher education is an important element of Boston's economic base, as two-thirds of the city's higher educational service represent exports.

BLESSING OF THE BAY REOPENS

Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone has announced the reopening of the Blessing of the Bay Mystic Sailing Program. This popular program, located on the Mystic River in Somerville, provides free sailing to anyone over eight years old who can pass a 75-yard, swimming test. Sailing began on Friday, June 25, for those who can already sail, while lessons for new sailors will start on Wednesday, July 11.

The boathouse is open Wednesday through Friday, from 12 noon to 8 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. New classes on sailing will begin each Wednesday at 2:30 and 5:30 p.m. and will run for three days. Sailors can then complete their training on their own time.

The Blessing of the Bay has a total of twenty-four operating sailboats including: fifteen Kingfishes, seven Force Fives, and two 210s.

The boathouse is located on Shore Drive in Somerville, just off Route 93. Blessing of the Bay is one of two sailing programs conducted under the auspices of the Metropolitan District Commission. For more information about the Blessing of the Bay sailing program, please call the boathouse at 628-9610. All sails, both old and young, are invited.

KATHRYN WHITE LOBBIES FOR ELDERLY

Kathryn White, wife of Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, and the city's Elderly Commission Elaine Guiney went to Washington, D.C., June 27, as part of the Massachusetts delegation to the National Council of Senior Citizens Annual Legislative Conference.

While in Washington, Mrs. White, a longtime advocate of Boston's elderly, met with House Speaker Tip O'Neill, Senator Edward Kennedy, and other Washington officials to promote issues of foremost concern to the aged, including protection of Social Security benefits, health care, energy policy, housing and consumer issues.

"There are over 100,000 elderly in Boston," said Mrs. White. "In many cases, Social Security is their only source of income, and inflation has eaten away at that. We want to make sure that their concerns are heard in Washington."

The National Council of Senior Citizens, with a membership of three million, is the lobbying organization representing the interests of the twenty million Americans over age sixty.

H. Cultural Development

The extraordinary cultural revival of the last decade is evidenced by the substantial investment in new, expanded, and renovated facilities as well as a notable increase in visitors to Boston's principal historic and cultural attractions. In the 1968-78 decade, some $98 million of capital investment was poured into a broad range of facilities including theatre and opera, the Franklin Park Zoo, Fenway Park, the New England Aquarium, the Christ the Science Center, the Museum of Science, the Museum of Fine Arts, and many others. The investment reflected a significant cultural revival following a long lapse in cultural facilities development after the turn-of-century and the 1920s. In 1978, almost seven million visitors were registered at Boston's principal cultural attractions, reflecting a steady growth since 1970 at an annual rate of 5 percent per year. Last year, 1978, was a great theatre year for Boston — the best year yet. Boston's most popular attraction is the Museum of Science followed by the Museum of Fine Arts and the New England Aquarium. Some six major attractions which did not exist in 1970 now draw almost a million visitors a year.

I. Industrial Development

Investment in manufacturing in the past decade has been small but significant and, in fact, points to a horizon with very good future prospects. Some $8 million of investment in three major projects tell a good deal about the present and future of manufacturing in Boston. One of the projects, some $4 million of investment in the Boston Marine Industrial Park, reflects the favorable outlook for revival of marine-related industry in Boston. Some $2 million of investment by Teradyne corporation in the renovation of older commercial space in downtown Boston (for the production of electronic test equipment) represents 1) a significant trend in a growth industry; as well as 2) an example of the advantages of an intown location for access to the labor market and the mainstream of transportation facilities. The third major industrial investment, that of New England Nuclear Corporation, highlights the innovative and auxiliary role of various industries to Boston's medical complex.

A development of importance, presently under way, is the Digital Equipment Corporation plant at Boston's Crosstown Industrial Park. Digital is one of the leaders in the production of mini-computers, an expanding industry with a concentration of 55 percent of the world output generated by firms located in the Greater Boston area.

The emergence of these industrial projects suggests a brighter future for industrial Boston. Factors now favoring the location of industry in Boston include:

- 1) the role of the area's universities in advancing new technology industries and training skilled professionals;
- 2) the narrowing of wage rate differentials between Boston and other regions of the United States, and between the United States and the rest of the world;
- 3) the transportation and energy efficiency of a central city location; and
- 4) the adaptability of old buildings for new industrial uses.

Since the end of World War II, Boston had lost roughly one-half of its industrial sector. The continued loss after 1960 reflected the national phenomenon of slow growth in manufacturing. In recent years, however, there was recovery both at the national level and in Boston, where manufacturing

DEPUTY MAYOR YOUNG COMMENTS ON 1980 SENATE BUDGET

Deputy Mayor James V. Young said on June 22, that the Senate version of the 1980 state budget which calls for only $6 million in state aid to Boston could present a "a very real problem to the city."

Young, reacting to a special report by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau which projected major property tax increases under the Senate version of the budget, said "The Boston city budget has been prepared for next year in strict compliance with the Governor's tax cap legislation, but a reduction of state aid from this year's $66 million to $6 million as outlined in the Senate version would present us with an unforeseen problem. It is a problem we have yet to solve."

Under the House version of the budget, the Research Bureau also projects an increase in property taxes.

Young said, "The estimates of the revenue yields to the city under both bills by the Research Bureau are fairly accurate. However, I am not willing to concede the inevitability of a property tax increase under the House version of the budget."

Young added that he was "pleased" that the Research Bureau report outlined how the city spent its $66 million in state aid last year, and "did not squirrel away" that revenue.

MBTA ORDERS 100 BUSES

The MBTA Board of Directors recently authorized a $8,804,337 contract award to General Motors of Canada, Ltd., for 100 fifty-one-passenger standard city buses and spare parts.

The London, Ontario, firm submitted the lower of two bids that were opened on June 4. The other bidder, also Canadian, was Flyer Industries, Ltd., of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Delivery of the new buses is scheduled to begin in January, 1980, at the rate of three a day with complete delivery on or before March 15.

Each bus will cost $86,058. Spare parts will cost $198,537.

jobs have expanded for two consecutive years. Though printing and publishing, apparel and food processing continue to be the mainstays of manufacturing in Boston, three new smaller growth industries have emerged with expanding employment since 1972 — instruments, metal fabrications, and electrical machinery.

BASIC SKILLS BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS CENTRAL MISSION FOR SCHOOL YEAR 1979-1980

Superintendent Robert Wood on June 27, released the results of the Metropolitan Achievement Tests for 1978-1979 school year showing reading achievement by district, by school, by grade.

An overview of the reading achievement shows:

1) An analysis of reading achievement by grade indicates that the average reading achievement of Boston Public Schools' students is about the same as last year. The only probable exception is the achievement of students in grades six and seven. These two grades' average achievement appears to be a little more favorable in 1979 than in 1978.

2) The disparity between Boston Public Schools achievement and national averages is greatest for grades 3 through 11. The disparity increases as grade level increases.

3) The disparity among races within the Boston Public Schools is evident. In general, Asian and white students achieve at or above the national criterion for all grades, while black and Hispanic students achieve slightly or substantially below the national criterion for all grades. This disparity also increases as grade level increases.

4) The pattern of achievement for Boston Public School students has been relatively stable since 1976.

5) In face of some disheartening results, there are encouraging results in some of our districts as well as our magnet schools.

"Our goal must be to get every child to read at grade level," said Superintendent Wood. "It is clear that our students' reading skills need improving throughout the system. We must focus particular attention on improving the skills of black and Hispanic students. While our white students throughout the system are above the national norm at all grades except for grade four, desegregation has not yet brought the kind of educational results desired for black and Hispanic students."

At the annual meeting of principals and headmasters, held June 26, at West Roxbury High School, Dr. Wood mandated the following:

- changes in instructional strategies;
- system-wide coordination of curricula objectives;
- change in our methods of testing;

all to take place within the context of a Comprehensive Core Curriculum that addresses reading, writing, and mathematics skills.

Specifics include:

- Every principal and headmaster to develop a plan for effecting reading and writing improvement by November 15, 1979. This plan will be developed by a team, including administrators, teachers, parents, students, universities, and other community resources. The plan will detail delivery of reading instruction and the time spent on that instruction.

- Dr. Bernice Miller, manager of Curriculum and Competency, will articulate system-wide learning objectives, which will help clarify expectations of staff and students.

- A clear, system-wide policy on homework will be implemented in all schools next year and available for teachers and parents at the start of school this fall.

- Introduction of diagnostic testing, individualized criterion referenced tests, in grades 2 through 8, by October, 1979. Using ICRT results, Boston teachers and parents will have information not previously available to prescribe what each student needs to improve his skills.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ADDS NEW OFFICERS

Boston Police Commissioner Joseph M. Jordan announced on June 28, the appointment of fifty-six new police officers to the Boston Police Department.

The new officers participated in a swearing-in ceremony at the Mario Umana Harbor School of Science and Technology, 312 Border Street East Boston. Mayor Kevin H. White attended and participated in the program.

According to Police Commissioner Jordan, these appointments represent the second group of new officers appointed to the department since January, 1978. On May 14, 1979, the Police Department added forty-five new officers, all of whom are presently training at the Boston Police Academy.

The appointments increase the number of new police officers to 101 and fulfill a commitment made by Mayor White to add 100 new police officers to the Boston Police Department by September, 1979.

Commissioner Jordan also announced that the department has established a hiring schedule to add 50 police officers on a periodic basis through June, 1980. The Commissioner noted, however, that implementation of the hiring schedule depends upon the cooperation of the State Division of Personnel Administration.

A review of the appointments list reveals that fifty-two of the new officers are residents of some ten different City of Boston neighborhoods. Six graduates of the department's two-year cadet program are among the appointees along with six disabled American veterans. Seventeen black males, six black females, and five Hispanic males are also joining the department.

During the next twelve months the new officers will participate in an intensive one-year training program while assigned to the Boston Police Academy. The training program combines on-the-street field training and firearms instruction with specialized courses including self-defense, report writing, court procedures, constitutional law, and orientation to community policing.

All of the new officers were selected only after successfully passing a thorough screening process, which includes rigorous psychological testing and evaluation of physical fitness, as well as detailed examination of each candidate's personal background. Each candidate also successfully passed a written examination administered by the Commonwealth's Civil Service Commission.

TO ALL CITY EMPLOYEES: 1979 SAVINGS BOND DRIVE

It isn't always a simple thing to do, but we all need to put some money aside for future plans and to guard against emergencies. Because it's difficult to live up to even the best intentions, many of our employees, including myself, have learned that a safe, easy, and sure way to save is purchasing United States Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

The steady accumulation of such savings over a period of time, plus the 6½ percent interest (when held to a maturity of only five years), can amount to a sizeable sum. The unique tax advantages of U.S. Savings Bonds serve to magnify their value and make them an especially attractive investment.

A nest-egg set aside in this automatic manner makes it possible to meet financial needs, provide for the education of children, make a down payment on a home, enjoy more interesting vacations, or increase retirement income, to mention only a few objectives worth saving for.

In addition to the direct personal benefits, the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds helps to temper inflationary trends and enables the Treasury to more easily manage the public debt.

You will be contacted soon by a fellow employee, and asked to enroll in the Payroll Savings Plan. Why not listen to what he has to say and then think it over? Investment in U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan is your chance to make a payroll allotment work for you. We thank you in advance for your cooperation.

MAYOR REVIEWS "HOMESTEADING" PROGRESS

Mayor Kevin H. White, on June 23, reviewed the progress of the city's Urban Homesteading Program with a walking tour of the Wellington Hill section of Mattapan.

The Mayor issued certificates of neighborhood achievement to about twenty homeowners who have reinvested in the city's neighborhoods through Homesteading.

The Homesteading Program, established in 1977, provides funds for home rehabilitation for Homesteaders approved by local Homesteading boards. Rehabilitation money is made available through federal funding.

Homesteaders are responsible for interior work on the properties, including painting and papering and other cosmetic improvements. To date, eighteen, once-abandoned homes in the Wellington Hill section have been occupied, and twenty-five will be occupied at the project's completion. City-wide, sixty homes are being occupied, representing a neighborhood investment of $1.3 million. The program has Homesteading sites in Wellington Hill, Franklin Field, Jamaica Plain, and the Meeting House Hill and Codman Square sections of Dorchester.

Another $1.3 million low-interest (3 percent) loans have been made available for home improvements to surrounding homeowners in the designated Homesteading areas.

Homesteaders attending the June 23 ceremony were from Wellington Hill, Meeting House Hill, and Codman Square.

Mayor White said the Homesteading Program "is one of the most effective means we have of revitalizing this city's neighborhoods.

"Nothing is as devastating to a neighborhood's health as abandoned properties," the Mayor said, "and nothing breathes life into a neighborhood like the prospect of those properties being occupied and new families moving in."

Frank Tate, director of the Homesteading Program, said that the average value of homes in the Wellington Hill area had increased by $5,000 since the program's inception.

Tate said that rising values of the homes in the Homesteading area is "a sign of renewed neighborhood confidence and stabilization—and that's the key to preserving our neighborhoods."

MAYOR WHITE HAILS MUSEUM WHARF DEDICATION

Mayor Kevin H. White, on July 1, hailed the dedication of the new Museum Wharf complex which will house the Children's Museum and the Museum of Transportation as "a monument to the confidence in Boston's future."

Said Mayor White, "It's easy to forget the enormous vision that these museums needed ten years ago to contemplate a move to this site. Then, the Waterfront was decaying, and in places abandoned. It took enormous commitment, confidence, and courage for these museums to decide to stake their futures on the Boston Waterfront."

Mayor White added, "The spirit in the city today — a spirit of progress and pride — is the spirit of the new Boston, a Boston that has been created thanks in large part to institutions like the Children's Museum and the Museum of Transportation. They have brought us not only enriching cultural offerings, but they have encouraged others to stay in the city."

The warehouse which houses the two museums was built in 1888, and was used for many years as a wool warehouse. The two museums purchased the building in 1975.

The Children's Museum was founded in 1913 by a group of university and school science teachers to supplement natural science programs in schools. Since then, the museum's educational programs and exhibits have expanded in scope to include the study of cultures, the man-made world, and the processes by which children grow and learn. Today, the museum is a nationally recognized research and development center for nontraditional forms of education.

The Transportation Museum has existed in one form or another since 1947 when Mrs. Larz Anderson donated her estate and its collection of venerable carriages and autos to the town of Brookline, which gave the collection to the Veteran Motor Car Club. Over the years, the mission of the museum has been to collect and conserve the priceless artifacts of transportation history.

Both museums will remain independent entities, but will realize substantial savings by sharing basic services such as admission, a common lobby, and heating facilities.

TB THEN AND NOW

What did W.C. Fields, Vivie Leigh, and Josef Stalin have in common along with Noel Coward, Marie Curie, and Andrew Jackson?

These personalities with sharply contrasting lifestyles, living in different areas of the world in various historical periods, shared one common bond — Tuberculosis.

TB has inspired terror throughout the centuries. But during the nineteenth century, romantic notions about the disease also developed. So many artists succumbed to TB that it was thought to afflict creative geniuses, perhaps even causing their frenzied inspirations. Cough, loss of appetite, and physical weakness were considered characteristics of artistic sensibilities.

The list of artists who suffered from TB is long and illustrious, indeed. John Keats, who died at twenty-five; Frederick Chopin, dead at thirty-nine; Henry David Thoreau; Robert Louis Stevenson; Anton Chekhov; Eugene O'Neill; Charlotte and Emily Bronte, both dead in their thirties; Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

But creative genius was by no means the only target of TB. Millions upon millions of people whose names we will never know have been destroyed by the disease. Even today, millions, especially in underdeveloped countries, have untreated TB.

Today, however, there are ways to prevent and cure TB, once it is diagnosed. Last year in the United States, 30,000 people had TB. The majority were adults over the age of forty-five; but more than 1,000 were children under the age of fifteen.

According to the American Lung Association, rates for white people in this country are much lower than for other groups. Rates in metropolitan areas are more than twice those of smaller cities and rural areas. TB today is most common in urban poverty areas. But it is possible for anyone—at any time—to develop the disease if he or she breathes in TB germs.

To correct old misconceptions and find out more about TB in your community, contact the American Lung Association of Boston—the Christmas Seal People. It's a matter of life and breath.

VII. COMMENDATIONS

The Fire Commissioner/Chief is pleased to commend Fire Fighters Franklin A. O'Leary and James B. Donahue of Ladder Company 23 for responding, while off duty, to the working fire, Box 3365, Incident No. 16052 on April 22, 1979 at 0846 hours.

These members noticed a member in apparent difficulty while working on an aerial ladder and without benefit of protective equipment, went to his aid and remained with him until assured that he was no longer in danger.

The actions of these two men are in keeping with the finest tradition of the Boston Fire Department.

While operating lines of hose on the second floor of 1391 Commonwealth Avenue, Brighton, during the three-alarm fire on May 26, 1979, Box 5151, Incident No. 21423 at 0451 hours, members of Engine Company 29 observed Fire Lieut. Edward Callahan, Ladder Company 26, fall from the floor above into the burning kitchen. With the cover from a line of hose, Fire Fighters Francis Tierney, John Kilroy, Engine Company 29, David Cudahy, Engine Company 41, and Alan Scully, Ladder Company 11, were able to remove Lieut. Callahan from further danger and administered first aid to him before he was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Because of the quick actions of these men which prevented additional injuries to Lieut. Callahan, the Fire Commissioner/Chief is pleased to commend Fire Fighters Francis Tierney, John Kilroy, David Cudahy, and Alan Scully.

VIII. LETTERS OF THANKS

Dear Commissioner:

At 1713 hours on the above date, Box No. 13-1335 was pulled and struck for a smoke condition in this complex. After extensive investigation it was determined that the condition, which quickly disappeared, was not traceable.

At the suggestion of the district chief, we increased our night security watch and employed the services of electrical contractors, through the Department of Public Facilities, who finally determined that the cause was a short circuit in a public address system transmitter, located in the Grand Jury room on the sixth floor of the "new" building.

On behalf of Chairman John E. Powers, Sheriff Dennis J. Kearney, and myself, I wish to thank the officers and members of the responding companies for their very thorough investigation and high degree of professionalism, most especially with respect to the very sensitive and confidential areas of the complex.

Indeed, it is a very comfortable feeling to know that your people are not only immediately available but, are responding to this complex with an attitude of positive professionalism, keeping in mind the disaster we suffered on April 22, 1976.

Albert Sherman, Member,
Court House Commission."

"June 12, 1979.

Dear Commissioner Paul:

Thank you for providing a C.P.R. course at City Hall for my department. Chief Cameron and Fire Fighter Roumacher were very cooperative in working out the details and everything proceeded very smoothly.

I want to commend the instructors, Lt. Piazza and Fire Fighters Ryan, Conway, Sparrow, and Dempsey. Not only were they well versed in their subject, but their enthusiasm was such that it rubbed off on their pupils. They not only provided a terrific service to us all, but they are a tremendous advertisement for the Fire Department. My personnel are still talking about the course and are looking forward to taking it again.

Sincerely,
Barbara G. Cameron,
Commissioner of Assessing."

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston and Boston Redevelopment Authority contract the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent (30 percent for Impact areas) of his/her bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 51 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's Letter of Intent. The letter of Intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city and/or BRA on or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

Attention is called to all prospective bidders that they are required to attend a prebid conference to discuss the federal, state, city, and BRA requirements regarding affirmative action and EEO. Also, to discuss the Minority Business Utilization Program, and goals and timetables for minorities and females. This conference will be held with the Contract Compliance Officer of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, Mr. Reggie Johnson, on July 3, 1979 at 11 a.m., in Room 901.

The Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in bidding, if it be in the public interest so to do.

Bids may be held by the Boston Redevelopment Authority for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of bid for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of the bidders prior to awarding of the contract.

BOSTON PLANS JUBILEE 350 CELEBRATION

A Great Cities of the World Conference, the return of the Tall Ships, and a traditional Founder's Day Parade will highlight Jubilee 350, this city's official celebration in 1980 of its 350th birthday.

An outline of the yearlong program was presented by Deputy Mayor Katharine D. Kane at a reception June 27, for some 500 business, civic, neighborhood, cultural, and educational leaders at the Federal Reserve Bank, 600 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.

According to Mrs. Kane, chairman of the commission charged by Mayor Kevin White with organizing the celebration, "As was done in the past, Jubilee 350 will strive to involve a large cross-section of the city's people and institutions, while at the same time making this a celebration of international importance. Being the oldest capital city in colonial America presents Boston with a rare and unique opportunity which can garner favorable attention for the city."

Since 1730, every 50 years Bostonians have marked the occasion with colorful pageantry, including torchlight parades, presidential visits, fireworks, ethnic, and cultural festivals, and special anniversary books and monuments. The largest of all these was organized in 1930 by then Mayor James M. Curley.

Endorsing the program were Robert Cummings, director of the Greater Boston Convention and Tourist Bureau; Moshe Safdie, director, Harvard School of Design; and Jonathan Fairbanks, curator of decorative arts, Museum of Fine Arts, among others.

Jubilee 350 is divided into three major program areas.

Festival 350 will feature a series of commemorative events, performances, forums, public celebrations, and other activities which will show both residents and visitors the city's vast historical, ethnic, educational, scientific, and cultural assets. Among the specific programs currently being planned are the five-day visit to Boston by the Tall Ships which arrive from all over the world May 30; Forums 350, sponsored by the Kennedy Library, which examine the diversity and distinctiveness of Boston politics and politicians; Stage 350, a series of music, dance, and theatrical performances, ethnic celebrations, and other special events every day during June, July and August, 1980, on the City Hall Plaza stage; New England Comes to Boston's Birthday Party, demonstrations and performances in July on Boston Common by such organizations as Sturbridge Village and Plimouth Plantation; the Jubilee Center at City Hall hosted by a different organization each day to welcome visitors to the city and provide them with necessary information; Senior Jubilee, lectures and field trips for senior citizens focused upon Boston's history and its architectural landmarks; and Salute to Bostonians, such as Dorchester 350 and Boston 350, focusing upon the

THE WORLD MOURNS

Mayor White orders city flags flown at half-staff in mourning for Arthur Fiedler.

Mayor Kevin H. White, on July 10, ordered all Boston city flags flown at half-staff for the remainder of the week in official mourning for the death of Boston Pops Conductor Arthur Fiedler. Mr. Fiedler 84, died on Tuesday morning, July 10.

Said Mayor White, "The passing of Arthur Fiedler is a personal loss to every Bostonian. He was a living example of the spirit that animates our city: one of independence and dignity, of respect for the past and enthusiasm for the future. More than a stylish showman and talented musician, he was a reassuring figure in a turbulent world. Through every crisis this city saw since the Great Depression, Arthur Fiedler found the means to celebrate our inner sources of greatness."

Mayor White added, "Each of us carries a special memory of Arthur, and our memories of him, and of his unforgettable performances are his greatest gift to us. I, as well as the millions of persons throughout the world who enjoy his music, will miss him greatly."

rich and varied contributions of Boston's neighborhoods and ethnic groups.

A major highpoint of Festival 350 will be the September 20 Founder's Day Parade during Boston Month, being organized by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company and the Massachusetts National Guard and featuring marching units and bands from all over the United States and the world. During Boston Month, many other special activities will take place, including a community birthday party on Boston Common followed by an Esplanade concert and a fireworks salute to the city.

The second major Jubilee 350 program is Exhibit 350. To date, eleven major exhibitions are planned for 1980. They are:

- Place Over Time/Boston Landmarks — at the Charlestown Navy Yard's National Historic Park in September — will trace the architectural development of Boston and examine the symbolism and the significance of its landmarks via films and exhibits.

- Boston/A City in Transit — a new and permanent exhibit by the Museum of Transportation — explores the social, economic and political ramifications of new methods of transportation as they evolve, the growth of Boston as an important water port, and the development of Logan Airport.

- New England Begins: The Seventeenth Century — the Museum of Fine Arts and the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities during May, June, and July will build on Boston Common a seventeenth century-frame house, and with seventeenth century crafts, foods, dances, music, and even an early election, will take visitors on a trip through time to 350 years ago.

- The Boston Tradition — co-sponsored by the Boston Public Library, the Bostonian Society, the Boston Athenaeum, and the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities will trace with photographs, prints, and artifacts the history of Boston in ten major fields in which Bostonians have strongly influenced the nation and the world — education, science, the performing arts, business, literature, art and architecture, religion, medicine, politics, and sports — in May at Boston City Hall Gallery.

- Gateway to the Sea/350 Years of the Boston Harbor — ships, models, artifacts, trophies, maps, and the Nathaniel Stebbins marine photographs belonging to the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities will be gathered together by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Hart Nautical Museum to follow the life of Boston Harbor from 1630 to the present — in June at Boston City Hall Gallery.

- New England Arts and Crafts — an exhibit assembled by the Society of Arts and Crafts which shows how although the usefulness of products was the major criterion of colonial artisans and craftspeople, as New England developed and grew, arts and crafts were enhanced by increasingly stronger aesthetic values — during July and August at Boston City Hall Gallery.

- Boston 2000 — cosponsored by the Boston Redevelopment Authority and the Boston Society of Architects, uses exhibits and symposia, to take a look at what effect new technology and other change could have on the city as it makes the transition to the twenty-first century — in September at Boston City Hall Gallery.

- In Business for a Century (and longer) — examines the large number of Boston businesses which are 100 years or more old and how they started and how they have evolved into thriving corporations — at Boston City Hall Gallery.

- Beginnings II — a joint and concurrent art event sponsored by Eighteen Newbury Street galleries which will include exhibitions, films and lectures.

- American Impressionists — an exhibit by the Institute of Contemporary Art which will feature major American impressionists who have been New England born or raised and influenced.

- Continuity and Integration: The Social History of Boston Jewish (1649-1979) — to be sponsored by the American Jewish Historical Society, will highlight in an exhibit and seminars 350 years of Jewish participation in the life of Boston.

The third major program, The Great Cities of the World Conference, September 22-29, will host a special assembly of mayors of other world cities such as Montreal, Copenhagen, Shanghai, Kyoto, Dublin, Lagos, Jerusalem, and Rome. The emphasis will be placed upon the common attributes and interests shared by these cities: renowned cultural institutions, major ports, and recent and imaginative revitalization.

Conferences, open hearings, talks, tours, exhibits, films, performances, and ceremonies will fill the week of international significance for Boston.

Great Cities of the World Week is being developed by such prominent institutions as the Harvard Graduate School of Design, the Boston Architectural Center, the Kennedy School of Government, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Department of Urban Studies and Planning, and Boston University's Center for African Studies.

Modest funding support for Jubilee 350 will be given by the City

The 1977 job lottery list for operator and collector positions, scheduled for expiration June 30, has been extended until further notice, Robert L. Foster, chairman and chief executive officer, announced June 27.

While no new applications for these positions are being accepted, anyone on the existing list will be contacted by the MBTA Employment Office when his or her number is reached, the chairman said.

MDC LAUNCHES CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone recently announced plans to increase safety and sanitary measures at Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) facilities this summer. Due to the current energy situation, the demand for local and readily accessible recreation has risen sharply. Already, MDC officials have observed a definite increase in the use of MDC beaches and reservations.

Rule 5 of the Rules and Regulations for the Use of the Reservations and Parkways Under the Care and Control of the Metropolitan District Commission states that no person shall consume or possess alcoholic beverages on any MDC beach, parks, or reservations except by special permit. Efforts have been made to see that this rule is strictly enforced, daily, at all MDC facilities this summer by the Metropolitan District Police. Over 100 persons were arrested recently on MDC beaches in Nantasket and Revere. Also, two-man car patrols and increased two-man foot patrols have been introduced by the MDC Police to provide for greater mobility and visibility in the enforcement of this important safety precaution.

Animals, including dogs, may be brought on a reservation, including beaches, only if they are restrained by a leash no longer than seven feet. Dogs must be accompanied by their master and cannot be tied and left unattended. Leash laws will be strictly enforced. The MDC asks, however, that all dogs and pets be left at home as a consideration to others.

Litter is perhaps the most irritating of problems; irritating because it is so easily avoided. Those who fail to concern themselves with the proper disposal of their refuse create a serious safety problem, not to mention a disgraceful eyesore. MDC labor crews clean the facilities regularly, but they cannot be everywhere at once. We ask that everyone please clean up before leaving. Failure to do so will result in a fine of $100. If you see someone littering, please point it out to them. You can also help by reporting full trash receptacles to an appropriate MDC employee.

For additional information about MDC recreational facilities, call the MDC Public Information Office at 727-5215. The MDC only asks that you cooperate with these rules so that everyone can enjoy safe recreation this summer.

COSMIC CROSSROADS IS NEW PLANETARIUM PROGRAM

The new planetarium program at Boston's Museum of Science dramatizes three contemporary questions about the universe that have concerned both science and science fiction.

In a series of three episodes, "Cosmic Crossroads" considers planetary influence on earthquakes, travel beyond the speed of light, and communication with extraterrestrial life.

The first episode simulates a grouping of all the planets on one side of the sun, which will occur in 1982. An event that happens every 179 years, the alignment is popularly supposed — as the Jupiter Effect — to trigger earthquakes. The program includes an interview with Dr. Edward Chiburis, chief seismologist of the Weston Observatory of Boston College.

The second episode illustrates the problem of journeying outside our solar system. Often presented in science fiction, this endeavor involves an understanding of how time and space change under conditions of high speed. Space warps and tachyon travel are among the futuristic concepts highlighted.

The third episode is a dialogue between a man and a woman who are thinking about life on other worlds. As they look at the vast star field on the planetarium dome, they imagine the techniques needed for intergalactic communication and fantasize the appearance of distant intelligent beings.

"Cosmic Crossroads" is produced with actors Peggy Kennally and Glenn Spencer of Theatre Makers, Inc., Natick, and the planetarium staff.

The program is given daily and Friday night through September 3. Admission is fifty cents in addition to museum admission. Children under five are not admitted, although they may enter the museum free of charge.

MAYOR ASKS SPECIAL CITY COUNCIL SESSION TO SAVE $12 MILLION IN FEDERAL GRANTS

Mayor Kevin H. White, on July 1, requested a special City Council session to obtain approval for a financial settlement of the South End Renewal Project which will release $12 million in urban renewal funding for neighborhoods throughout Boston.

The City of Boston has a been requested by the federal government to arrive at a financial settlement for all urban renewal projects by June 30, 1979. The South End Project is the last renewal project unsettled in the city.

Failure to arrive at a financial settlement, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, would mean that $12 million already earmarked for Boston would be diverted to other cities.

In addition, HUD may penalize Boston another $2 million in community development funds if the City Council fails to approve the close-out of the South End Project in its special session.

Mayor White said, "What I'm asking for here is the approval of a standard bookkeeping procedure which HUD has requested. It merely means that HUD and the city will square their accounts, balance the books. If we don't comply with HUD's request, we will lose millions of dollars in needed renewal funds."

Mayor White added, "Let me emphasize that this procedure does not represent a retreat from the renewal process. We will continue renewal throughout the city with monies from other federal programs. And of course, that renewal would take place in cooperation with local residents."

Recently, the City Council has twice refused to close the books on the South End Renewal Project. However, during the past year, the Council has approved the close-out of 10 other renewal projects under the authority of the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

BRA Director Robert J. Ryan explained that the BRA has held more than 25 meetings with community groups in the past year on the close-out process. He said the meetings were designed for community-wide review of renewal activities in the South End, and to arrive at a consensus for the future renewal activities.

Ryan said, "It is unfortunate that an administrative procedure which merely settles the financial arrangement between this agency and HUD has not gained approval. Funding this city needs, and indeed has been promised, now stands in jeopardy. The close-out procedure has been accomplished without controversy in other renewal areas of this city, and it should be accomplished the same way in the South End."

COUNCILLOR HICKS URGES LEGISLATION LIMITING ABORTIONS

Boston City Councillor Louise Day Hicks has called on the state legislature to immediately enact a law, under the guidelines as set forth by the Supreme Court, to limit abortions performed on minors under the age of eighteen.

Reacting to the recent Supreme Court decision declaring the Massachusetts law requiring parental consent for minors' abortions unconstitutional, Councillor Hicks noted that a majority of the Supreme Court stated such a law, if enacted, would be constitutional if it adequately protected the rights of the minor seeking an abortion.

"Although I am disappointed that the Supreme Court, again, did not see fit to uphold the rights of parents under such unfortunate circumstances, it did leave the way open for the state courts, if protected by a law, to decide on the right of a minor to seek an abortion.

"I am equally disappointed that the Supreme Court did not even mention in its decision the rights of the unborn, rights clearly protected by laws enacted by the Congress and various legislatures in this country," continued Mrs. Hicks.

Councillor Hicks stated that she was chagrined by the attitude of those who claim that if a minor is mature enough to get pregnant, she is mature enough to seek an abortion without parental or court consent.

"People who argue in this manner are evidently ignorant of the fact that most teenage pregnancies are the result of unfortunate circumstances because of a lack of maturity," Mrs. Hicks stated.

The answer to the problem is evidently better and more preparation for the facts of life at home, and lacking that possibility, in the schools," continued Mrs. Hicks.

"But such an approach does not fit into the money-making scheme of those people who would rather open an abortion clinic, than join with parents, teachers, and the state in better educating our teenagers to their responsibilities to a life, born and unborn," the City Councillor explained.

"The state Legislature can move now to limit the number of abortions performed on teenage girls in Massachusetts, and it can do so in a manner which will not be ruled unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court by giving the state courts the power to decide on an individual basis," said Councillor Hicks.

City Councillor Hicks, a long-time opponent of abortion on demand, concluded her call for legislative action to halt minors' abortions, by stating that the rights of not only the unborn and parents were at stake in the issue, but also the "future emotional health of our entire female, teenage population."

MBTA OFFERS MUNICIPALITIES EXCESS CONCRETE

The MBTA is offering excess concrete to cities and towns where Authority construction projects are under way, Robert L. Foster, chairman and chief executive officer, announced June 27.

"In order to reduce waste and help improve the area surrounding our project sites, the MBTA is offering concrete that is considered excess after a pour is completed at the end of a day. The excess concrete," the chairman said, "could be used for some useful public purpose in the neighborhood of the construction site."

Collection and distribution of the excess concrete will be the responsibility of each project manager who will be working with the local municipality to determine the most advantageous use of the material.

MARCUS GARVEY GARDENS: A REALITY

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held on Thursday, June 28, for Marcus Garvey Gardens, a 161-unit housing development in Roxbury's John Eliot Square at the corner of Dudley and Highland Streets.

The housing is being sponsored by the Roxbury Action Program (RAP) and is seen as the key to the successful revitalization of the square and Roxbury's Highland Park community.

The housing is being financed by the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) with a loan of $6,845,728. MHFA Executive Director John T. Eller said "when I joined the Agency in 1977 I found that this proposal had been side-tracked by the moratorium and delayed by the 1975 fiscal crisis which brought the production of subsidized housing to a virtual standstill. It took teamwork," Eller said, "but we made it happen."

The development will include 155 one-bedroom apartments for elderly persons and six, three-bedroom townhouses for families. All of the units will be subsidized with funds provided by HUD through the section 8 program which means that tenants will pay a set 25 percent of their monthly income for rent. The development will also include 2,350 square feet of commercial space.

Construction has started and will take an estimated 15 months to complete.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

General Order No. 37

I. PRIVATE FIRE ALARM BOXES WITH PREFIXED SIGNALS

Effective at 0800 hours, July 9, 1979, the practice of transmitting private fire alarm boxes with prefixed signals over tapper and radio circuits is discontinued; and the practice of publishing signals from prefixed fire alarm boxes and their locations on assignment cards is discontinued.

Effective at 0800 hours, July 9, 1979, receipt of an alarm from a private fire alarm box with prefixed signal by the Fire Alarm Office will be treated as a still alarm in the following manner:

a. First due engine company, first due ladder company and appropriate District Fire Chief will be dispatched.

b. The corresponding municipal box will be struck.

c. The Fire Alarm Office will announce the private fire alarm box number and its location over the radio.

The reason we say appropriate District Fire Chief is that the private fire alarm box might be located in a different district than that of the municipal box, for instance:

Box 2557, Morton and Forest Hills Streets, District 12.

Box 13-2557, Lemuel Shattuck Hospital, 170 Morton Street, District 9.

II. GROUP ASSIGNMENTS

At the time a member is transferred to a company or a group change is made within a company, the officer is cautioned to analyze the member's work schedule in order not to work the member in excess of the 336 hours in the eight-week cycle.

III. APPOINTMENT OF LINEMEN ON PROBATION

The following have been appointed linemen on probation at 0800 hours, June 27, 1979:

Joseph Lawlor, Paul J. Cuniff, Richard E. Berger, Mark J. Mandeville, Richard Carpenter, John P. Fleming, Kevin R. McCarey, James Mantville, and John V. Frechette.

IV. CHANGE IN DESIGNATION OF FIRE ALARM BOX

The designation of the following box has been changed and company commanders shall make the change on their assignment card:

13-1414, New South Postal Annex, 75 Dorchester Avenue.

V. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

On June 4, 1979, Fire Lieutenant Stephen E. McLaughlin, Rescue Company 2, was engaged in duties on the main floor of Rescue Company 2's quarters at approximately 1255 hours; when he heard the sounding of a police type whistle. Lieutenant McLaughlin investigated the incident, to be of assistance if needed and observed three young males stopping motorists on Blue Hill Avenue.

Lieutenant McLaughlin saw one of these young men smash the passenger window of a car and try to grab a woman's handbag. He ordered the man on patrol to notify the police; and immediately began to pursue these three young men into the Franklin Field Housing Project whereupon, after a lengthy chase, was able to capture one of the fleeing men. The police of District 3 arrived on the scene and placed the captured man under arrest.

The Fire Commissioner/Chief is pleased to highly commend Fire Lieutenant Stephen E. McLaughlin, Rescue Company 2, for his swift action in coming to the aid of a citizen in need of help without regard for his own personal safety and recommends his case to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

The department responded to a still alarm at 22 Winthrop Street, Roxbury, on May 20, 1979, at 0001 hours. Upon arrival of apparatus at this alarm, fire and smoke were observed on all floors of the building. (second alarm, Box 2136 ordered.)

While performing evacuation procedures, members were informed that a child was trapped somewhere in the second-floor apartment.

Acting Fire Lieutenant Robert M. Staunton, Ladder Company 4, and Fire Fighter John W. MacDonald, aide to chief, S.S.U., ascended to the second floor via the front stairway and entered this burning apartment before lines of hose had been advanced to the apartment. After an extensive, diligent search, they found a two-and-one-half-year-old boy unconscious on the bathroom floor. Acting Fire Lieutenant Staunton, after determining no respiration, started mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the boy and with the aid of Fire Fighter John W. MacDonald, carried the victim to safety.

The Fire Commissioner/Chief is pleased to highly commend Acting Fire Lieutenant Robert M. Staunton, Ladder Company 4, and Fire Fighter John W. MacDonald, aide to the chief, for their actions, without regard for their own personal safety, at great personal risk and refers their cases to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest to do so.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulation in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women on each of the projects.

purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive order and regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent, shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents, including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity antidiscrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246. A statement of workforce needs as requested by section 3 and a section 3 affirmative action plan shall be submitted with the contractor's proposal. A section 3 affirmative action plan consists of Tables AAP-1 to AAP-3 and forms AAP-1 and AAP-2 and can be found at pages STI-ST7 of the contract documents. This requirement shall be strictly adhered to. Proposals submitted without the required forms will be rejected. No bidder shall be eligible for award on this project unless he is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Awarding Authority his ability to comply with these requirements. General bids must be submitted on the form for general bid obtained from the Awarding Authority. The general bids shall be completely filled in, signed, enclosed in an envelope, sealed, and plainly marked with the description of the work to be done. Two copies of the general bid shall be filed with the Awarding Authority, at the office designated above, accompanied by a bid deposit in the form of a bid bond, or cash, or in the form of a certified check on, or a treasurer's or cashier's check issued by, a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the City of Boston in the sum of 5 percent of value (not to be less than $100, not to exceed $50,000). One copy of the general bid will be filed with the City Auditor. The general bids shall be filed before the time stated above for the opening of general bids.

No general bid may be withdrawn after the time limit for filing general bids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded) from the opening of the general bids. In addition, no general bid filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible bidders may be withdrawn prior to execution and delivery of the general contract, unless no award has been made upon expiration of the prescribed time therefor.

The successful bidder will be required to provide insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and the Housing and Urban Development Department, and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the contract documents must be paid on this project and that the contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for the employment are not discriminated against because of their race, creed, color, or national origin.

The Building Commissioner is allowing a sixty-three-day period to complete the demolition and site clearance of these buildings starting within seven (7) days after the signing of the Mayor's award.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest to do so.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation, expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas, (See pages EEO-1 EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables).

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in this notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Woburn, and the islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 50 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent, shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents, including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity antidiscrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246. A statement of workforce needs as requested by section 3 and a section 3 affirmative action plan shall be submitted with the contractor's proposal. A section 3 affirmative action plan consists of Tables AAP-1 to AAP-3 and forms AAP-1 and AAP-2 and can be found at pages STI-ST7 of the contract documents. This requirement shall be strictly adhered to. Proposals submitted without the required forms will be rejected. No bidder shall be eligible for award on this project unless he is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Awarding Authority his ability to comply with these requirements. All prospective bidders will be required to attend a prebid conference prior to submitting a bid. The time and place will be announced.

A DECADE OF DEVELOPMENT IN BOSTON

Part VII

J. Transportation Projects

The evolution of improved access to Boston, with its prime role as a regional economic center and generator of production and exports, has advanced in the 1968-78 decade. Investment of more than $760 million in transportation made up more than one-fifth of the city total of investment in site-specific projects. This extraordinary level of transportation investment embraced new and/or expanded facilities for all of the major means of transportation including: 1) the expansion of Logan Airport; 2) the modernization of the port of Boston to handle container ships; 3) the maintenance of the Mystic River Bridge; 4) the Massachusetts Turnpike; 5) the Callahan and Sumner Tunnels; 6) the renovation by the MBTA of Boston's subway system (the nation's oldest); and 7) newly constructed parking garages. The development of transportation facilities spurred business and tourist visitors, growth in cargo and shipping, and the revival of downtown as the metropolitan region's employment and business activity center.

An index of what the improvement in transportation facilities means to Boston is provided by: the 5 percent per year growth in air travel passengers arriving and departing Logan Airport, now totaling fourteen million; the 300,000 workers who commute into Boston each day supplementing the city's own labor force of 275,000; and the recovery in passenger traffic handled by the city's subway system in the last few years.

Of equal importance is the prospect for even larger levels of transportation investment in the coming decade.

V. SHORTFALLS

The decade of development was important to Boston in a very fundamental way. It spurred the revival of the city's economy as a generator of expanding opportunity. It led to the revitalization of the city as a place to live. But this extraordinary record of achievement should not be set down without noting the significant shortfalls. Fortunately, much of what remains to be accomplished appears to be under way or doable within the coming decade.

1) There was little in the way of private sector housing construction in the 1968-78 decade. As a consequence, Boston is entering a period of housing demand pressures generated by both national demographic factors — the postwar babies reaching the thirty-year-old, house settlement age — as well as the increasing attractiveness of Boston as a place to live and work. Private housing investment in Boston could be expected to emerge in response to this demand. This potential would be realized quickly, given property tax relief and reform.

2) Older commercial buildings continued to suffer from high vacancy rates and disincentives for maintenance and renovation. The recent appearance of a shortage of new office space for at least a few years is bringing new life to this important component of Boston's economic base. With a healthy rise in rent levels foreseen and market pressures for rehabilitation and refurbishing, older commercial buildings should come into their own.

3) Neighborhoods advanced during Boston's renaissance. The revitalization process is far from complete. But there are good life signs, including the reentry of private bank mortgage financing, neighborhood business district revival, and the continued flow of benefits from the Community Development and Housing Improvement Programs.

4) High unemployment affecting the young and minorities remains a challenge, even with sizable reductions from the levels of early 1977. More needs to be done to complete the circle of investment, jobs, education, manpower training, and resident job capture.

5) Boston seems to have absorbed the trials of desegregation, but the task of raising the quality of education remains. The city now has outstanding school facilities — a physical plant of the first rank. Boston now needs quality teachers and quality students. As more high school students go on to higher education, the challenge is to send them out into the world better equipped to compete for the new opportunities generated in the city and metropolitan region economies.

6) Boston's public investment in infrastructure has been cut back since 1976 in deference to the need for fiscal austerity and in recognition of the completion of major aspects of the public improvements program launched in 1968. If this cutback were to be long-extended, the city's potential for continued revitalization would be seriously constrained. This danger may be moderated, in part, however, due to the prospect for substantial federally financed investment in transportation facilities and sewer and water projects. The need to find a replacement for the expiration of urban renewal funding for redevelopment is paramount.

The lag in public investment, coupled with an inadequate revenue base, could pose longer-term disincentives to investment in Boston. The fact that the city had essentially invested in its future, even in the years when employment was lagging, enabled it to experience a quick and strong response to national economic recovery when it came in 1977 and 1978. Without this investment, the recovery would have been significantly less evident.

VI. PROLOGUE FOR THE NEXT DECADE

While the future of the city, including private and public plans, will be the subject of another report,* the last decade's investment and its effects are already reaching into the next decade. With the development of the last ten years, Boston experienced a successful transformation to an expanding, broad-based, services-activity economy and its structure is now in tune with the future directions of the nation. Much of the city's public infrastructure is new, though much still remains to be done in the way of maintenance, repair, and replacement. Thus, the notable performance of the Boston economy since 1976 reflects more than a cyclical response to national recovery. Unlike other cities in the Northeast and Midwest which continue to suffer from economic out-migration to the suburbs and Sunbelt, Boston now has a substantially improved economic base calculated to pave the way for long-term growth. The new Boston economy has good prospects for expansion in services activities and recovery in certain manufacturing industries.

With population stabilization, employment recovery and growth, good fiscal management, and favorable tax reform prospects, Boston is on the verge of a major investment boom. Some $10 billion of new investment is anticipated for the decade of the 1980s and much of the specifics of this are already known. In response to the scarcity of new office space, the rise in rent levels, and the expansion plans of firms occupying Boston's office buildings, more than 8,000,000 square feet of new office construction is anticipated over the next ten years. Projections of employment growth in services activities in Boston would more than absorb this amount of new space. Boston is expected to maintain its preeminence in services activities and in office space in the metropolitan area and New England region.

The city is expected to see as many as 1,000, new, hotel rooms a year over the next decade. More than a dozen new hotels are in prospect, with a large developer response to the present shortage and the projected growth in demand. New hotels are expected to serve an increasing influx of business visitors, convention goers, and tourists.

Substantial, federally funded investment in public transit as well as port, airport, roads, and bridges over the next decade is already in the pipeline. This will be supplemented by large federal funding of water and sewer facilities for maintenance, repair, and replacement of nineteenth-century, public infrastructure. Resolution of the city's inadequate revenue-raising base will determine, in large part, the level of city capital investment.

In response to the tightening of the housing market and the projected growth in demand, some 25,000 new dwelling units are expected to be constructed over the next ten years. Private financing is anticipated to play a larger role than in the past.

Growth in the share of the metropolitan region retail market captured by the city is foreseen with the resurgence of investment in new and refurbished retail facilities. This expansion is expected to add 3½ million square feet of retail space in the city over the next decade.

Continued expansion of medical institution and higher education facilities in Boston will involve $1 billion of new investment over the next decade.

Prospects for theatre and cultural facility development are strong. An acceleration of investment in cultural facilities is under way, reflecting growing attendance and development plans by a number of public and private groups.

Recovery and growth in manufacturing will result in new investment over the next decade, particularly in instruments, transportation equipment, fabricated metals, and marine-related industries. The Boston Marine Industrial Park and the Crosstown Industrial Park are expected to expand over the ten-year period.

The foregoing prospects, of course, will be contingent on public policy, planning, and leadership and the private sector initiative and commitment, which working together, can make it all happen.

"T" AWARDS DESIGN CONTRACT

The MBTA Board of Directors on July 2, authorized a $553,418 contract award for the design of a temporary and permanent commuter rail maintenance facility near South Station. Selected in accordance with the Authority's consultant selection procedure was Seely, Stevenson, Value and Knecht, Boston engineers and planners.

The proposed temporary and permanent facility would be used for daily and monthly inspections and any necessary running repairs of the MBTA's new locomotives and coaches. The building would be located about 900 feet south of the intersection of Kneeland Street and Atlantic Avenue and just west of storage Track 46 at the southern end of South Station. A new, single track through the new building would connect at both ends to Track 46 to provide run-through operation.

At present, the Authority's commuter rail equipment is maintained either in the open at South Station or at a leased facility in Providence. Other maintenance and repair work is done at the MBTA-owned Boston Engine Terminal near North Station, necessitating movement of the equipment by a circuitous route.

TIMELY TIPS FOR TRAVELERS

The summer vacation travel season is under way and to help prospective travelers feel more comfortable about venturing forth away from home, the American Hotel & Motel Association has published a new seventeen-page booklet, "Tips for Travelers."

Estimates show that 50 percent of the people who travel have never stayed in a hotel or motel, so the booklet, which is available through AH&MA, attempts to motivate people to travel and to stay at hotels and motels when they do.

The booklet emphasizes how easy it is to make, change, or cancel hotel and motel reservations and explains the various types of accommodations which are available. Included among the many "tips" are helpful suggestions for checking in and out, answers to questions about tipping and advice on credit, security, and energy-saving.

According to AH&MA, the information was considered important enough by the editors of "Odyssey," a publication which goes to 250,000

Gulf Travel Club members, that parts of it were published in three consecutive issues. The same material also appears in several editions of the company's "Gulf Travel Guides."

AH&MA is urging innkeepers to make the "Tips" booklet available to arriving guests or to persons who write for reservations. The booklet will also be distributed as a giveaway item which travel editors may suggest their readers write for to AH&MA.

Because so many people in this country have never traveled, or have traveled but never stayed in commercial lodging facilities, the booklet serves a useful and educational purpose.

By making the public more familiar with what the industry has to offer, AH&MA takes a positive step which can only benefit everyone.

For further information write to: American Hotel & Motel Association, 888 7th Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DOE TO PROSECUTE ILLEGAL RETAIL PRACTICES

The Department of Energy's (DOE) Region I Office of Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) has issued a second warning to retail gasoline dealers to halt business practices which result in discrimination against customers.

Arthur H. Shaw, deputy director of Northeast District, ERA said he "is ready to act on motorists' 'tips' about stations providing preferential treatment or requiring other than normal business practices."

He said, "consumers should be aware that it is against federal regulations for a retailer to: require tie-in sales such as a car wash, food, auto accessories or repairs; demand scheduled purchase appointments; modify credit agreements; discriminate among credit card or cash-paying purchasers; or provide preferred treatment for regular customers."

Shaw warned that violators of the Department of Energy regulations are subject to civil penalties of up to $2,500 per violation-day and criminal penalties of up to $10,000 per violation-day.

Motorists with complaints of discriminatory practices are urged to call the DOE Regional ERA Office at 617-223-3728.

Retail dealers with questions on the federal regulations should call the DOE Regional ERA Enforcement Office at 617-223-5215.

OLDER BOSTONIANS: TAKE NOTE

Elderly Commission begins major SSI Outreach Program

The major federal funding source of social services for the elderly, Title 20 of the Social Security Act, is intended to assist low-income seniors. Unfortunately, those most in need of these services are not receiving them.

"We know there are many Older Bostonians who may be eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) but who have not applied because they lack information on eligibility or who feel there is a stigma attached to receiving benefits," Mayor Kevin H. White said.

In response to this gap between services and beneficiaries, the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly has organized and trained a seven-member, outreach staff to make personal contact with potential beneficiaries in the city, mostly by referral.

The Elderly Commission expects to reach 5,000 potential recipients of SSI benefits this year through its outreach program and by referrals from elderly organizations including the city's three, home-care corporations.

Following determination of income eligibility, Commission SSI outreach workers will cut red tape and complete the necessary paperwork so that individuals can begin receiving SSI benefits.

Individuals with limited incomes who are at least sixty-five or blind or disabled and concerned about SSI eligibility, should contact the Mayor's Elderly Hotline at 722-4646 for assistance.

CAMP JOY BEGINS THIRTY-THIRD SUMMER

In addition, no proposal filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible bidders may be withdrawn prior to execution and delivery of the contract, unless no award has been made upon expiration of the prescribed time therefor.

The successful bidder will be required to provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 50 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 15 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons (Black, Hispanic, Oriental or American Indians).

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's Letter of Intent. The Letter of Intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a minority business identification statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will be held on Wednesday, August 1, 1979, at 10 a.m., in Room 401, City Hall, 1 City Hall Square.

It is imperative that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

BOSTON: ALIVE AND DOING WELL

This is a report on the present state of the city to a group of people who will largely determine the future state of the city. In this age of rapid change, communicating with people through their leaders and interpreters is among the most important duties a government has. In this instance, the duty is a pleasant one, since the readers, not the writers, played the major role in making the good news possible. And the news is the best we've had in years. After a series of setbacks, American cities are now recovering their former health and tone. And Boston is leading the revitalization.

Even our most troubled years, Boston was widely recognized as one of the most livable cities in the United States. But we also fought to retain our leadership as the historical, cultural, and commercial center of New England. Now those efforts are paying off. The signs are everywhere. Population in our downtown neighborhoods is up. Business is coming back from the suburbs. Employment is up. There are even more ducks in the Public Garden. The tax rate has stabilized, against all odds. Through progressive management techniques, we've learned how to get more productivity out of every dollar. The result is better services at a better price.

We continue to attract a very large share of federal money. Under the Boston Plan we received 56 million federal dollars this year alone, generated 60 million more in private funds and 6,000 new jobs. In 1979 we anticipate similar results. The Charlestown Navy Yard is a good example of the progress we have made. Five years ago, the federal government announced it was closing down the yard. Today, we have a ten-year, 100-million-dollar development under way. You don't have to look at the figures to see that this great city is alive and well. You can feel it in the air. You can see it in our skyline, where thirty new buildings have been added in twenty years. You can hear it on Washington Street, on the waterfront, in the financial district. You can sense it in our neighborhoods.

We've never stopped fighting. And now we're seeing results. Now we're starting to win.

A stable tax rate means that for the first time in years, businesses and individuals will be able to make longrange plans, knowing their rate well in advance. It also gives us all at least one expense that won't be going up along with inflation. By the time you see what you'll be paying for a pair of shoes or a gallon of gas in 1980, your tax bill may even begin to look like a bargain.

Determination and strong management are going to make a stable tax rate possible. But nothing is going to make it easy.

Inflation will raise many of the city's costs substantially, in spite of our efforts. This year alone, we face cost increases beyond our control that add up to more than 50 million dollars.

Nevertheless, we're going to stabilize taxes. And we're going to take pride in doing it. Because whether you look at it as holding taxes down while everything else goes up, or giving Boston taxpayers a 10 percent cut in real dollars, it's a big accomplishment.

During the 70s American business has learned that survival depends on cost control, and also that cost control is possible without sacrificing the quality of products or services. We've learned the same lessons in government. The result is that Bostonians are getting more for their money than ever before.

The number of city employees has been reduced about 20 percent over the last four years, for 20 million dollars in annual savings. Yet overall, the quality of services has improved.

For example, if you measure the budget of the Police Department in real dollars, adjusted for inflation, the department is spending 18 percent less than six years ago. But performance is up. More police are on patrol duty. Response time to citizen calls has been cut from 15 minutes to 8 minutes. In the last two years, the index of serious crimes has fallen 17 percent. Or take services for our senior citizens. Savings in other areas will allow us to spend $900,000 more this year on programs for the elderly. Federal funds will also increase substantially. This will allow us to improve and extend programs in health care, housing, food services, and special transportation services for our large, energetic community of senior citizens. In Boston we've demonstrated that quality government and quality of life are possible on a limited budget with good management. And like the thousands of bicyclists, tennis players, and joggers in our city, we even feel healthier for being a little leaner.

Tough, imaginative new management practices already have increased productivity and service delivery across the board. And we're still executing many of our plans for reorganization. The Police Department is using a new budgeting system, and it is paying off. A sophisticated city-wide financial information system is being implemented. Existing systems are being dramatically upgraded. Streamlined methods of collecting taxes have resulted in an additional 25 million dollars in revenue in the last two and a half years. Of course, systems are only as good as the people who design and implement them. And here Boston has no shortage of resources.

We have new people in many of the top jobs at City Hall, and a new Superintendent of Schools. In terms of talent, experience, enthusiasm, and effectiveness, Boston now has the management team we need to continue to move forward. And the systems we're currently putting into place will continue to serve Boston long after the faces have changed.

They said American business was leaving the cities. But business confidence is back. And that's bringing business back.

After losing an average of 11,000 jobs a year since 1970, Boston reversed the trend in 1977. Last year the city gained 2,655 jobs. In the last two years we gained 4,200 manufacturing jobs, and 8 percent increase. In June unemployment dropped to 8.7, a decrease of nearly 40 percent since 1975.

Digital Equipment Corporation led the corporate influx as the first tenant in the new 40-acre Crosstown Industrial Park.

Major retailers like Jordan Marsh, Filene's, Kennedy's, and The Corner are leading the revitalization of the downtown area. Downtown Crossing, the Washington Street mall, is now the busiest pedestrian area in New England. And Faneuil Hall Marketplace enjoys the highest gross sales per square foot of any shopping center in North America. It's drawing a million shoppers a month — more visitors than Disneyland. Half of them are coming in from the suburbs. Business is back.

FORTY YEAR LEASE FOR BOSTON'S MUSIC HALL

Another important step in the revitalization of Boston's Theatre District was taken July 10, with the signing of documents relating to the lease of the 4,200-seat Music Hall by Metropolitan Center, Inc.

A 40-year lease of the theater was signed by David C. Crockett, chairman of the Center's Board of Trustees, and Dr. Jerome H. Grossman, president of New England Medical Center Hospital, which has owned the facility since 1962.

Also signed was a supplemental agreement setting forth certain conditions to be met by Metropolitan prior to commencement of the terms of the lease. Among other matters, the agreement requires the Center to obtain for the Hospital title from the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) to land necessary for a proposed $3.5 million addition to the Music Hall. Also, Metropolitan is required to obtain a commitment for construction financing prior to beginning work on the addition, and to have final plans for the construction approved by the BRA and the Hospital.

Harry S. Lodge, president of the non-profit organization created to refurbish and expand the theater, said he expected all conditions to be fulfilled in the course of construction planning. Robert Ryan, director of the BRA, said that "The BRA has been committed to this project since 1974, when we initiated the entire concept of an expanded performing arts facility. I'm confident that, over the next few months, with continued cooperation, we will have worked out the technical aspects of the project to the satisfaction of all."

Metropolitan Center has been working for more than three years on the project to create a major center for the performing arts in the New England area. This past spring the Center mounted a public fund drive to raise contributions for the project. Based on the success to date of Metropolitan's fund raising efforts, officials of the Hospital were encouraged to proceed with the lease signing and to give a one-year's termination notice to the present tenant. This will enable the Center to take possession of the theater on July 7, 1980, providing all conditions are met by that time.

Metropolitan Center was organized in 1976 as a non-profit corporation to undertake a program aimed at converting the Music Hall into a major regional center for the performing arts. By expanding the stage and restoring the lavish auditorium and lobbies, the Center plans to attract a variety of international, national and local productions, ranging from opera to ballet to popular music presentations. The project is viewed as a key element in the City of Boston's plans for the economic and physical revitalization of the Theatre District.

The Hospital acquired the Music Hall building, now 53 years old, in January 1962 from Metropolitan Theatre Corporation, a subsidiary of Paramount Pictures, during that period in the early '60s when the motion picture company began ridding itself of theater ownership. The parcel, covering some 2½ acres, included in addition to the Music Hall (or Metropolitan Theater as it was then known), a 14-story office building, the Wilbur Theatre and a parking lot.

GANG PATROL PROGRESS "AN ENCOURAGING SIGNAL" FOR NEIGHBORHOOD SECURITY

Mayor Kevin H. White on July 20, characterized a progress report on the Boston Police Department's offensive against the youth gang problem in Boston as "an encouraging sign for neighborhood security."

That drive began one week ago when more than 100 veteran officers from the Department's Mobile Operations Patrol (MOP), and Mounted and K-9 units were deployed throughout the city in areas of high youth gang activity.

Mayor White said, "The added police presence in the neighborhoods on these gang calls is obviously just what is needed to convey to young people that we are serious about controlling, and eventually eradicating the problem of youth gangs in this city. The destruction and disruptiveness that youth gangs represent can no longer be tolerated."

Dubbed the "G-Squad," the new unit responded to 1355 gang calls during its first week of operation. Statistics on those calls are:

- 118 arrests of young people for gang-related incidents.
- 70 young people taken into protective custody for detoxification as a result of public drunkenness.
- 839 groups of loitering young people dispersed.
- 390 field siting reports filed on members of youth gangs which were the subject of "911" complaints.
- and 119 traffic violations issued to young people who were the subject of gang-related complaints.

In addition to the increased police presence in the neighborhoods, Mayor White has asked Boston's clergy for help in stemming the rising incidence of youth gang vandalism.

Police Department figures estimate that 57,000 complaint calls per year deal with some kind of youth crime.

On June 28, Mayor White had unveiled a major initiative to combat youth crime in Boston.

In addition to a vastly increased police presence in the neighborhoods, that program included:

- a public education program to increase the awareness among adults as well as youth about the problem of youth crime, and ways to stop it.
- higher priority for youth crime activities such as public drinking, vandalism, and other disruptive activities.
- and a "postcard program" which would notify by postcard any parent whose children are the subjects of "911" emergency call complaints.

Mayor White said, "The disruption and destruction youth gangs inflict on a neighborhood affect the very quality of life in Boston. The noise they make at night makes people in the neighborhoods unable to sleep. The smashing of car windows makes them unable to park their cars on the street. The beer cans strewn over lawns are a continual annoyance. And the very presence of these groups of youngsters on street corners makes people afraid to walk the streets of their neighborhoods at night."

With teen drivers at the wheel, tires often scream their treads off.

MAYOR SAYS HE CAN HOLD BOSTON'S TAX RATE

Mayor Kevin H. White has announced that he will be able to "hold the line" on the city's tax rate for 1980 because of the preservation of $166 million in state aid to the cities and towns in the budget passed by the legislature July 11.

At that time, the Mayor pledged that given sufficient state aid, Boston's tax rate would not rise over the next two years.

Mayor White said he could keep that pledge because of:

- the action of the legislature in preserving state aid for the cities and towns, and
- the progress the city is making in limiting expenditures and improving its financial position.

"I am encouraged and relieved to be able to keep the commitment I made to the taxpayers of this city last year," Mayor White said.

The Mayor thanked Senate President William Bulger for his efforts in securing general relief as part of this year's state budget.

The Mayor said the restoration of General Relief Medical Assistance to Boston would mean an additional $5.5 million in fiscal 1980. This form of assistance — reimbursing the city's health facilities for expenses in treating those unable to qualify for Medicaid — has not been honored by the state since 1976.

Mayor White said this year's budget is "still a far cry from the comprehensive, long-term property tax relief, but it's a start, and a positive step that will benefit the people of Boston by enabling us to hold the tax rate under difficult circumstances."

MAYOR LAUDS COMMUNITY SCHOOLS PROGRAM

In an age when criticism of government at every level is frequently heard, I think we can be very proud that our city government in Boston has produced something like the Boston Community Schools Program.

I don't think anyone knew for certain back in 1972 how well the idea of opening up school buildings to the whole community, and of investing decision-making power in the neighborhoods, would work. Seven years later we do know the answer. The program has taken root, it has expanded, but even more crucially, it has matured. By that I mean that the resources the program commands (it is probably close to the largest community schools program in the United States) are based increasingly to deal with basic neighborhood issues and problems.

My one recommendation is that the program work even harder to attract new participants. Believe it or not, large numbers of people in Boston are still unacquainted with the incredible opportunities for recreation, education, and community participation at our Boston Community Schools.

MAYOR RECOMMENDS THREE-YEAR EXTENSION OF RENT CONTROL IN BOSTON

Mayor Kevin H. White has announced he will recommend to the City Council a three-year extension of rent control in Boston, through December, 1982.

Mayor White said the extension would give tenants "the security of knowing their rents won't go sky high at a time when energy costs are out of control."

The Mayor also announced the formation of an 11-member commission to study the impact of rent control, which has been in effect in various forms since he took office in 1968.

The commission will focus on:
— the effects of vacancy decontrol

— the effects of condominium conversions on the housing market, and — the impact on landlords and tenants of rising energy costs.

Of the 11 members, the Mayor has invited the City Council to name three, and Fair Share and the Rental Housing Association to name two members each. The remaining four members will be appointed by the Mayor.

Mayor White urged the council to act quickly and favorably on the proposed rent control extension.

He called rent control "a necessary protection" for tenants in over 60,000 rental units in Boston.

The Mayor said, however, that "the report of this commission is going to lay the groundwork for the next decade of decisionmaking on housing in Boston."

He said the commission would have until the end of 1982 to make its recommendations.

"Rent control is undeniably one of the most emotional issues in the city," Mayor White said, "but only a rational, comprehensive look at its impact will serve the public interest."

"I want rent control to stay — but I want to know at what cost we keep it."

PARKS AND RECREATION CO-SPONSORS WALK-A-THON

Mayor Kevin H. White and the Department of Parks and Recreation in conjunction with the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Massachusetts State Police announce a WALK-A-THON to benefit Cystic Fibrosis, August 5 at twelve noon. The WALK-A-THON will start at Boston City Hall Plaza and end at the Children's Hospital (4 miles). Awards will be given to all those who walk. PLAQUE HONORING "MA" DIXON UNVEILED

Mayor Kevin H. White on July 14, unveiled a memorial plaque honoring Mrs. Tommie "Ma" Dixon at ceremonies held at "Ma" Dixon's Restaurant, 478 Blue Hill Avenue, in the Grove Hall section of Roxbury. "Ma" Dixon was a highly respected leader and friend of Boston's Black community. She died on May 7, at the age of 72.

Mrs. Dixon opened her first restaurant on Hammond Street in 1942, but was forced to move to larger quarters twice to accommodate the growing numbers of faithful customers. In addition to her success in the restaurant business, Mrs. Dixon earned the nickname "Ma" for her deep concern for all who came to her for friendship and help.

Mayor White said, "'Ma' Dixon was a giving and loving member of Boston's Black community. She was a steadying influence on all those who knew her — always willing to help those less fortunate than herself. We dedicate this plaque, which bears the inscription 'Tommie "Ma" Dixon — a citizen of this community held in high esteem by her neighbors and friends' to her memory."

Mayor White was joined at the ceremonies by Deputy Mayor "Jeep" Jones, the Reverend Charles Stith, Pastor of the Union United Methodist Church, Judge Harry Elam, Judge David Nelson and members of Mrs. Dixon's family.

The ceremonies were sponsored by the City of Boston, Prince Hall Masons, the New Grove Hall Board of Trade and the Grove Hall Development Council. "Ma" Dixon's Restaurant is now managed by Mrs. Dixon's sister, Ruth Walltower.

MAYOR HONORS MEMORY OF DORIS DAVIS

Mayor Kevin H. White has paid posthumous tribute to one of Lena Park Community Development Corporation's most active and dedicated workers in commemorative observances held at the Lena Park Neighborhood Center in Dorchester.

Mayor White presented Patrick Jones, Jr., president of the Lena Park Community Development Corporation with a Paul Revere bowl in memory of Doris Davis, one of the Black community's outstanding citizens who died last winter.

Said Mayor White, "Mrs. Davis's work with youth during the turbulent years of school desegregation and her dedication to the improvement of the penal system will serve as a lasting example of what one individual can do for the betterment of the entire community."

Mayor White was joined in the memorial tribute by the Davis family, Attorney General Francis Bellotti, State Senator William J. Owens and School Committeeman John O'Bryant.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE
(EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation, expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas, (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables).

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in this notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least fifty percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly-owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's Letter of Intent. The Letter of Intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246. A statement of workforce needs as requested by section 3 and a section 3 affirmative action plan shall be submitted with the contractor's proposal. A section 3 affirmative action plan consists of tables AAP-1 to AAP-3 and forms AAP-1 and AAP-2 and can be found at pages ST1-ST7 of the contract documents. This requirement will be strictly adhered to. Proposals submitted without the required forms will be rejected. No bidder shall be eligible for award on this project unless he is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Awarding Authority his ability to comply with these requirements. All prospective bidders will be required to attend a prebid conference prior to submitting a bid. The time and place will be announced.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 15 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons (Black, Hispanic, Oriental or American Indians).

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's Letter of Intent. The Letter of Intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a minority business identification statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will be held on Wednesday, August 1, 1979, at 10 a.m., in Room 401, City Hall, 1 City Hall Square.

It is imperative that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

BOSTON: ALIVE AND DOING WELL

Boston's greatest strength is her neighborhoods, and the community identity and involvement that the neighborhoods give her citizens. Ask someone who lives on Gallivan Boulevard where he's from, and he'll most likely tell you Dorchester, not Boston.

And Boston's neighborhoods are flourishing. The housing markets there are the strongest they've been in years. Older residents are committed to staying in their communities. Young people are moving in from the suburbs and from other areas of the United States.

In spite of financial problems, quality of services in the neighborhoods has been high in Boston. The neighborhood health center program, which has received national recognition, provides first-rate community-based medical care. Summerthing, the neighborhood arts festival, celebrated its eleventh birthday this year.

Programs that provide senior shuttles, hot lunches, and an elderly hot line are making life better for older residents. Since 1975 we have built over three thousand new units of elderly housing.

And we've built more schools, put up more fire stations, and planted more trees in the past ten years than in any other ten-year period in Boston's history. We've stretched city money in the neighborhoods through the Home Improvement Program. By providing 7.5 million dollars in cash rebates to homeowners for home repairs, we've generated more than 34 million dollars in private expenditures and made significant improvements in our housing stock as well.

Applying the same principle to business expansion, we offer rebates for storefront renovations by local merchants, as well as security system improvements through the Neighborhood Business District Program. Increasingly, we are turning to sophisticated techniques so we can continue to provide good services with limited resources. As that happens, it's important to remember the purpose of all our sophistication is the very simple one of serving people.

A prominent real estate executive says he often invites his father, a confirmed North End city dweller, to come visit him in the country. He says his father invariably replies, "Me, come to the country? Are you crazy? Where is there to walk?" Increasingly, people are coming to the conclusion that the city is where the walking is best, and indeed where life is best. And among all U. S. cities, is there one where life is more varied, fuller, or more enjoyable than Boston? Here is a city made up of small towns, where a family can live in the shade of trees and in the embrace of a true neighborhood — yet be ten minutes away from downtown by public transportation.

Diversity is so prevalent here, you'd think it was a Boston invention. You see it in our cab drivers, our newspapers, our street festivals, our dress, our architecture. Boston is not the best possible example of a uniform building style, but is an instance of eighteenth-century independence still living. As one Boston writer has said, "In Boston we rarely talk about doing our own thing. We just do it."

Perhaps the unique spirit of Boston was most noticed during the Bicentennial. There was something in the air the day the Queen was in town, when the Tall Ships anchored in our harbor, and on that heady Fourth of July evening in the Esplanade. We all felt it.

But the spirit didn't depart with the Queen, didn't dissipate as the Tall Ships scattered, didn't go out with the last of the fireworks on the Fourth of July. The spirit is with us still. It's been with us all along. And that's the best news a city could have. Because as long as Boston possesses the spirit of a great city, a great city is what we will always be.

"Boston's vitality defies prophets of doom." Jack Miner, Monitor, 5/20/77.

"The recycling of the downtown waterfront and the Quincy Markets is an awesome success." Dan Ahern, Herald, 5/22/77.

"From its earliest days, Boston has been the locus of intellectual ferment and change in the arts, politics, education, religion, the sciences, and finance. Even in architecture this tradition-proud and preservation-conscious city has been in the vanguard. Indeed, some of the boldest new architecture in America is to be found in Boston's Government Center, its State Street Financial District, and broad-avenued Back Bay. In many ways, just as it was two hundred years ago, Boston is still America's most contemporary city." Stephen R. Conn, Town and Country, April, 1976.

"Boston sets the pace for livability." Business Week, November, 1971.

"Boston is likely to become in the remaining years of this century, considerably more attractive to the rest of the nation than Boston ever has been in your lifetime." David Wilson, Globe, 6/3/74.

"As a cool mist begins to flow in off the sea, you can seek into the encompassing dark of the far waters, from which the first Bostonians came, not so long ago as to be out of man's memory, and you will find yourself believing that this city, through luck or fortitude, knows how to occupy that shifting no-man's land between the American past and American future." National Geographic, 9/74.

"Boston is a proud, crusty, living entity where the centuries mingle and mix easily as they dissolve into the future." David Wilson, Globe, 6/3/74.

"I like the combination of a very physically attractive city and a very, very intelligent community with interesting and exasperating politics, which amuses me. And the people are felicitous. Boston is the only place where I've found that kind of mix." Robert Manning, editor-in-chief of Atlantic Monthly; U. S. News 4/5/77.

"The people of Greater Boston are more bullish on Boston today than they've been for many a year. The people farther away even more so. Somehow the city has developed a special meaning for people everywhere." Ian Menzies, Boston Globe, 9/18/77.

"The restoration (Quincy Market) is one of the stellar features of Boston's exemplary downtown renewal, a remarkably sensitive synthesis of new and old; from Faneuil to City Hall. Today Quincy Market is a showpiece in a city of rich urban and aesthetic rewards. And every 'appropriate' solution must be accepted if urban beauty, amenity, and history are to be retained at all. Here there is an obvious tenant quality control, and an explosion of too clever graphics. The dilemma, in the end, is balance. You win and you lose at the same time, and with luck, you mostly win. Quincy Market is a winner." Ada Louise Huxtable, New York Times, 9/19/76.

"No city in America has been more sharply transformed in its outer face and political dialogue than Boston. From the russet red city of politicians and bigots of his youth to the glowing and vibrant central city of today, with its dazzling architecture of plazas and skyscrapers, the old Hub has been transformed." Theodore White, In Search of History, 1978.

MAYOR RESPONDS TO RECEIVERSHIP DECISION

Mayor Kevin H. White on July 25, said he supports any action by the court that will break the administrative logjam at the Boston Housing Authority and improve living conditions for tenants of public housing in Boston.

The Mayor assured tenants that receivership will not result in either increased rents or sudden evictions for anyone in public housing.

He said he will review the court's decision before making further comment.

$47,555 GRANT FOR AUTOMOBILE OWNERS INFORMATION PROGRAM

Mayor Kevin H. White, on July 12, announced that the Boston Consumers' Council has been awarded an $47,555 grant from the federal Office of Consumers Education to produce a consumers reference guide for automobile owners.

The guide, "The Automobile Owner's Survival Manual" will contain in simple, easy-to-read language all the information car owners need for the purchase, maintenance and repair of their vehicles. The glove compartment size brochure will cover such topics as "The Automobile Consumer's Bill of Rights," "The Basics of Auto Sales and Repairs," and "Common Ripoffs and Patterns of fraud." Automobile financial plans, consumer complaint resolution, and state and federal regulations will also be explained in terms a layperson can readily understand.

Said Mayor White, "Massachusetts car owners have some of the nations toughest consumer laws protecting them. But, without the correct information, technical knowledge and awareness of consumer rights, they are vulnerable to fraud. This manual will educate consumers, and in doing so, help to reduce the tremendous number of automobile complaints we receive each year."

The Automobile Owner's Survival Manual will be designed and validated through a series of 30 seminars that will be offered to approximately 600 Boston area motorists.

The free, three-hour seminars will be taught by an automobile repair specialist and a lawyer familiar with auto and consumer laws. The seminars will serve as a testing ground for materials in the manual, while performing a community education function for the participants.

The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles will assist the Boston Consumers' Council in the recruitment of seminar participants and the distribution of the Automobile Owner's Survival Manual.

COUNCIL INVITES POPE JOHN PAUL II TO VISIT BOSTON

Pope John Paul II has been officially invited by the Boston City Council to visit here when he makes his trip to the United States in late September.

In a resolution sponsored by Councillor Louise Day Hicks for all her colleagues, the Council stated that such a visit — even if for a brief period — “would be among the most notable events in all of Boston’s long history.

“A Papal visit would surely rekindle the pride of Bostonians and uplift spirits as the city looks to its forthcoming 350th anniversary year,” the resolution said.

A letter to the Pontiff signed by all members of the Council noted that Boston had twice welcomed Karol Cardinal Wojtyla of Poland and remembers his visits to churches in Hyde Park and South Boston.

“This city is no stranger to you,” the letter of invitation stated. “Boston would be blessed once more, Your Holiness, should your schedule allow another visitation by a good friend.”

Pope John Paul II, as part of his trip, will address the United Nations Assembly in New York.

The City Council, in its letter, noted: “We are confident that you will capture the hearts and respect of all Americans on your journey, as you did recently in your native land.”

His Holiness, John Paul II
Vatican City
Rome, Italy

Your Holiness:

The undersigned members of the Boston City Council are proud as well as pleased that you will come to the United States of America this autumn. We are confident that you will capture the hearts and respect of all Americans on your journey, as you did recently in your native land.

On behalf of Bostonians of all, creeds, we most respectfully extend an invitation to visit — even if for a brief period — this city that is no stranger to you. We cherish the memories as do the Polish-American communities and churches in South Boston and in Hyde Park, the visits of Cardinal Wojtyla.

Boston would be blessed once more, Your Holiness, should your schedule allow another visitation by a good friend.

Sincerely,

City of Boston,
in City Council,

Councillor Hicks for all the Councillors (DiCara, Flynn, Iannella, Langone, McDonough, O’Neil, Sansone, Tierney).

Whereas, His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, will be making his first Pontifical visit to the United States in late September to address the United Nations Assembly; and

Whereas, The Pope’s proximity to Boston at the time would make possible a short trip to this city of culture and religious devotion; and

Whereas, The Pope twice in the past decade has visited Boston as the distinguished Cardinal Wojtyla of Poland and won many fervent admirers of all faiths who vividly remember his warmth, humanity, and scholasticism; and

Whereas, Bostonians and especially those in the Polish-American community throughout Massachusetts and New England would count such a visit among the most notable events in all of Boston’s long history; and

Whereas, A Papal visit would surely rekindle the pride of Bostonians and uplift spirits as the city looks to its forthcoming 350th anniversary year; and

Whereas, Pope John Paul’s magnetism, demonstrated in his tours to Latin America, Europe and behind the Iron Curtain, helps bond in brotherhood people of all faiths, encouraging a closer, happier and more respectful unity; and

Whereas, His Holiness is in the process of deciding the itinerary for the visit to the United States this fall; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, sincerely and humbly invites His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, to bless this city with His presence during the forthcoming trip to America; and, be it further Resolved, That the Boston City Clerk is directed to forward this Official Resolution of Invitation to His Holiness at the Vatican, Rome, and also transmit a copy to His Eminence, Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston, who would serve as principal host for a Papal visitation to this city.

In City Council July 18, 1979.

Attest:

Barry Hynes,
City Clerk.

JOY PREVAILED AT THE PICNIC

Camp Joy, Boston Parks and Recreation Department’s summer program for special needs residents of the city, held its annual picnic at the Christian A. Herter Center in Allston on Friday, July 27. Nearly 700 campers and staff members participated in the day-long event, which included games, a band, a roving clown, Muppet characters, and other group activities, in addition to a barbeque.

Gino’s, Inc., supplied the hamburgers for the picnic goers, while Dannon donated cups of yogurt. Such generosity from private companies is indicative of the Boston community’s high regard for the Camp Joy Program, which Dorothy Curran, Director of Recreation, calls “the best of its kind in the country.” Camp Joy, now in its thirty-third year of providing recreational and educational activities for people with a wide variety of special needs, has grown tremendously in recent years thanks to the strong support of the White Administration.

Camp Joy looks forward now to its next two special events, the Camp Joy Play Day and the Camp Joy Olympics, which will be held on August 7 and August 9, respectively. Both these events will involve the Worcester and Boston Camp Joy programs and will include competitive and carnival-type activities.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT GAINS FAVORABLE RULING

The Federal Court, Judge W. Arthur Garrity presiding, on July 20, granted the School Department's motion for the modification of the interim rating and screening process for district-based positions proposed by the Boston Public Schools, Robert Wood, Superintendent. This action was gratefully acknowledged by the Office of the Superintendent.

"We are most gratified by the Judge's approval of our motion. We can now give full attention to the priorities that will ensure the best education for the children entrusted to our care," said Superintendent Wood. "We can now recruit and hire capable people consistent with Affirmative Action's goals and the fourteenth amendment with expanded community participation. At the same time, the School Department will commit itself to a joint review taking alternative proposals into consideration of hiring procedures in general. We hope that each district office will be fully staffed and operational by late fall so that we may address both district and systemwide priorities."

Those priorities include:

Reading Achievement—introduction of individualized Criteria Reference Testing—an individualized approach to teaching and testing. Report on progress late spring 1980.

Stability of Assignments—the formulation of the Unified Facilities Plan which will ensure long-range planning so that parents and students can reasonably choose and predict their child's education within the Boston Public School System. Initial UPF Report, December, 1979. Long-Range Assignment Plan, spring 1980.

Occupational Resource Center—the full development of relevant curriculum and an operative plan to make this unique facility available to all Boston Public students. Opening ORC, Fall, 1980.

Improvement of Middle Schools—a summer workshop is being held this summer with staff from each of our 26 Middle Schools. A curriculum strategy will be devised and then implemented throughout the next school year. School year 1979-80.

Superintendent Wood reiterated his commitment of a year ago, when he accepted the superintendency offered by the School Committee, "It can't be done in a week or a day. My commitment is to a four-year plan. Our first year is over. Now with a decentralized structure in place, I look to next year to attacking the educational problems we face."

MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS PRESENTS THREE SUMMER EXHIBITIONS

The Boston Museum of Fine Arts will present three exhibitions featuring prints, drawings, and photographs this summer, now through September 30, A Tour of the British Isles; now through October 7, Alfred Stieglitz: Photographer; and through October 7, Photographic Viewpoints.

A Tour of the British Isles—through September 30. This summer the Museum of Fine Arts' Prints and Drawings Galleries will be devoted to A Tour of the British Isles. Landscape vistas, historic homes and monuments, castles, cathedrals, countryside churches, and other tourist attractions are among the sights represented in prints, drawings, and photographs. Some are purely topographical descriptions; others reveal romantic evocations of light and atmosphere.

Throughout the years, artists such as Wenzel Hollar in the seventeenth century, J.M.V. Turner in the nineteenth, and Frederick Landseer Griggs in the present century have depicted aspects of the British Isles in various graphic media. With an eye for the factual, the dramatic, or the picturesque, they have recorded its courtly pageants and processions, its fairs and sporting events, its stately homes and its natural beauty from the Scottish Highlands to the Cornwall Coast.

A Tour of the British Isles has been organized by Stephanie Stepanek of the Department of Prints, Drawings and Photographs at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Ms. Stepanek will give a Curatorial Gallery talk on the exhibition on August 8.

Now through October 7 — Alfred Stieglitz: Photographer. Now through October 7, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts will present an exhibition of photographs by the great American photographer, Alfred Stieglitz.

No person has had a greater impact on the history of photography than Stieglitz. He started taking photographs in 1883 at the age of nineteen. In a world that insisted that photography — the product of a machine — could never be an art form, Stieglitz fought for, and eventually won its recognition. He believed that photography was a medium equal to painting in its expressive power.

The Museum's permanent collection includes 64 prints by Stieglitz. Twenty-seven were given to the MFA in 1924 by the artist himself; the remainder were donated in 1950 by the distinguished American painter, Georgia O'Keeffe. A selection of the strongest images in the collection will be included in the exhibition, with a special emphasis on portraiture. Of particular note are portraits of Georgia O'Keeffe, John Marin, Marsden Hartley, and other well-known figures in the Stieglitz circle.

The exhibition has been organized by Clifford S. Ackley, Associate Curator in the Department of Prints, Drawings and Photographs at the MFA.

The third edition of the catalogue of the Museum's collection, Alfred Stieglitz; Photographer is available in the Museum Shop.

Now through October 7: Photographic Viewpoints. This installation of nineteenth- and twentieth-century photographs from the Museum's permanent collection compares and contrasts various approaches to portrait, nude, still-life, landscape, and architecture.

Many of the images in Photographic Viewpoints are important new acquisitions and will be on view to Museum visitors for the first time. These include a major landscape by William Henry Jackson, a moody interior with still-life by Heinrich, and works by Paul Strand and Minor White. Approximately 50 works will be on exhibition in the Museum's Large Print Corridor.

Photographic Viewpoints has been organized by Clifford S. Ackley, Associate Curator of the Department of Prints, Drawings and Photographs.

For more information or photographs, please contact Shawn McGivern or Mollie Bell at 267-9300, Extension 445 or 446.

COUNCILLOR HICKS URGES: APPROVE REFERENDUM PROHIBITING FORCIBLE BUSING OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

In a strong, personal appeal to every member of Congress, Boston City Councillor Louise Day Hicks urged approval of a Constitutional referendum prohibiting forcible busing of schoolchildren for the purpose of desegregation.

Writing on the eve of the scheduled showdown vote in Congress, Mrs. Hicks said the Constitutional amendment is the only "guarantee that the future of the children will remain in the hands of their parents . . . and not under arbitrary decrees of judges and bureaucrats."

The Boston Councillor cited the vastly-altered public school system in her city: enrollment diminished by 30,000, white flight from the public schools, costs now reaching $3,000 per student and large-scale resegregation.

In this era of an energy crisis, it just doesn't make sense to see school buses traveling along the streets of Boston transporting black children to predominantly black schools," she said.

"It just doesn't make sense to see school buses almost empty leaving the white areas of the city. It just doesn't make sense when people are waiting in line for gasoline at a cost of almost a dollar per gallon." Councillor Hicks, signing herself as a "Former Member of Congress," urged passed by Congress of the measure that for the first time ever has reached the floor for vote. More than a majority of members signed the discharge petition forcing the measure by Rep. Ron Mottl of Ohio out of the Judiciary Committee.

Councillor Hicks, herself, as a member of Congress in 1973-74, signed the discharge measure, but at the time it had not secured sufficient signatures to bring it from committee.

"The real tragedy of forced busing is that it caused freedom of choice to die in Boston only for poor people," she stated. "Poor whites and poor blacks are asked to bear the brunt of the integration process while their more affluent suburban neighbors sit back and watch the alchemy of despair unfold.

"The conscience of this country has fled to the suburbs where it now lies dormant," she said.

"Forced busing is punitive in nature. Forced busing raises taxes and false expectations, but lowers the reading and math scores of a severely-depleted school population."

As a consequence, she said, the neighborhood school, long a well-spring for community pride, "is being endangered. Forced busing has seriously threatened the integrity of Boston's neighborhoods."

Councillor Hicks said opposition to busing has consistently been pictured along racial lines "to the complete exclusion of the sociological, psychological and economic factors that in all honesty must be taken into account if Boston's problem is to be understood and eventually solved."

She noted: "Boston's people deserve better than a numbers game. They deserve to be left free of social engineering."

If the Congress approves and if the U. S. Senate concurs, the proposed Constitutional amendment would begin the process of individual state legislature ratifications. At least 38 states would have to adopt it to change the U. S. Constitution.

OLDER BOSTONIANS: RELAX ON THOMPSON'S ISLAND

Older Bostonians from every neighborhood in the city still have a chance to enjoy a day on Thompson's Island, the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly announced July 24.

"Because of Senior Sail's great popularity, we have expanded the daily quota which will enable us to include more seniors," Elderly Commissioner Elaine Guiney said.

The Senior Sail to Thompson's Island in Boston Harbor includes, free of charge, a harbor cruise, island nature walks, arts and crafts, live entertainment, recreation, and lunch under the tent.

Seniors are encouraged to participate with their friends in a day of fun and relaxation. Interested Bostonians sixty years of age and over should call the Commission on Affairs of the Elderly at 725-3981 for information and reservations on the Senior Sail.

SERVICE DIRECTORY FOR OLDER BOSTONIANS NOW AVAILABLE

The Service Directory for Older Bostonians, a guide to city, state and federal programs prepared by the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, is now available for seniors throughout the City of Boston.

The 40-page directory, illustrated with over thirty photographs, includes a list of central phone numbers of importance to elders as well as sections on food, health and home; money; safety; getting around Boston; housing, consumer and legal issues; and leisure, education and recreation. Each directory, tailored for individual Boston neighborhoods, also contains a separate community service listing.

"The City of Boston has set up a variety of agencies and services especially designed to meet the needs of older people. They're here for you to use in order to make Boston an easier, more comfortable place in which to live," Mayor Kevin H. White said in reference to the directory.

Copies of the directory are available for all Boston residents sixty or over at each neighborhood Little City Hall. For more information about the Service Directory for Older Bostonians, call the Elderly Hotline at 722-4646.

LAFAYETTE PLACE DEVELOPERS COMPLETE FUNDING PHASE

The Lafayette Place urban revitalization project has move one step closer to completion with the successful completion of financial negotiations for the retail and commercial phase of the development between the developer, Mondev International/Sefrius and the Equitable Insurance Company in New York.

Equitable has agreed to finance the retail and commercial portion of the plan to the tune of $35 million.

That leaves only the proposed hotel to be financed.

The city's share of the development calls for the construction of a 1,500-car municipal garage in the downtown retail district. The plan for garage construction will not be undertaken until the developer has completely assembled the financing package for development to begin.

When under way, the Lafayette Place project is expected to employ almost 2,500 workers.

GRADUATION CEREMONY AT MARINE INDUSTRIAL PARK

One hundred and forty men and women graduated recently from the Economic Development and Industrial Corporation's Job Training Center located at the Boston Marine Industrial Park in South Boston. Representing almost every neighborhood of the city, these students have participated in twenty-six weeks of extensive training in such fields as welding, pipefitting, machine tool operations, industrial building maintenance, communication electronics, computer service and testing, marine-oriented air-conditioning, and clerical warehousing.

The students were instructed by faculty from the Franklin Institute and the Wentworth Institute with funds from the Economic Employment Policy Administration, (E.E.P.A.) and the Skill Training Improvement Program (S.T.I.P.) under title III of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (C.E.T.A.).

The E.D.I.C. Job Training Center grew out of a commitment to achieve higher levels of employment opportunities for city residents while serving the needs of Boston-based industries. The Center has been in operation since May, 1977.

MAYOR ATTENDS PUERTO RICAN FESTIVAL

Mayor Kevin H. White on July 29, joined leaders of Boston's Hispanic community at ceremonies marking the culmination of activities for this year's Puerto Rican Festival. The ceremonies were held at Roberto Clemente Field on the final day of the week-long celebration.

The festival, which began in 1968, has grown each year as has Boston's Hispanic community. Over 60,000 Hispanics, mostly Puerto Ricans, now live in Boston. The festival was dedicated to the Hispanic children of Boston, commemorating the International Year of the Child.

Mayor White said, "The enthusiasm shown at this year's festival reflects the strength and vitality of the Hispanic community in Boston. The community has grown and become an established and positive force."

Mayor White was joined at the ceremonies by Chico Dominges, Grand Marshal for the festival; Jorge Rivera, president of the Puerto Rican Festival; and Ramadas Mayoral, representative of the governor of Puerto Rico.

The ceremonies were preceded by a parade from Blackstone Park to Clemente Field. Events during the week included a marathon, musical and cultural entertainment, art exhibits and a carnival.

V. LETTER OF THANKS

Dear Commissioner Paul:

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the engine companies which responded to a recent fire at 1758 Commonwealth Avenue, Brighton. In the confusion, I neglected to ask which companies had responded, so I'm hoping you will forward this to the appropriate stations. The fire occurred on July 10, 1979, 6:30 p.m. Because our telephone went out of service almost immediately, it took a few minutes to sound the alarm, yet, the response from the fire apparatus was very quick. It was necessary for fire fighters to ventilate the building through walls and windows in my apartment, yet, I was impressed to see that only that which was absolutely necessary was damaged. I know you and the fire fighters are aware of how disrupting and frightening a fire in one's home is, and the efficiency and patience of fire fighters, police, and medical technicians was both reassuring and effective. I know my neighbors join me in expressing sincere thanks to the Brighton Fire Companies.

Signed/Janet C. Roy,
1758 Commonwealth Avenue,
Brighton, MA 02135."

The "Constitution"
Affectionately called "Old Ironsides"

The U.S.S. Constitution lies in dock at the United States Naval Shipyard, across the Charles River at Wapping and Chelsea Streets, Charlestown. She was launched in 1797 at Hartt's Shipyard, a short distance from her present resting place. In the next year she helped clear the coast and the West Indies of French privateers. Later engagements with the British in the War of 1812 brought her undying fame and her nickname Old Ironsides. The 44-gun frigate was constructed of well-seasoned live oak and red cedar timbers secured by bolts and copper sheathing made by Paul Revere. Now restored and seaworthy, the historic craft may be boarded daily, 9:30 to 4, free. Uniforms, cannon, and newspaper accounts of the War of 1812 are displayed.

All proposals must be from bidders of record on file at Room 714, City Hall. There will be a charge of twenty-five dollars ($25), NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. If the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the areas of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to, bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

In addition to the above requirement, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Room 401, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will be held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, August 15, 1979, in the Hearing Room, 401, City Hall, One City Hall Square. It is essential that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO CHAPTER 370 OF THE ACTS OF 1963, WHICH MUST BE STRICTLY COMPLIED WITH. The Commissioner reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or any item or items of the proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

In addition to the above requirement, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 30 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Room 401, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, August 15, 1979, in the Hearing Room, 401, City Hall, One City Hall Square. It is essential that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The Contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation, expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas, (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables).

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in this notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 50 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental or American Indians.

Each contractor must complete, sign and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's letter of Intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders) and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development

A performance bond, and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids, if it be in the public interest so to do. The Awarding Authority also reserves the right to reject any subbid in any subtrade if it determines that such subbid does not represent the subbid of a person competent to perform the work as specified or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition in accordance with section 44D, chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

No general bid may be withdrawn after the time limit for filing general bids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded) from the opening of the general bids. In addition, no general bid filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible bidders may be withdrawn prior to execution and delivery of the general contract, unless no award has been made upon expiration of the prescribed time therefor.

The successful bidder will be required to provide insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. Ed.), Chapter 152, to all persons to be employed under the contract, and sufficient proof of compliance with the foregoing stipulation will be required before commencing performance of this contract.

The Building Commissioner is allowing a twenty-one-day period to complete the demolition and site clearance of these buildings starting within seven (7) days after the signing of the Mayor's award.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest to do so. NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246).

The contractor's attention is called to the "Equal Opportunity Clause" and "Standard Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications" set forth in this part.

The goals and timetables for minority and female participation, expressed in percentage terms for the contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered areas, (See pages EEO-1 and EEO-2 of the bid specifications for goals and timetables).

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federal or federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in this notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR Part 60-4 shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required to meet the goals established for the geographical area where the contract is to be performed.

The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and the contractor shall make a good-faith effort to employ minorities and women evenly on each of its projects.

The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the contractor's goals shall be a violation of the contract, the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total workhours performed.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 50 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a Minority Business and General Contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents including, with limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders), and the provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications on supplemental equal employment opportunity anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and to the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246. A statement of workforce needs as requested by section 3 and a section 3 affirmative action plan shall be submitted with the contractor's proposal. A section 3 affirmative action plan consists of tables AAP-1 to AAP-3 and forms AAP-1 and AAP-2 and can be found at pages ST1-ST7 of the contract documents. This requirement will be strictly adhered to. Proposals submitted without the required forms will be rejected. No bidder shall be eligible for award on this project unless he is able to demonstrate to the satisfac-

on of the Awarding Authority his ability to comply with these requirements. All prospective bidders will be required to attend a prebid conference prior to submitting a bid. The time and place will be announced.

The proposal shall be filed before the time stated above for the opening of proposals.

No proposal may be withdrawn after the time limit for filing proposals and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded) from the opening of the proposals. In addition, no proposal filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible bidders may be withdrawn prior to execution and delivery of the contract, unless no award has been made upon expiration of the prescribed time therefor.

The successful bidder will be required to provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 152, to all persons to be employed under the contract, and sufficient proof of compliance with the foregoing stipulation will be required before commencing performance of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

Specifications and other contract documents will be available on and after Monday, August 6, 1979, at the office of the Commissioner at and after 9 A.M., Boston time.

BOSTON'S "KID" PROBLEM: A REPORT

OVERVIEW

The Parkman Center for Urban Affairs held a conference recently on the subject of neighborhood stability and juvenile misbehavior. The problem is a serious one. Antisocial activities on the part of kids [who in this instance may be in their twenties] represent perhaps the greatest personal threat to neighborhood security and self-confidence. Groups of young people who congregate on street corners or in parks, often late at night, and who behave in disruptive and abusive ways are perceived as a constant nuisance or danger. This can be true even when no felonies are involved. For that matter, it is no exaggeration to say that residents in some parts of this and other cities have literally been driven out of their homes by young people.

The problem has been so endlessly discussed that the Parkman Center sponsored the conference with modest hopes of what it might achieve. A minimum goal was to introduce to one another a group of concerned individuals from both inside and outside the criminal justice system. Personal relationships, especially at the local level, can sometimes accomplish what organizations cannot accomplish.

Included in the group were neighborhood residents and representatives of the police force, the judiciary, the Division of Youth Services, Boston's Youth Activities Commission, and community agencies. Participants were chosen, in part, to represent the major interest groups concerned. This approach not only provided a variety of viewpoints, but also helped to prevent the kind of scapegoating that can occur when one institution or another is not present.

WORSENING PROBLEM

Most participants agreed that the problem appears to be worsening. While the number of kids who hang out on street corners, vandalize property, and harass residents, may or may not be greater, the nature of their actions has grown more and more alarming. This seems a national trend. As the director of a neighborhood multiservice center put it: "Now you feel you've got to put up with their breaking in. You just hope you can stop them from wrecking the place or stealing the equipment."

Another participant suggested that what we have done is to lower our standards of tolerable behavior. As a society, we have adapted to juvenile delinquencies which would have been unthinkable a few years ago. Furthermore, the safeguards we used to trust — police, courts, correctional agencies — no longer seem to be functioning effectively to protect society against a segment of its own youth.

INSTITUTIONAL SAFEGUARDS

Police — Although the problem of threatening, disruptive groups of youths goes well beyond the bounds of the criminal justice system, it was inevitable that much of the evening's discussion focused on the narrower issue of that system and its failings.

Over the last few years, the spotlight of blame has somewhat shifted away from the police. The public, or at least the media, is now more aware of inadequacies farther along in the criminal justice process.

Nevertheless, poor police response continues to be a widespread complaint. Statistics indicate how much of a concern juvenile activities are. Some 800 calls a day — 20 percent of the total — request police presence to deal with juveniles.

"Maybe they can't do much," one person said, "but when kids are wrecking a house or burning a stolen car, you feel that the cops ought to at least show up." That expectation is only increased by the knowledge that Boston has one of the largest police departments per capita in the country.

A police representative agreed that response time left something to be desired. However, he also noted that it is hard to motivate police officers whose experience tells them if and when they apprehend offenders, it is unlikely that those offenders will be punished.

"You've got so many calls to deal with, and you've got to set priorities. We know how annoying this can be, but a bunch of beer-drinking, foul-mouthed kids is still a lower priority than an armed assault or a rape."

Courts — Criticism directed at lenient judges and inefficient courts has become increasingly common. Some of the criticism may be well deserved. However, a judge, one of the more vocal participants of the evening, argued that he himself was hampered in administering effective justice.

"I believe reasonable punishment and limit-setting are acts of concern and love. I agree about the roots of crime, but I have to deal with reality as it appears before me everyday, and I am talking especially about the serious, juvenile, multiple offender. I have been threatening him with 'or else' — which means DYS — and in too many instances, 'or else' turns out to be a paper tiger. I turn them over, and they may be back on the street the same day. There aren't nearly enough secure slots. If a kid runs away, there's no penalty. He may simply vanish out of the system. DYS can be a kind of sieve, and streetwise kids know that. The present system is an absolute disaster.

"What really troubles me is that it gives them a false sense of security. A kid can commit a crime the last day before his seventeenth birthday and, literally, get away with it. He may commit the same crime a day later and find himself facing a stretch in Walpole. Believe me, we aren't doing him a favor by letting him off as a juvenile. Strange as it may seem, I often give suspended sentences or continuances because there is more assurance of some supervision."

Division of Youth Services — In response to the judge's criticism, the DYS representative was encouragingly undefensive. He granted the need for more secure slots, although questioning the number required. He admitted the need to tighten up administration of the department, but argued that no reasonable person would want to go back to the old system. But most of all, he tried to lower expectations of what DYS, at the best, was capable of. "You are making a mistake," he said, "if you think that we are the solution to the problem. We are not and never can be."

The participant from DYS said that he, too, had changed some old liberal notions.

"My philosophical mistake in the past was to regard juvenile delinquency entirely as society's fault. I don't think that anymore. I do think that young people have got to see themselves as part of a larger community. There are many ways of handling problem kids before they get to us. Having offenders go before a mediation panel attached to a court is one way. It takes away some of the anonymity of crime. It also allows community representatives the chance to work out creative sentencing. It puts an offender into human touch with someone he may have injured and the neighborhood at large. To me, that is both a liberal and conservative approach."

The continuation of progressive methods of correction was of great concern to the DYS representative. However, he saw growing problems with public acceptance of that approach simply because DYS has not been able to deal with a minority of serious offenders.

Special Services — The DYS participant made a point of further interest. He suggested that activities in the area of mental health may be oriented too much to the middle-class neurotic and not nearly enough to the "violent poor."

"You've got to remember that some of the kids we get are really sick kids. It isn't a matter of being firm and teaching them a lesson. They need psychiatric help of a major kind."

Even those who do not require psychiatric care may be in need of special programs. As someone else pointed out, delinquency is often rooted in educational problems. Antisocial behavior stemming from learning disabilities perhaps could be alleviated if Boston were to move forward in implementing Chapter 766 programs in its schools.

Job Programs — Although it is difficult to determine to what extent jobs reduce juvenile delinquency, most people agreed that jobs were very important and cited the summer work program as an example. "Bad as it is, it does a hell of a lot of good," was a typical comment.

The director of a community center urged that the jobs program be year-round and advocated more meaningful jobs, including placements with local businesses. There was a consensus that federal restrictions on youth employment funds should be changed. While some private nonprofit agencies clearly know how to administer valuable youth work programs, other agencies divert limited resources in order to "think up" tasks for kids.

"Look, they can tell me as a social service agency that I have forty slots, but I'm not equipped to administer that many jobs. It's often a waste. And it can also teach bad habits. There are kids who see summer jobs in agency-type work as a bribe, pure and simple."

Youth Activities Commission — Job counseling and job placement were also mentioned as possible additional functions for the city's Youth Activities Commission. A critic of YAC felt that youth workers perhaps have seen themselves too much as youth advocates — buddies so to speak — rather than as professionals with a much more complicated role to play. "Befriending kids, by itself, is no great thing," someone offered.

Although it did not occupy much time during the evening, in follow-up conversations the goals and methods of YAC clearly were a concern. What does it hope to accomplish? What models does it work from in its interventions? How does it measure its success?

At times it seems as if YAC's goals are not harmonious with neighborhood needs. As a YAC worker herself pointed out, it is unrealistic to make seventeen years

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM FOR ROSLINDALE SQUARE

A plan for revitalization of Roslindale Square has moved one step closer when the Boston Redevelopment Authority awarded recently, a $40,000 contract for engineering services needed to formulate funding requests from federal and state government.

The overall improvement program for Roslindale Square will require reconstruction and modification of South Street and other adjacent streets to improve traffic circulation. Federal and state officials have shown initial interest in funding these improvements, but further engineering analysis and design is needed before formal application can be made for funds.

The City of Boston Public Works Department has agreed to provide the BRA with $40,000 in funds for the BRA to engage the engineering firm of Fay, Spofford and Thorndike to design traffic improvements for South Street and adjacent streets.

Mayor Kevin H. White, in commenting on the BRA vote, said, "It is encouraging to know that federal and state officials want to work with us on our program to revitalize Roslindale Square. We are committed to doing all that must be done in order to obtain necessary funding for this work. I am particularly please that Frank Keefe is now under contract to the BRA to develop an overall plan for commercial stabilization of Roslindale Square, a plan that will ensure neighborhood revitalization.

Within a few months we should be through with the nuts and bolts work which must be completed before we can obtain the money for this improvement program."

JAPANESE HOUSE BEING REASSEMBLED

Visitors to Boston's Children's Museum can now watch a team of Japanese craftsmen as they reassemble a two-story Japanese house and street scene inside Museum Wharf, the new home of the Children's Museum.

The 150-year-old house has been given to Boston by her Sister City, Kyoto, Japan, and people in both cities are contributing the installation costs. When completed, the Kyo-machiya ("Kyoto-style artisan's house and shop") will be used to teach children and adults about c o n - temporary life in Kyoto. The Japanese House exhibit and related programs feature crafts, home and work activities, and an annual series of Japanese festivals.

Public tours of the house under construction leave the second-floor lobby of the Children's Museum every half hour on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The tour takes fifteen to twenty minutes and there's a maximum of ten persons per group. First come, first served. Museum admission fee required; no additional charge for tour.

Special guided tours by the museum's director of East Asian programs may be arranged for professional and special interest adults groups (architects, Japanese study groups, etc.). The tour is approximately one hour and there's a maximum of twenty-five per group. Fee is $2 per person, minimum charge per group of $20. (Museum admission is not required.) For more information, contact the museum's Resource Center, 426-6500, ext. 206.

The house's reassembly is being supervised by Kivoshi Yasui, head of the Japanese delegation to Boston and managing director of Yasui-moku Komuten Co., Ltd., restoration specialists, and Masaru Kumagai, representative of Yoshimura Architects and Associates, both of Kyoto, Japan.

The Japanese House project is part of the nationwide celebration, "Japan Today." "Japan Today" in Boston is coordinated by the Children's Museum.

The Children's Museum is at Museum Wharf, 300 Congress Street, Boston. For travel information, call 426-8855.

RENOVATION PLANNED FOR BOSTON PUBLIC THEATRE

Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone announced recently a $140,000-renovation project on the site of the Boston Public Theatre in the MDC's Christian Herter Park on the banks of the Charles River in Allston.

The renovation program includes construction of a new stage, installation of seating, and regrading and landscaping of the outdoor site. "Unfortunately," Commissioner Carbone noted, "it will be necessary to cancel what would have been the ninth summer season of the Publick Theatre. But when all is said and done, the improvements will be well worth it, including 375 comfortable seats for theatre goers who, in past seasons, have had to spread blankets over the theatre's asphalt surface or bring their own beach chairs."

"Originally we planned to mount one play before the construction started," David M. Blumenthal, local attorney and the theatre's producer, said. "However, the renovation is so extensive that the contractor will require most of the summer to complete the project."

Discussing the need for the long-awaited improvements, Blumenthal said, "Sight lines have always been excellent here, but acoustics have been a continuous and thorny problem. Traffic and river noise intruded on the performances, making it difficult to hear the actors." Extensive regrading and the planting of some 100 trees should control this problem. The imaginative landscape plan was designed by Per Nylen of Duxbury.

While disappointed with the cancellation of the season, the Publick Theatre is looking forward to celebrating its tenth anniversary next summer.

"We would never have survived this long without the generous support of the MDC," Blumenthal added.

CITY COUNCIL RESOLUTION

Board's City Council, in a resolution sponsored by member Louise Day Hicks, has called for a 40 percent rent reduction for elderly living in public housing units.

The resolution, unanimously adopted, asked the Congress to set rent limits at only 15 percent of adjusted gross income for elderly tenants instead of the "Brooke Amendment" figure of 25 percent established a few years ago.

City Clerk Barry T. Hynes was directed to send the resolution to Senators Kennedy and Tsongas, to House Speaker O'Neill, and all the other members of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation.

All of these officials were called on by the City Council to spearhead an effort for compassionate relief for the senior citizenry caught up by spiraling living costs that often force a choice between board or bread.

"We should not put them in such a dilemma," Mrs. Hicks said. "Now, more than ever, they need relief from crushing costs."

The Council urged that Congress "protect the interests of senior citizens" in public housing by another amendment to the rent ceiling regulations.

Councillor Hicks suggested that any cost-of-living increase provided under Supplemental Social Security benefits to elderly citizens be excluded from determination as income.

In its resolution, the Council also suggested that the "Baby Brooke Amendment" stipulating 25 percent of gross income for state-aided housing developments be reduced 40 percent to the limit of 15 cents per dollar of adjusted income as rental ceilings for elderly.

Whereas, Rents implemented by the Boston Housing Authority for its senior citizen tenants, while in accordance with federal and state regulations, are nonetheless exorbitant and detrimental to the economic well-being of said senior citizen tenants; and

Whereas, Said rents are based on the Brooke Amendment on the federal level and the "Baby Brooke Amendment" on the state level, both of which state that a public housing tenant will not pay more than 25 percent of his or her adjusted gross income for rent; and

Whereas, Both the 25 percent adjusted gross income figure and the manner of calculating said figure by the Boston Housing Authority are unrealistic in light of the current economic state of affairs of the senior citizen population of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, Without jeopardizing the intent of the so-called Brooke Amendment, it is incumbent on the Congress of the United States to change its provisions whereby the percent of adjusted gross income upon which rental payments of public housing tenants is to be based shall not exceed 15 percent of said income, and said adjusted gross income shall not include any cost-of-living increase provided to senior citizens under the provisions of the SSI program of the federal government; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, calls on the Congress of the United States, through the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, to protect the economic interests of the senior citizen tenants of the Boston Authority by amending further the regulations of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development to provide for a 15 percent ceiling on adjusted gross income of public housing tenants as a basis for computing rental payments for said tenants, and to exclude from adjusted gross income of said tenants any cost-of-living increases provided under the provisions of the SSI program of the Social Security Administration; and be it further

Resolved, That the City Clerk forward a copy of this resolution to the Massachusetts Congressional delegation and Senators Kennedy and Tsongas.

City Clerk.

"GREENHOUSE" FOR HUNTINGTON AVENUE

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has given its approval for construction of a 322-unit apartment complex on a site adjacent to the Colonnade Hotel on Huntington Avenue.

The project, which will be called the "Greenhouse," will cost an estimated $20 million. It will be built by a New York Development firm, Ron Nicholson and Associates, and will be twelve stories in height. All units will be at the market rental level.

The new apartment building is part of the BRA's Fenway urban renewal project. The 52,000 square-foot site is presently owned by the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Mayor Kevin H. White hailed the BRA action and said, "It is important to the Fenway that this parcel — which now serves as a parking lot — is developed for residential use.

"But equally important to me is that this project has had considerable community input through every phase of its design. The Fenway Project Area Committee, which is the community group which monitors urban renewal, and the St. Botolph Citizen's Committee, have both given their wholehearted support to this project, and the Christian Science Church has been most cooperative. I am pleased that the BRA has chosen a development team that has responded to all concerns raised by citizens of the community during the design process."

The design of the new building consists of two, twelve-story elements connected by a three-story glass atrium. The project will also contain a one-level underground garage for about 200 cars and approximately 8,000 square feet of commercial space on its ground floor.

BRA Director Robert Ryan said it is likely construction could begin on the project by late 1979.

Ryan said, "Boston has a real need for new/market housing, after several unsuccessful attempts to develop this parcel of land, such progress and cooperation between the community and the city on this important Fenway project is an encouraging signal of a new pattern of development in the 1980s."

Architect for the new building is Cossutta and Associates. A principal in the firm, Araldo Cossutta, was the architect for the Christian Science complex, which is on the opposite side of Huntington Avenue from the proposed apartment building.

PARKING AVAILABLE FOR HANDICAPPED

Handicapped persons wishing to attend concerts and other events staged at the Hatch Memorial Shell on the Charles River Esplanade need have no fear of not being accommodated, Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone said recently.

"In order that handicapped individuals may enjoy all of our programs, we have made parking available nearby for their motor vehicles and can offer them special seating arrangements as well. Even when Storrow Drive is blocked off, handicapped people will be permitted through and our MDC Police have been instructed to be especially sensitive to the needs of such individuals," the Commissioner noted.

Efforts by the MDC to provide for handicapped people attending events at the Hatch Shell have been praised by Hans R. Hailey, chairman of the Architectural Barriers Board, whose job it is to assure that all new buildings used by the public in Massachusetts comply with the law in this respect.

Following a meeting with the MDC's Joseph DeGreco, administrative assistant to Commissioner Carbone, who outlined what the agency has done to advance the cause of the handicapped on the Esplanade, Chairman Hailey commented, "I had no idea that handicapped persons were not simply thrown in with the masses at MDC events. I hope the word spreads that at such events the special needs of the handicapped will be accommodated," he concluded.

SAVE GAS BY COOPERATING!

How much gas could you save in a year if you drove ten miles less every week? Would you believe three and a half billion gallons?

No, of course not. But yes indeed — if every other driver in the country followed your example.

Ten miles isn't so much. How could you eliminate it? By going shopping in a neighbor's car now and then? By planning ahead so you do several errands at once? By joining the car pool at work — or better yet — organizing one that doesn't exist yet? By riding a bicycle or bus or walking whenever you can, instead of driving?

If you must drive, says the American Lung Association, there are ways, such as car checkups, to improve fuel economy. Tuneups and emission checks can cut 5 percent of fuel consumption. You can also remove any unnecessary weight from your car. The lighter your car is, the less gas it uses. For every extra 100 pounds you drive around, you can use 1 percent more gas, even in smaller cars.

Observing the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit means you get about 20 percent more miles per gallon on the highway than if you go 70 miles per hour. When replacing tires, consider radials. They can mean from 3 to 5 percent improvement in gas mileage in the city and 7 percent on the highway. Radial tires also last longer; but say the experts, never mix radials with conventional tires.

One type of 1979 car is even equipped with headlights that — compared with regular lights, says the manufacturer — can reduce gas consumption by as much as two-tenths of a mile per gallon. Since the "halogen" headlamps use less power, a smaller battery and alternator can be put in the car. More of the 1980 car models will use the headlights.

Cars are a major cause of air pollution in this country. To find out more about curbing pollutants in the air we breathe, contact the American Lung Association of Boston — the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and breath.

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCEMENT

Suffolk University has changed the name of its College of Business Administration and Graduate School of Administration to the Suffolk University School of Management, President Thomas A. Fulham announced on July 26.

Fulham said the university's board of trustees voted the change at the request of the business school faculty and that the move reaffirms the professional emphasis on the school and its programs. The business school has a present enrollment of approximately 2,540 students.

Dr. Richard L. McDowell, who is dean of the School of Management, noted the change "recognizes the continued commitment of the university to excellence in professional education in accountancy and public management, as well as the business disciplines for which the school is well known."

The School of Management serves business, government, and nonprofit organizations and presently offers undergraduate degrees in management, accounting, public management, finance, and marketing and the MBA and MPA degrees.

Suffolk University established its College of Business Administration in 1937. It is presently located at 47 Mt. Vernon Street, atop Beacon Hill, a short distance from the University's College of Liberal Arts at 32 Derne Street, and the Suffolk University Law School at 41 Temple Street.

The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment, and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 30 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employees manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE REQUIREMENT, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 30 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment, and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE REQUIREMENT, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

BOSTON'S "KID" PROBLEM: A REPORT

REEXAMINING OUR INSTITUTIONS

If the institutional safeguards we have established are serving us poorly, it is necessary to take a second look at them.

The director of the multiservice center touched on this when he brought up the role public institutions are asked to play. Citing his own experiences as an example, he confessed that his neighborhood house ought to define its purpose more clearly. No longer could it follow the cradle-to-grave model of community service which had been represented by the old settlement house. "We've tried to be all things to all people, and it's just not working. It's impossible. There are kids in our neighborhood we can't help, and we've got the best youth workers around."

The adequacy of institutions was a debated issue. One participant argued strongly that in the past decade our institutions — schools, courts, various youth services — have become far more sensitive and responsive than in the past.

"My own feeling is that the issue is being looked at a lot more intelligently than it was fifteen years ago. We've begun to see that institutional response is a key. Institutions were simply failing kids. We learned that we really had to view the youth problem in a much larger context — the context of poverty, for instance. My own feeling is that there has been an extraordinary movement in a short period. Ten or twelve years ago, for instance, you couldn't even talk alternative schools. The connection between frustration over learning and antisocial behavior didn't even come up. Today the willingness to take risks is much greater than it was. Our job now is to sort out programs that worked from those that haven't, give them adequate funding, and see them through."

A number of other people in the room, concerned about the problem as it is experienced on an immediate, neighborhood level, seemed to be impatient with this view. A majority of them tended to feel that institutions should be performing far better than they are performing. However, the question of which functions they can or cannot adequately perform remained largely unanswered.

One assessment might be that we have all come to expect too much of our institutions. We have asked them to do what it is not always in their capacity to do well. We have overburdened them and then blamed them for breaking down. We have scapegoated and continue to scapegoat them because it is so hard to know how we personally can carry out certain critical responsibilities — and, it should be said, we are not always crying out for a return of these responsibilities.

One might have asked in the course of the evening whether our institutions can reasonably be expected to be better, more efficient, more decent than society at large. The implicit answer was no. If our institutions are failing, we are in error to fault them very much. As they become surrogates to the large extent they have, perhaps they are bound to serve badly.

No one would suggest giving up attempts to improve the schools, the police, the courts, the penal system, but there may be a cure of accelerating costs for decreasing gains as these institutions are asked to substitute for what families, voluntary associations, and communities at large might better do.

An article recently published in The Public Interest seems germane to the Parkman conference. David H. Bayley, brings up some interesting points on the whole relationship of culture and antisocial behavior. In a comparative study of U.S. and Japanese crime, he shows that although the two societies share many social and economic characteristics, Japan is much less crime-ridden. It is Mr. Bayley's contention that this is due to a stronger system of informal social controls. The vitality of pressure groups (family, peers, etc.), the legitimacy of authority, the broad sharing of responsibility for law and order — all these contribute to keeping the crime rate low. Japanese culture and values are probably more important in determining orderliness than anything else.

Whether American culture, traditions, and values can permit a similar end-result is questionable. The author is not overly optimistic on this point and suggests that a high level of antisocial behavior perhaps is a logical conclusion to the American social and value structure, with its emphasis on individual freedom.

A psychiatrist attending the conference also had an observation to make on the American social order. He suggested that consistency, perhaps more than anything else, is critical in minimizing the delinquent behavior of young people.

"I think that consistency is more important than taking a hard line or a relatively softer line. But it is very, very difficult for the public sector, through its host of services and programs, to produce consistency in an urban environment. It virtually cannot do that. Consistency must come from the family and the community. That is why I am somewhat pessimistic."

The evening conveyed a message, then, that no one particularly wants to hear: something at the core of our social values and arrangements has produced the problem, and its amelioration depends on improving those values and arrangements. In spite of this, though, the focus of the discussion turned again to institutional performance, perhaps because at least in this sphere there are officials to blame and improvements conceivably to be made. What everyone knew and could acknowledge — that the answer lies in such things as stronger family and community life — kept getting put aside.

FAMILY AND COMMUNITY

A young woman, who maintains a Dorchester foster home with her husband, was insistent in her attempts to turn the focus away from public institutions.

"I've listened tonight and I haven't heard families talked about that much, yet that's where it begins. Mommy and Daddy are the core of the community, and there are many mothers who don't know how to 'mother' and fathers who don't know how to 'father' (or aren't even around). Parental loving is setting limits, and a lot of parents just don't know how to do it."

Someone jokingly suggested that whole families should be committed instead of just youthful offenders, but almost at once a number of people were willing to reconsider the proposal in a serious light.

"It's impossible, of course," said one. "But that's what you'd like to see. You'd like to see some help extended to the whole family, with penalties for not being willing to accept counseling."

It was noteworthy that even though the central role of the family was fully recognized, there were few ideas, even as off-handed as the one above, about how to strengthen family life.

More numerous were thoughts about a community response to juvenile problems. A police representative strongly suggested a neighborhood task force approach which would join residents, police, court personnel, parole officers, and others in a common front.

"It wouldn't work everywhere, but it's an approach that deserves to be tried. At the very least, everybody gets feed-back from everybody else about where the problem locations are and who the problem kids are. The way it is now, things just get passed along and nobody has a sense of the whole situation."

Another neighborhood-based approach was a citizen panel, attached to the local court, which could perform a variety of functions. It might, for instance, aid a judge in the disposition of cases or recommend work restitution to DYS. It might also bring offenders and victims together to lessen the anonymity of so much urban crime and other antisocial behavior. As one person suggested, in some instances it could make a real difference if a youth had to sit face-to-face with an elderly person whose home he had stoned at three in the morning.

An urban court model currently exists in the City of Boston, and while its success appears to be uneven, participants at the conference generally felt that citizen participation in the criminal justice process was an approach to be closely studied and further developed.

THE GOOSER

The final note of the evening was a frustrated call for action. A member of the Police Department put this way:

"Hey, we've got a whole laundry list of casual factors — poverty, poor parenting, mental or learning disabilities, lack of jobs. They're all important. We all know that. You have your pet theory, I have mine, but the question is, 'What the hell are we going to do about it?' We'll leave here tonight, we say X ought to do this and Y ought to do that, and yeah, even I ought to do something. But it won't happen unless we are always being prodded. The most important person in the world for public agencies is a 'gooser,' somebody who keeps coming back and asking, 'Did you do this? Did you do that?' I don't like it, but it keeps me up to the mark."

RECOMMENDATIONS

David Bayley's article in The Public Interest could be used to let our institutions off the hook. The argument would go like this: if antisocial behavior is a function of society at large, then the quality of our institutions is most likely also a function of society at large and there probably isn't much we can do to change them. Such reductive reasoning would leave us with the observation that, "Things are as they are. Period."

An implicit set of conclusions from the Parkman Center conference was more constructive than that. The message seemed to be threefold: we need to define more realistically what our institutions can and should be doing; we need to see that they adequately carry out a set of clarified responsibilities; and we need to demand better inter-agency communication and cooperation so that problems, such as juvenile misbehavior, can be treated as a whole rather than as a series of unrelated bureaucratic exercises.

As a corollary to these points, it is imperative that institutions become more accountable. Each year millions of dollars are poured into social service programs, with far too little monitoring of what this money is actually buying. Disbursers of funds must begin exercising more oversight if programs and finances are to give maximum results.

Furthermore, families and communities must be understood as the critical components they are. A failure in these organic institutions appears to guarantee that created institutions, such as police, courts, and youth service agencies, will be asked to do too much and will tend to break down.

Institutional improvement and strengthening of family and community structures are clearly interrelated. Thus, the recommendations which follow proceed from those directed at public officials and agency administrators to those which more specifically address the role of families and communities.

POLICE

The police have justifiably protested that they cannot solve all of society's problems, among them massive juvenile misbehavior. They should, however, do a far better job of responding to calls for immediate aid. When neighborhood residents feel that the symbol of order, a police officer, will not appear or will make no real effort when he does appear, public confidence is seriously undermined. Feeling defenseless, people tend to lose initiative in taking steps in their own defense.

In addition, the police have a leadership role to play in stimulating citizen cooperation, as for instance through block watch communities. At their best, police-community relations officers have done much for community morale, and the steady development of police-community programs appears to be in everyone's interest.

COURTS

Because judges function so much as individuals and because their authority is, of necessity, well insulated, juvenile justice tends to be cloaked in mystery. For that matter, there is simply a great deal of public misunderstanding about the system and the people who are responsible for it.

A lack of public information and education in this regard has led to a widespread belief that the judiciary is largely indifferent to community welfare. It is thus in the interest of the courts themselves to explain how juvenile justice is administered and why it appears to be failing. When residents feel, rightly or wrongly, that many courts are insensitive to neighborhood needs for protection from violent offenders, confidence declines and the criminal justice system tends to be further undermined.

The Urban Court Project, attached to the Dorchester District Court, offers a promising approach to greater community involvement in juvenile affairs. Especially noteworthy is the mediation panel which attempts to resolve disputes between family members, neighbors, etc. Many serious situations arise out of exactly this kind of dispute. Also worth duplicating is the court's disposition panel which assists judges in so-called "creative sentencing" — a work restitution program instead of commitment to DYS, for example.

DYS

If the reforms of the last few years are not to be repudiated by the public at large, the Department of Youth Services has got to recognize and respond to an urgent need to remove dangerous youthful offenders from communities seriously threatened by them. Since there is a dispute about how many "dangerous" juveniles there are and who they are, DYS should cooperate with police, courts, and community residents in determining which youths should be removed from the community. To have such offenders on the street is demoralizing to residents who feel that protests will only lead to retaliation. If there is one clear institutional imperative, it is that DYS provide the means to separate demonstrably dangerous juveniles from communities unable to cope with them.

MENTAL HEALTH AND EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Given the presumption that much juvenile antisocial behavior is linked to emotional problems and learning disabilities, the role of mental health and educational services is of significant importance. A step forward would be, at least experimentally, a coordination of such services on a small-area neighborhood basis and in cooperation with the courts and DYS. It is also strongly urged that Boston increase its efforts to implement an effective Chapter 766 program in its schools.

YAC

While it has some excellent staff and programs, the Youth Activities Commission needs to define its purposes, approaches and constituencies more clearly. If a major focus is the neighborhood, then YAC ought to respond to needs as neighborhoods perceive them. This could mean, for example, different working hours, dealing with older and tougher kids, and taking a leadership role in the formation of neighborhood task forces.

Once decisions about purposes, approaches and constituencies have been made, YAC should concentrate on informing the public of what its role is. The City, for its part, ultimately has to decide if conventional youth services are helpful in stabilizing neighborhoods. If they are, then the City should provide better guidance and support for the agency; if not, scarce resources should be otherwise spent.

JOB PROGRAMS

Federal youth work programs are presently restricted to the public sector. While some private non-profit agencies and government departments have given young people valuable work experience, there is also a high incidence of "make work" jobs that do nothing for self-esteem or vocational development and may even reinforce dependency and bad habits. The opening up of federal funds to private sector job placements, preferably on a year round basis, is highly desirable.

THE OUTWARD BOUND MODEL

Boston's "Kid" Problem . . .

challenges contribute to delinquency. Spectacular instances of vandalism, for instance, convey a dramatic message about the energy and ingenuity being turned into protest against the existing environment.

A model that thus seems worthy of serious attention is Outward Bound. Outward Bound places young people in completely new and even primitive environments where they face challenges designed to build self-reliance and self-esteem. For a number of young Americans, the Peace Corps has played this role, while in the past, compulsory military service helped to mature enormous numbers of young people in a roughly similar way.

In terms of a constructive alternative at a critical age, the loss of the draft may have had serious consequences for the country's late adolescent population. (In Massachusetts, the lowering of the drinking age has contributed yet another negative factor.) While costly, and probably very much limited by that consideration, Outward Bound-type experiments should definitely be part of our agenda.

NEIGHBORHOOD TASK FORCE

In some neighborhoods, better control of juvenile problems might be fostered by cooperation between residents and representatives of the police, the courts, the parole system, DYS, the schools, and other concerned agencies and interests. One of the most conspicuous weaknesses of our present system — or nonsystem — is its fragmentation. Institutions and the communities they serve in many cases hardly interact at all. Problem kids, who are also and obviously kids with problems, drift in this setting.

A question, though, is who should take the lead in pulling the parts together. Neighborhood residents and neighborhood organizations are the most desirable initiators, since a commitment from residents themselves is critical. Other initiators could possibly be YAC or the Police Department.

FAMILY INTERVENTION

The argument for a more comprehensive approach to individual youths can be enlarged to include entire families. It is fairly clear that a few extremely problem-ridden families can threaten the well-being of hundreds of others and, in some cases, threaten the survival of neighborhoods.

What one would like to see, as part of a neighborhood stabilization strategy, would be the means to identify such families and to deal with them as they affect their neighborhoods. One can imagine a "neighborhood aide" who could make the missing connections between households and the schools, the police station, the court, the Department of Mental Health, the local civic association, and so on. Such an individual might also act as the "gooser" called for during the conference.

People familiar with bureaucratic organizations will see at once some of the difficulties; yet a place exists for a kind of case worker who could help stitch institutions, communities, and families back together. Boston's Little City Halls are proof that it is possible to develop humane and locally oriented capacity in government. Of course, hard questions would have to be answered about organizational sponsorship, funding, and applicability by neighborhood. Nevertheless, this seems a route to pursue.

FACE-LIFT PLANNED FOR NORTH STATION AREA

A planning firm headed by the well-known Israeli architect Moshe Safdie, has been retained by the Boston Redevelopment Authority to carry out a development plan for the North Station area.

Moshe Safdie and Associates are known for their work in designing Habitat for the 1967 World's Fair in Montreal. Safdie is currently director of the Urban Design Program at the Harvard Graduate School of Design.

An earlier BRA planning report on the area called for beautification of Canal Street, a project which will be implemented in the near future. The City of Boston is expected to make $100,000 available from its capital budget, and an additional $25,000 towards the project will be contributed by the Downtown North Association, a private group made up of institutions, businesses, and public agencies located in the North Station Area.

Mayor Kevin H. White said the BRA's action "signals the beginning of a new era for this part of the city."

Mayor White said, "BRA and city agencies in general have been working closely with the Downtown North Association on a program for revitalizing the North Station area. Short-term improvements are being made, but now we want to look at this area from a long-range perspective. There is great potential in this area. It is close to Government Center, the Waterfront, and Faneuil Hall Markets, and will undoubtedly attract great development interest in the decade ahead."

"I'm sure that Mr. Safdie and his associates will provide us with development concepts that are bold, innovative, and dramatic."

BRA Director Robert J. Ryan said proposed renovations of the Boston Garden present the potential for development of large vacant parcels to the north of the Garden.

Ryan said, "The study area encompasses everything from Leverett Circle, extending to the rear of the Garden and North Station and back down to the Government Center. Within two or three years the Registry of Motor Vehicles will be moving from Nashua Street to the new State Transportation Building and we want to take an in-depth look of the possible development options which now exist and which will exist if the Garden is renovated."

The BRA contract is in the amount of $87,000 and calls for Safdie's firm to produce a development plan, complete with models, renderings, and supporting documentation within a period of ninety days.

MAYOR'S AIM: SLASH ENERGY BILLS

Mayor White unveils program to conserve and protect municipal and residential energy supplies.

Mayor Kevin H. White, on August 9, unveiled a comprehensive energy protection plan designed to both conserve and protect the energy supplies of Bostonians.

Said Mayor White, "We didn't create the energy problem, but we have to live with it. Soon, it will be a crisis and we have to protect the city and its residents from any hardships that may result from scarce energy sources this coming winter."

The program encompasses three high priority areas:

- municipal conservation and supply
- residential conservation and supply
- economic development.

Municipal Conservation and Supply

The conservation program for city buildings, dubbed the Municipal Energy Management Plan in an executive order implementing the project signed by Mayor White, aims at a 30 percent reduction in city energy consumption over the next three years. That means a savings of $15 million.

That savings will be realized through a highly sophisticated computer monitoring system of thirty, city-owned buildings. Those buildings, all high energy users, will be programmed for maximum efficiency in electricity consumption. A pilot program utilizing the computer program conservation method netted the city an energy savings of $156,000 in two buildings over nine months earlier this year.

Low-cost and no-cost energy use changes (such as delamping and reswitching lighting fixtures) will be coupled with the appointment of energy managers in each department to further aid the city conservation efforts. Future capital improvements designed to upgrade the efficiency of heating plants in city buildings, such as boiler replacement, are also contemplated as part of the plan.

The city will also attempt to protect its supply of Number 2 heating oil by setting aside $1.5 million to take advantage of a bulk purchase at a bargain rate.

At the moment, the city's per-gallon-cost for heating oil is 12 percent below the prevailing market rate for residential use. The spot market price now is 1.5 cents higher than the residential rate.

Said Mayor White, "We are hoping to set an example for energy conservation by the measures we are taking here today."

Residential Conservation and Supply

In addition to protecting and conserving its own energy sources, the city is undertaking a major effort to relieve apartment dwellers and homeowners of the burden of potentially scarce energy sources.

The city Division of Weights and Measures will be doubling its field inspection units, which police the accuracy of fuel pump gauges, both at the gasoline station and on the fuel oil delivery truck.

Said Mayor White, "We are doubling our inspection efforts to make sure that every gallon of fuel oil delivered and gasoline pumped is a full gallon. If widespread profiteering or rip-offs develop, we will further increase our inspection and enforcement efforts."

Consumers will also be able to help themselves with the aid of a home energy audit prepared by the city's Housing Inspection Department. That questionnaire, which can be processed by computer in one week, provides a profile of a dwelling's energy consumption. From that profile, specific recommendations can be made by city energy experts to improve the efficiency of fuel use in that home.

In addition to those so-called "paper" audits, approximately seventy Housing Improvement Program (HIP) rehabilitation specialists will begin on-the-spot audits of elderly-occupied dwellings during the winter months. Those specialists will offer specific suggestions on tightening-up homes against the winter chill.

The protection efforts and audits will be augmented by a series of local clinics designed to update Boston residents in the latest weatherization techniques. Attempts to involve community merchants specializing in the sale of weatherization materials, in a program aimed at offering discounts for improvements, will also be made.

The weatherization effort will also extend through the Housing Improvement Program. Mandatory minimum weatherization standards will be imposed upon all HIP grant clients to assure their more efficient use of energy.

Economic Development

The city will be attempting, through various initiatives in the coming months, to capitalize on certain aspects of the energy problem.

Said Mayor White, "If we act positively, we may be able to change the energy curse into a blessing."

The city will be moving to regain the competitive edge it has lost to the suburban shopping malls in terms of retail activity and recreation.

The city is planning also, to make the Boston Marine Industrial Park a showplace for industries which both produce and employ advanced technology.

As the city attracts research and design and light industry to the park, it will also, through expansion of the BMIP job training center, develop a labor pool skilled in the technology of the new energy industries.

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE

In Boston's twenty-two wards, voting hours are 8 A.M. to 8 P.M.

Preliminary Election, Tuesday, September 25. Wednesday, September 5, last day to register for Preliminary Election September 25. General Election, Tuesday, November 6.

Last day for registering to vote in the November 6 General Election is Wednesday, October 17.

AUDIT STUDY CALLED "IMPORTANT TOOL FOR BOSTON'S FINANCIAL IMPROVEMENT"

Deputy Mayor for Fiscal Affairs James V. Young, on August 4, characterized the management letter which marks the completion of the first stage of a three-year study by an independent auditor of the city's fiscal affairs and procedures, as an "important tool for Boston's financial improvement."

The management letter, buttressed by more than 200 pages of recommendations, was the second phase of the first year of a three-year audit of the city's finances conducted by the nationally respected accounting firm of Coopers and Lybrand.

Said Deputy Mayor Young, "The city is a very large and complex organization. We're nearly a billion-dollar corporation, conducting tens of thousands of transactions annually and employing thousands of people. Mayor White and I commissioned this audit to provide the city with a comprehensive analysis of the administrative issues confronting the city. This study gives us a working agenda for improving the future fiscal management of Boston."

The audit focuses on major financial issues which have become problems for Boston as well as other American cities. Property taxes, employee compensation, retirement costs, and electronic data processing are all explored, as are the efforts the city has made to solve these problems.

The audit singled out the yearly loss of almost $12.6 million in parking ticket revenue as a particularly serious fiscal problem.

Boston has vigorously pursued every administrative avenue to expediate the collections: more tow and hold lots, the implementation of a strict booting program, hiring CETA workers to spot scofflaws, and the use of electronic data processing equipment to speed the collection of fines.

But according to the audit, the statutorily established role of the criminal courts as fine collectors has bottle-necked efficient collections.

Another area explored by the audit was the financial operation of the Department of Health and Hospitals which the audit of fiscal 1978 found to be deficient in accounting and operations control.

Two years ago, the city began reorganizing the entire Health and Hospitals accounting system, bringing its accounting practices into conformity with other city departments. Since the overhaul of the system, Health and Hospitals, operating as a so-called enterprise fund, has moved from municipal cash accounting to accrual accounting, and has increased its cash collections by 15 percent in FY 1979.

Said Deputy Mayor Young, "I believe that the analysis of the first year's audit has been both rigorous and professional. It identified problems we have long recognized, and has offered constructive suggestions which could ultimately bring us closer to solving these problems."

This audit is the first complete examination of the city's financial statements ever conducted by an independent accounting firm. Those audited statements, made public last March, reflected a continuing trend of financial improvement.

IMPROVEMENTS SET FOR AREA

A public improvement contract to reconstruct Clearway Street in the Fenway and designation of a developer for a parking lot on Haviland Street were announced on August 1, by Mayor Kevin H. White and the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The $359,000 contracts calls for new street lighting, new sidewalks, road rebuilding, separation of sewer and storm drains, tree planting, and related street improvements on Clearway Street from Massachusetts Avenue to Dalton Street.

The contract was awarded to John Mahoney Construction Co., low bidder for the project.

The parking lot designation was for a 15,000 square-foot area that will be tied into the proposed renovation of commercial buildings on Boylston Street between Massachusetts Avenue and Hemenway Street.

The BRA designated Harold Brown of Hamilton Realty to develop the lot on Haviland Street so that it will accommodate eighty-nine cars. The parking area is directly to the rear of the building to be renovated by Hamilton Realty.

Mayor White said, "Reconstruction of Clearway Street and the availability of improved parking on Haviland Street helps maintain the momentum of change in that area of the Fenway. The renovation work being done on buildings fronting on Boylston Street will tie in with street reconstruction that's scheduled to take place on Boylston Street between Massachusetts Avenue and Hemenway Street. Within the next year the new sidewalks, new street lights, and new trees will bring about a dramatic change in this part of the Fenway."

BRA APPROVES FUNDING FOR FENPAC

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has approved funding for the Fenway Area Project Area Committee (Fenpac) for the next year, or until June 30, 1980.

This is the third year of funding for Fenpac under a contract approved in 1977. The amount for the next year totals $60,000 which is the same amount as Fenpac received this past year.

Mayor Kevin H. White, in commenting on the BRA's action, said, "I am pleased that funds are being made available to Fenpac so the organization can continue its work in and with the Fenway community. The progress made in the Fenway area this past year is due in no small part to the valuable advice and cooperation of Fenpac. It is an organization that speaks for the community and keeps the lines of communication open between that community and city government."

Funding for Fenpac is made available through the city's Community Development Block Grant allocation.

MAYOR URGES PASSAGE OF CONVENTION FACILITIES LEGISLATION

Mayor Kevin H. White recently reiterated his strong support for legislation which would have the Commonwealth of Massachusetts assist in financing the expansion of convention facilities across the state.

In a letter to House Speaker Thomas McGee, Mayor White said, "Expansion of Boston's Hynes Auditorium, as well as projects in Lowell, Fall River, Springfield, and Worcester, rest on the passage of H. 2802.

"Expansion of our convention facilities means jobs, taxes, and economic activity. In fact, convention spending in the Greater Boston area adds $320 million each year to our economy. Studies show that most of that revenue is generated by visitors and tourists, not by our own residents — and the expansion of Hynes alone would create over 3,000 jobs for Boston."

Mayor White initially expressed his support for the legislation in April at the annual meeting of the Greater Boston Tourist and Convention Bureau. Then, Mayor White unveiled the city's plan for a $35-million, expansion program that would double the size of the Hynes Veterans Auditorium. Expansion of the Hynes, Mayor White said, would help Boston to double the number of conventions it now attracts.

In his letter to Speaker McGee Mayor White said, "Boston is a highly attractive convention city, but we have started to see some large conventions bypassing Boston simply because we cannot accommodate them. That trend can be reversed with passage of H. 2802."

The legislation, if enacted, would provide for the state to finance up to 80 percent of the construction or rehabilitation costs for convention facilities or auditoriums around the state. The state's investment would be repaid by increased tax revenues from sales, hotel rooms, and meal taxes.

According to a Boston Redevelopment Authority report entitled "Expanding Boston's Convention Facilities," the state's share of the expansion of the Hynes Veterans Auditorium would total $1.7 million annually under the proposed legislation. The estimated return to the state on that investment would reach approximately $20 million yearly in increased tax revenue, or a return of 1,200 percent.

MORE BUSSES: LESS CARS

A recent survey of visitors at Boston's Museum of Science reveals a 24 percent decrease in those arriving by car compared to last summer.

In addition, slightly more local and in-state people are recorded, 61 percent this summer, versus 53 percent last year.

Officials believe the gas situation accounts for the drop in car users from 71 percent in 1978 to 47 percent in 1979. This summer the MBTA brought 33 percent and buses, 14 percent. Last year 20 percent came by MBTA and 2 percent by bus.

Among the Museum's out-of-state visitors are families from England, Austria, Mexico, Arkansas, California, and Washington.

Long recognized for its lively combination of recreation and education, the museum offers within an informal atmosphere a wide range of exhibits — from astronomy to zoology. In addition to its Planetarium program, it presents demonstrations of live animals, physical science, and a talking transparent woman.

Among the most popular exhibits are an Apollo capsule into which visitors may climb to hear a recorded blast-off; a telephone system with the opportunity to hear one's own voice; a giant egg hatchery of baby chicks; a series of exhibits on birth, blood, and the heart; and an energy transformation roller coaster.

The Planetarium currently shows "Cosmic Crossroads," a thirty-five-minute program considering several ideas found in science fiction. Admission is 50 cents above museum admission.

Situated in a park-like setting on the Charles River Dam, the museum is open daily and Friday nights. It is at Science Park stop on the Green (Lechmere) Line. A parking garage is adjacent to the museum.

Admission is $3.50 for adults and $2.25 for ages five through sixteen, students, and senior citizens. Members and children under five (not admitted to the Planetarium) are free. Friday nights, when the museum is open from 5 to 10 p.m., admission is just $1 for everyone. Parking also is reduced to $1.

REDEVELOPMENT PLANNED FOR FRANKLIN PARK ZOO

Metropolitan District Commissioner Guy A. Carbone met with neighborhood groups at an open house at the MDC's Franklin Park Zoo in Dorchester, on July 30, to discuss the future plans for the development of the zoo.

Commissioner Carbone detailed the aspects of the African Pavilion in which animals from Africa will live and be on display in a simulated environment.

"We want you to feel at home here. We want you to bring your families and encourage your friends to do the same," the commissioner told the audience. "We hope you will share with us in the years to come all the pleasures the zoo has to offer. This commission accepts our responsibility to protect and help the zoo flourish; we hope that you will accept that responsibility as well.

"I assure you that as at this zoo, all MDC facilities are available for the pleasure and enjoyment of all law-abiding, God-fearing people. I promise that the MDC will do everything in our power, commensurate with the law, to insure that there is open access for all people on an equal basis without distinction as to race, color, or creed," Carbone concluded.

Those in attendance included the Jamaica Plain Neighborhood House, United South End Settlements, Lena Park Community Development Center, Boston League of Women Voters, the Gates of Zion Church of God in Christ, Orchard Park Tenant Task Force, Normandy Pasadena Streets Neighborhood Association, Rehobeth Bethel Apostolic Church, Franklin Park Coalition, Opportunities Industrialization Center, Boston Landmark Commission, City Missionary Society, Community Betterment Association, Southwest Corridor Coalition, Dorchester Little City Hall, United Community Planning Corporation, and the new Grove Hall Board of Trustees.

NURSING HOME PLANNED FOR CHINESE-SPEAKING ELDERLY

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has designated South Cove Nursing Facilities Foundation, Inc., as developers of a proposed nursing home on Shawmut Avenue, in the South End Urban Renewal Project.

South Cove Nursing Facilities recently received a certificate of need for a 100-bed, nursing facility that will serve the Chinese-speaking elderly of Boston.

The BRA-owned site, consisting of 21,000 square feet of land, is located at 100 Shawmut Avenue, Boston.

The construction loan for the $2.2-million building will be provided by the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, with mortgage insurance provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mayor Kevin H. White lauded the BRA action, saying, "This clears the way for a facility that will meet a real need within the Chinese community. I congratulate those residents of Chinatown who have given so much of themselves in planning this facility. I am confident that the project will proceed without delay and that the BRA and all other city officials will do whatever is necessary to facilitate construction of this nursing home."

BRA Director Robert J. Ryan said "It is this type of development that will not only serve the needs of the community but will also help Chinatown retain its neighborhood character and attractiveness."

Fire Captain Powers leaves the department with the best wishes of his associates.

II. CHAPTER 266 ACTS OF 1979

On June 9, 1979, chapter 266 became law. This act amended chapter 127, section 133 of the M.G.L., commonly referred to as the one-third-two-thirds-parole law. It specifically added the following offenses to the two-thirds category:

Chapter 266, section 1: "Dwelling Houses; burning or aiding in burning," commonly referred to as "Arson."

Chapter 266, section 2: "Meeting House; burning or aiding in burning," commonly referred to as "Arson."

Chapter 266, section 10: "Insured Property; burning with intent to defraud," commonly referred to as "Arson for Profit."

The effective date of this law is September 7, 1979. Any person committing these offenses prior to that date is eligible for parole after serving one-third of the sentence and after September 7, must serve two-thirds of the sentence.

III. CHANGE ON ASSIGNMENT CARDS

Effective 0800 hours, August 3, 1979, company commanders shall make the following changes on the assignment cards:

Effective 0800 hours, August 3, 1979, company commanders shall make the following changes:

In addition, pages 103 to 115 in the Emergency Medical Services Handbook shall be reviewed.

V. COMMENDATION

On June 9, 1979, at 1942 hours, Engine Companies 12 and 14 and Ladder Company 4 responded to a building fire at 40 Forest Street. Upon arrival, heavy smoke was showing through the entire building. Fire Fighter James R. Oliver, Ladder Company 4, working for a member of Engine Company 14, ran the 2½-inch attack line to the first floor and about the same time Fire Fighter Louis F. Lentini was bringing up Engine Company 12's line when they heard cries of help from the upper floors. Both members raced up the stairs in search of the helpless occupants when Fire Fighter Oliver noticed he had damaged his face piece so he tried to ventilate a window with his helmet and because of the low visibility, slashed his right arm. Still searching, Fire Fighter Oliver was falling unconscious and Fire Fighter Lentini, seeing the plight of Fire Fighter Oliver, rushed to his aid. Fire Fighter Lentini took off his own mask to give Fire Fighter Oliver air and started to carry him out of the building, stopped at intervals to administer air from his own mask to the unconscious Fire Fighter Oliver.

Fire Fighter Lentini's actions no doubt were responsible for the possible saving of Fire Fighter Oliver's life. Both of these men had performed their duty gallantly before ventilation could be accomplished or water could be put on the fire, without regard to their own personal safety.

Fire Fighters Lentini and Oliver are to be commended for their actions and Fire Fighter Lentini is to be commended for his quick thinking and prompt use of the buddy system which prevented serious injury to Fire Fighter Oliver.

Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the unit price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be

The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

MUNICIPAL ENERGY CONSERVATION PROGRAM

THE CITY AS A CONSUMER OF ENERGY

Goal:

The goal of the program is to reduce by 30 percent the amount of energy used by the city to achieve that reduction within a three-year period.

Components:

1. Computerized Energy Control

Thirty buildings which are high energy users will be tied into a computerized energy control system. This system shuts down and turns on heat, light, ventilation, and air conditioning so that there is no unnecessary energy use, and will be programmed individually for each building so that no needed services are impaired.

2. Low-Cost/No-Cost Conservation Measures

City buildings will be examined and those energy-saving changes which can be made with little or no cost will be identified and put into effect quickly. (Examples: delamping; reduce hot water temperature settings; install energy efficient lights.)

3. Capital Conservation Measures

More extensive, energy-saving changes which require capital improvements will be decided upon and put into effect over the next three years. (Examples: replace inefficient boilers; install new insulation; install zone heating system.)

4. Data Base/Monitoring of Progress

Information has been compiled and a system will be operating which gives us a monthly report on the exact amount of energy used in each city building. This information will be used to monitor progress in achieving the goal of 30 percent reduction.

Pilot Project:

A great deal of work has already been done on this program. Perhaps the best example of this is a pilot project which was conducted to test the computerized energy control system. This project tested the system on two high schools over a nine-month period, and resulted in a savings of over $152,000 for those two buildings alone.

Bulk Oil Purchase for Municipal Use:

A. The Mayor is authorizing Deputy Mayor Young to set aside $1.5 million to purchase heating oil on the spot market should price changes make such a bulk purchase advantageous.

B. The purpose of this move is twofold:

— 1. To insure a supply of heating oil for essential municipal

The half-hour radio program will focus on the Boston Community Schools Program's wide range of educational and recreational opportunities available to Boston residents of all ages.

JOHN J. CARDINAL WRIGHT: PASSING OF GREATNESS

The Rite of Christian Burial was held at Holy Name Church, West Roxbury, Friday, August 17, at 11 a.m. for John Joseph Cardinal Wright, Prefect of the Congregation for the Clergy, one of Boston's prominent citizens, who died (Aug. 10) at Youville Hospital, Cambridge.

Humberto Cardinal Medeiros was the celebrant of the Mass of the Resurrection at the West Roxbury Church.

Concelebrants with Cardinal Medeiros included Archbishop Jean Jadot, U. S. Apostolic Delegate; Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco and President of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops; Bishop Bernard J. Flanagan of Worcester; and Bishop Vincent M. Leonard of Pittsburgh, the homilist.

Cardinal Wright, had suffered from polymyositis, a degenerative disease of the muscles. A year ago he underwent a neurosurgical procedure at Tufts New England Medical Center to alleviate the muscular disorder in his legs.

Cardinal Wright returned to the Tufts Center in April of this year for the second of two cataract operations. Later in May, he entered Youville's rehabilitation unit but was forced to return to the intensive care unit at Tufts Center because of further complications. He was readmitted to Youville on August 2, where he died on August 10th, from a persistent pneumonia aggravated by the muscular disorder in his throat and chest, according to Dr. John F.

purposes during any supply shortage that may arise.

— 2. To do so at the best possible price.

Programs to Protect City Residents

In an effort to ensure that Boston residents do not fall victim to heating oil shortages this winter, the administration will implement a three-part protection plan.

1. The city's Department of Weights and Measures will double its policing efforts.

To prevent rip-offs by energy distributors, all liquid measuring devices are tested for accuracy and sealed.

To ensure that the seals are not tampered with, the department will also increase its investigatory force.

2. The city will assist residents in identifying and correcting heat-loss problems in their homes.

Residents will receive energy conservation audit forms to be filled out and returned to their local H.I.P. office. The forms will be analyzed and a written report detailing necessary weatherization measures will be sent to participants.

H.I.P. will hold energy conservation clinics throughout the city at which specialists will demonstrate weatherization measures.

Once the winter forces the city's H.I.P. rehabilitation specialists indoors, they will be available to conduct on-site energy audits of homes, particularly those of elderly residents.

3. All participants in the city's Housing Improvement Program will be required to carry out certain weatherization measures.

The number of required work items will be increased to include attic insulation, weather stripping, fine-tuning of boiler, etc. Final details to be announced.

Economic Development Initiatives

1. Expansion of Industrial Energy Base

Goal:

The goal of the program is to provide more jobs for Bostonians by turning the energy scarcity curse into a blessing.

Strategy

1. Capitalize on the scarcity of gasoline by promoting the attractive aspects of Boston's retail and recreational traits — those city benefits which traditionally suffer at the hands of the suburban shopping malls and beaches.

2. Create a showplace for industries which both produce and employ advanced energy technology at BMIP. The EDIC is now negotiating with three major energy firms to come to the park.

3. Develop BMIP as a center for demonstration projects for new energy technologies and new methods of energy consumption.

"So I understand, Bobby, but why do you ask?"

"Well, I've kept away thirteen doctors this morning, but I'm afraid one will have to come this afternoon."

Energy Management in City Buildings

Rapid increases in the cost of energy will continue to be a fact of life for everyone over the next quarter century. In our own case, the City of Boston will spend $27 million in Fiscal Year 1979 on its energy requirements. At the expected rate of energy inflation, the identical energy requirements of five years from now will cost $65 million, more than a doubling in price.

Although the price of energy is largely beyond the control of the city, the amount of energy we use is not. I have, therefore, ordered that the Public Facilities Department implement a program to reduce energy expenditures in our public buildings by at least 30 percent. This will be achieved through a combination of computerized monitoring of building equipment, physical improvements, and personnel training. Public Facilities will direct and manage this program, and I anticipate that all city departments will give PFD their fullest cooperation in achieving this energy conservation goal.

The first step in the program will be the appointment of an Energy Conservation Manager by each department to work with Public Facilities in the implementation of this program.

It is important to note that although this program will allow us to avoid substantial costs for energy in the future. It will do so without reducing the level of services offered in our public buildings.

I consider this goal of a 30 percent energy use reduction to be both realistic and essential. It will not only save energy and help to conserve resources, but it will reduce as well a significant source of inflationary pressure on the city's tax rate.

KEVIN H. WHITE,
Mayor of Boston.

KINDERGARTEN SPACES AVAILABLE

Parents of school-aged children living in Boston have been reminded that now is the time to register their children for enrollment in the Boston Public Schools, scheduled to open September.

That message came from John Coakley, senior management officer, of the Department of Implementation for the Boston Public Schools. He urges parents, particularly parents of children about to enter school on the kindergarten level, to register their children now.

"Doing it now will save parents time and effort," says Coakley. "In previous years, many parents waited until after Labor Day. Schools are not in session in August and School Department officials are able to better serve those parents seeking assignments at this time.

"The cooperation of parents now will be of great assistance in helping our schools to open more smoothly and to allow us to make our transportation service more efficient and effective."

Parents are urged to apply for school assignments for their children during the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at any of the nine Community District Offices, or at the Department of Implementation on the ninth floor of School Committee Headquarters, 26 Court Street, Boston.

Any parent applying for a child's school assignment must bring two proofs of his or her current home address, such as a driver's license, utility bill, Medicaid card, etc., as well as, the student's birth certificate. If the child already has been in school, proof of the current grade must be provided.

To enter Kindergarten I, a child must be four years old on or before September 2, 1979. To enter Kindergarten II, a child must be five years old on or before September 2, 1979. To enter Grade One, a child must be six years old on or before September 2, 1979.

Parents with questions may telephone the School Information Center, 726-6555 or the Boston School Department, 726-6200.

QUABBIN RESERVOIR: NO FISH- ING, ONE AREA

The Metropolitan District Commission has announced a partial curtailment of fishing at one area of the Quabbin Reservoir, to take effect beginning Tuesday, September 4.

Fishing Area Two, situated on the north end of the reservoir, will be closed on weekdays starting September 4, but will be open on Saturdays and Sundays in addition to Monday, October 8, when Columbus Day is noted. There will be no curtailments at Fishing Areas One and Three, both of which are closer to the Springfield-Chicopee area.

Despite rumors in the Quabbin area earlier this year that the schedule of hours the reservoir would remain open for fishing might be changed, this will definitely not happen, MDC officials emphasized.

Fishing Area Two is to be closed weekdays as there was little usage on weekdays following Labor Day last year. MDC officials feel it would constitute an unnecessary expense to keep it open under such conditions.

Quabbin Reservoir's fishing season for 1979 ends on the third Sunday in October.

INSTANT ENERGY FEEDBACK

Would instant feedback on how much energy we use cut our consumption? After this summer and next winter, we may know the answer.

Over the next few months, a device to check daily energy use — as well as costs — will be installed in certain homes in six cities in the United States and Canada. The United States Department of Energy will work with local utilities to install the feedback meters in randomly selected houses. The meter looks like a digital o'clock but has two rows of numbers. The top row shows the time. The bottom row displays the costs of energy used in the household since the previous mid-night.

People in the houses can judge their savings in advance, too. By touching a switch labeled "nest hour," the feedback meter will show the estimated cost of the energy the house will use in the next sixty minutes — if nothing is done to decrease present consumption. The numbers will change to reflect changes in energy use. By pressing other buttons, it's possible to get a reading on the cost of energy consumption in the previous twenty-four period or how much the total month's bill will be.

A previous study indicated that people use air conditioners, furnaces, ovens, lights, and other appliances less if they get immediate feedback. In one study conducted by the department, energy consumption dropped 10 to 15 percent.

Energy use in households with meters will be compared with 100 control homes in each city. The energy department hopes the feedback meters may be available to the public soon. The meters could be installed for between $50 and $100. People who use them would be eligible for a tax credit.

Conserving energy saves money and also cuts pollution, says the American Lung Association of Boston — the Christmas Seal People. To find out more ways to curb pollution, contact them. It's a matter of life and breath.

CITY COUNCIL RESOLUTION

Boston City Councillor Louise Day Hicks introduced a resolution in the City Council meeting which was unanimously adopted by her colleagues to support Senator Javits bill "Asbestos School Hazard Detection and Control Act of 1979."

Councillor Hicks stated, "Public attention has recently been directed at the potential health hazards inherent in the flaking or powdering of asbestos fibers installed as interior building insulation."

On January 16, 1979, Councillor Hicks in a prior resolution filed in the City Council requested that the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston institute an extensive study of all public buildings, especially all educational facilities to ascertain the existence of asbestos insulation in the buildings and to remove or enclose said materials.

"The cost of removal or enclosure of the asbestos materials amounts to a great deal of the taxpayers' money and could cause a diminution of educational services; therefore, I have requested that the City of Boston, the Boston School Committee, and the Massachusetts Congressional delegation support Senator Javits bill," said Councillor Hicks.

"Senator Javits bill will provide loans to local educational agencies to contain or remove these hazardous materials." Councillor Hicks requested support for Senator Javits bill in a personal letter sent to the presidents of all Home and School Associations throughout the city.

"Working together with our leaders in Washington, Boston should be able to receive sufficient money from the federal government to make the schools safe for our children," said Councillor Hicks.

City of Boston,
In City Council,

August 8, 1979.

Councillor HICKS for all the Councillors (DiCara, Flynn, Iannella, Langone, McDonough, O'Neil, Sansone, Tierney):

Whereas, Asbestos materials, particularly in sprayed form, were extensively used in the construction and renovation of school buildings for fireproofing, soundproofing, and other purposes; and

Whereas, In many school buildings these materials have become damaged or friable as a result of deterioration, abrasion, water leakage, or forced air circulation causing the release of asbestos fibers into the air, of a level far exceeding acceptable norms; and

Whereas, Medical studies suggest that children tend to be more susceptible to environmentally induced cancer; and

Whereas, The cost to remove or at least contain asbestos hazards in schools may be quite high, and thus expenditure of large amounts of money for this purpose could cause diminution of educational services; and

Whereas, A bill has been introduced in the U.S. Senate, S. 1658, by Senator Javits and others to establish a program for the inspection of schools to detect the presence of hazardous asbestos materials and provide loans to states and local educational agencies to contain or remove these hazardous materials; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, supports Senate Bill 1658 the "Asbestos School Hazard Detection and Control Act of 1979," and requests that the Boston School Committee join with the Boston City Council; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Javits, the members of the Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources, and members of the Massachusetts Congressional Delegation.

In City Council. August 8, 1979.

City Clerk.

IMPROVEMENTS SET FOR SOUTH END

The Boston Redevelopment Authority and Mayor Kevin H. White have announced that a $590,000 contract has been awarded to Charles A. Maguire and Associates for engineering services in the South End Urban Renewal Project.

Mayor White said, "This contract will allow the BRA to meet its commitment to complete public improvements as called for by the urban renewal plan. Project improvements in the South End have been progressing and will be continued at a very active level throughout this year and beyond. It is essential that engineering work be carried out so that this work can move forward without delay."

Major improvements planned under the engineering services contract include final preparation for advertising sewer and drain work being done with funding from the Environmental Protection Agency, eight of which contracts are now in execution or due to start in the near future.

In addition, engineering work must be completed for reconstruction of streets throughout the South End, and in particular, the extensive rebuilding of Tremont Street and Columbus Avenue.

To All Department Heads.

You are hereby authorized to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to the employees in your department who wish to attend the various workshops to be sponsored by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women. These workshops will be held on August 21, 22, and 23 in the Gallery of City Hall, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Attendance for the workshops will be taken by Ms. Joan Johnson of the Commission on the Status of Women and will be available to the department heads at the end of the conference.

MINORITY CONTRACTORS, SUPPLIERS TO ATTEND MBTA WORKSHOPS

Boston minority contractors, suppliers, and vendors, interested in bidding for work on the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority's $669 million rapid transit/railroad project in Boston's Southwest Corridor and other MBTA modernization and extension projects, are planning to attend MBTA-sponsored technical workshops August 29 and 30 and September 5 and 6 at the Park Plaza Hotel.

The workshops are part of a Minority Business Enterprise Program being developed for the MBTA by Thomas Buffington & Associates, nationally known marketing and communications specialists, and will be attended by MBES from throughout the country. Topics to be covered by panelists will include marketing and public relations, joint venture formation, venture capital resources, bid preparation, and contract bonding.

Robert L. Foster, chairman and chief executive officer of the MBTA, will address attendees on the opening day of both the August and September workshops.

Moderator of the sessions will be Robert B. Ramsay, a native of Roxbury, Mass., and a graduate of Boston Latin High School who is a staff associate of Thomas Buffington & Associates. A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, Mr. Ramsay was commissioned as an officer in the U.S. Air Force and became a pilot with duties in Southeast Asia. Following his Air Force career, he was affiliated with General Motors Corporation and Philip Morris Company. Prior to joining the Buffington firm he was an assistant vice-president at Citibank, New York. Mr. Ramsay has a Master's Degree in Business and has considerable consulting experiences with small businesses.

Panelists at the August and September workshops will be James G. Ingram and Edward J. Sweeney, both of the Boston regional office of the Small Business Administration. Mr. Ingram, of Holbrook, Mass., is supervisor of SBA's production and technical section and is coordinator of the computerized procurement, automated-source system. He will discuss marketing and public relations. Mr. Sweeney, of Somerville, Mass., is SBA's regional surety bond officer, and will speak on credit and bonding resources.

Other panelists at the August workshops will be Robert Moore, of Decatur, Georgia, a minority contractor whose firm has held joint venture contracts with the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority which is building the Atlanta, Georgia, subway system, and Ms. Patricia D. Jacobs, vice-president and chief administrative officer of the American Association of Minority Enterprise Small Business Investment Companies, the trade association for the MESBIC industry. A graduate of Harvard Law School, Ms. Jacobs promotes the development and viability of this vital industry on the federal level, as well as with the private sector. In 1975, she was a White House Fellow finalist and last year received the Black Enterprise "Under 30" Achievement Award. At present, she is on leave as an assistant professor at the John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York.

In addition to Mr. Ingram and Mr. Sweeney, panelists at the September workshops will be Edward P. Dugger III, president and chief executive officer of Urban National Corporation of Boston, a $10-million, private-venture capital company investing nationwide in businesses with substantial minority participation, and Dr. Frederick H. Black, manager of external affairs for General Electric Company. Mr. Dugger, an honor graduate from Harvard College in 1971, will speak on venture capital sources and financial packaging, and Dr. Black will speak on business development, contract administration, equipment leasing, and trade.

Additional Information about the workshops may be obtained from the MBTA's Affirmative Action Office (617-722-3140) or from Dr. R. Dale McCollum of Thomas Buffington & Associates, Washington, D.C. (202-232-1362).

To All Department Heads and and Payroll Clerks.

Effective immediately, the Personnel Department is instituting the following procedure for personnel transactions. Failure to follow this new procedure will result in unnecessary delays in the processing of personnel transactions.

ALL personnel transactions — new appointments, extensions, provisional promotions, adjustments in compensation, transfers, etc., are to be submitted to the Personnel Department at least fifteen working days prior to the effective date of that particular transaction. The Personnel Office will then, in compliance with the Executive Order from Mayor White, dated April 25, 1979, submit them to the Budget Office for budgetary approval.

No new transaction is to be instituted at the department level until all personnel forms have been processed and returned to the department. I feel that fifteen days should be enough time to route the papers through the Personnel Office, the Budget Office and the Mayor's Office.

I must reiterate that failure to follow this policy can result not only in delays in processing, but possibly the termination of an unapproved "new hire," the demotion of an employee who received a promotion without being approved by Personnel and Budget, not to mention the embarrassment to the department head.

JOHN E. MURPHY, JR.,
Supervisor of Personnel.

Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public

Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employees or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be

The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read.

Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the unit price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract, and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract. The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the equal employment opportunity section of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

No bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 20 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons (Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians).

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, Room 714 (Contract Office), City Hall, invites proposals for highway reconstruction in East Fourth Street, East Fifth Street, Emerson Street, I Street, K Street, and M Street, in South Boston.

A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Commissioner, and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price, will be required of the successful contractor. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 714 (Contract Office), City Hall.

The proposal should be signed, enclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for highway reconstruction in East Fourth Street, East Fifth Street, Emerson Street, I Street, K Street, and M Street, in South Boston," and left at Room 714, seventh floor, City Hall, before 2 p.m. of THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1979.

Proposal guaranty shall consist of a bid deposit of 5 percent of the total bid price in the form of a bid bond, cash, certified check, treasurer's or cashier's check issued to the City of Boston. The proposals will then be publicly opened and read in the Hearing Room, 801 City Hall, One City Hall Square.

Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. All proposals must be from bidders of record on file at Room 714, City Hall. There will be a charge of twenty-five ($25) dollars, NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. If the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed under the contract, shall not be less than the rate of wages in the schedule determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth, a copy of which schedule is annexed to the form of contract referred to herein. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employees or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment; and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employee manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted area, i.e., 30 percent in impacted areas and 10 percent in non-impacted areas.

IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE REQUIREMENT, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business organization in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more minority persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will be held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, September 5, 1979, in the Hearing Room, 801 City Hall, One City Hall Square. It is essential that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO CHAPTER 370 OF THE ACTS OF 1963, WHICH MUST BE STRICTLY COMPLIED WITH. The Commissioner reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or any item or items of the proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner of Public Works.

LABOR DAY

In honor of the wage earners of the Nation, the United States and Canada have set aside the first Monday in September as Labor Day, a legal holiday. The observance of this day emanated from an annual parade in New York City by the Knights of Labor on September 5, in the 1880s.

Oregon, in 1887, was the first state to recognize Labor Day as a legal holiday, and other states quickly followed. On June 28, 1894, Congress passed a bill making the day a national holiday. All the states in the Union now observe Labor Day as a national holiday.

RECYCLING BOSTON'S SURPLUS BUILDINGS

Boston is a recognized leader in the field of adaptive re-use — finding new uses for old buildings. Downtown landmarks like the Faneuil Hall Marketplace and Old City Hall have won national recognition, but examples of careful restoration and imaginative "recycling" can be found throughout the city, both downtown and in the neighborhoods.

One of Boston's greatest resources for future recycling is the large number of older neighborhood municipal buildings — schools, firehouses, police stations, and libraries — whose functions are now being carried out in new, up-to-date facilities. It is the City of Boston's policy to encourage the re-use of these still valuable and often handsome surplus structures, for beyond the sentimental attachment that residents often feel toward traditional neighborhood facilities, there are many practical reasons for recycling them.

- Because of the ever-increasing price of energy and materials, the cost of replacing old buildings with new construction rises every year. Renovation of existing space generally costs one-third less than new construction. This means more affordable rents, for example, when an old school is converted to apartments.

- The type of work required to renovate old buildings is generally more "labor-intensive" than with new construction. In other words, rehabilitation generates more jobs than new construction as a greater portion of the cost goes for wages than for materials, providing increased employment opportunities.

- Apartments and offices in converted buildings are generally larger and often more appealing than in comparably priced, new buildings. At today's prices, the quality of workmanship found in many old buildings cannot feasibly be duplicated in new construction.

- Renovation can generally be completed faster than new construction because a building's essential components — foundations, walls, and roofs — are already in place. Work can proceed in virtually any weather, and as one part of a building is completed, it can be rented, while other parts are still being renovated.

- Old public buildings usually offer a central, convenient location, near transportation, shopping, and public services.

Thus, the recycling of old public buildings makes good sense and can play an important role in our continuing efforts to preserve and strengthen Boston's neighborhoods — their economy, their sense of identity, and their physical appearance.

Kevin H. White, Mayor.

The following are examples of surplus City of Boston buildings that have been or will soon be recycled for new uses to serve their neighborhoods. The range of adaptive uses — including housing, a museum, and social service agencies — suggests the many new roles such structures can serve.

Bowdoin School

45 Myrtle Street, Beacon Hill

The former Bowdoin School is a prime example of adaptive building re-use. An administrative annex long after it was closed as a school, the Bowdoin was swiftly renovated in 1976 and today offers modern apartment living in one of Boston's most famous neighborhoods. Several of the units are reserved for low-income and elderly tenants. Facilities include a lounge, laundry room, and a small landscaped sitting area. The project was sponsored by a private developer and a local civic association.

Garrison and Dillaway Schools

20 Hutchings Street, 5 Kenilworth Street, Roxbury

The Garrison and Dillaway Schools will be special new housing assets to their respective neighborhoods. The Garrison, located in a handsome residential district, will offer fifty one- and two-bedroom units. The Dillaway, located just outside the Dudley Station area, will be especially convenient to shopping and transportation. Four of its fourteen apartments will be duplexes. Offering subsidized rentals, both recycled schools will help meet Boston's need for low- and moderate-income housing.

Roger Wolcott School

431 Norfolk Street, Mattapan

Renamed the "Walcott Professional Building" by its developer, the Roger Wolcott School today offers office and studio space to a variety of small businesses — including a photographer, a dance studio, and even a barbershop. Interior renovations have been minimal, but great care has been taken to restore the oak woodwork, marble inlays, and other fine old-fashioned features found throughout the school. The former auditorium assembly hall on the top floor is used for banquets, dances, and large meetings.

Harvard School

20 Devens Street, Charlestown

Designed primarily for the elderly and handicapped, the former Harvard School will offer several unusual facilities, including a community kitchen and dining area, a medical examination office, an atrium, and a small library with its own fireplace. The school will be renamed the "Mary S. Colbert Apartments" in honor of the long-time and respected community leader who is Charlestown's "first lady."

SALE OF SOUTH STATION NEARLY COMPLETE

Governor Edward J. King and Mayor Kevin H. White on August 14, announced that legal documentation has been completed for the sale of the South Station from the Boston Redevelopment Authority to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

Purchase of the rail terminal for $4.4 million paves the way for the MBTA to develop the South Station as a transportation center, accommodating both Amtrak and commuter rail service as well as intercity and commuter buses.

"The development of South Station as an intermodal transportation facility will be an important accomplishment of my administration," Governor King said. "This project is a tangible example of the benefits of the Urban Initiatives Program announced by President Carter."

Governor King estimated that the $100-million project would create more than 6,000 jobs and provide the catalyst for additional private investment in the South Station area.

Mayor White said, "We are announcing a public-private venture that will bring millions of dollars in tax revenue to the city, both from the transportation center itself and from new investment generated by the project. This agreement insures that the City of Boston receives significant tax revenue from commercial elements throughout the complex. I am confident that by 1983 the South Station will become one of the most exciting and most attractive transportation centers in the country.

"Of equal importance, this new center will encourage the use of public transportation which is important to conservation of energy."

Preliminary plans call for the MBTA to build an eleven-track station, a major bus terminal, and parking to accommodate 600 cars over a portion of the track area.

The BRA retains development rights for a hotel of 400 to 500 rooms, an office building of 500,000 square feet, and additional air rights parking for 1,500 cars.

It is expected that details of the development program for the transportation center will be formally unveiled in early September.

"Consummation of the transfer resulted from six months of intensive negotiation with the BRA," Transportation Secretary Barry M. Locke said. "The new South Station facility will serve as a national transportation landmark reflecting the interrelationship between mass transit and rail service which is so vital to effectively serve the public."

According to BRA Director Robert J. Rayn, the historic headhouse at South Station will be preserved and will be utilized as office space.

MBTA Chairman Robert L. Foster said, "Completion of the South Station Transportation Center will offer improved connections for bus, rail, and rapid transit users."

The BRA purchased the South Station in 1965, and the building itself is part of the 82-acre South Station Urban Renewal Project. In 1977, the BRA designated the MBTA to develop the transportation center at South Station. Funds for the MBTA to purchase the facility were appropriated by the State Legislature in 1978.

The transfer makes the MBTA eligible for $27 million in federal funds for the transportation center. The federal funding comes from the appropriation of the Federal Railway administration for the Northeast Corridor Project.

CITY COUNCIL RESOLUTION

Councillor Hicks for all the Councillors (DiCara, Flynn, Iannella, Langone, McDonough, O'Neil, Sansone, Tierney):

Whereas, President Carter has announced that he will visit Boston on October 20, 1979, for the dedication of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Library; and

Whereas, President Kennedy, himself, spoke to us about the importance of libraries when, on the occasion of the dedication of the Robert Frost Library at Amherst College on October 26, 1963, he said almost prophetically:

"Libraries are like memories and in this library you will have the memory of an extraordinary American; much more than that, really an extraordinary human being. And also you will have the future and all of the young men who come into the library will touch something of distinction in our national life, and, I hope, give something to it"; and

Whereas, The J.F.K. Library is located in Dorchester section of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, The J.F.K. Library is a memorial to one of Boston's most honored sons, who is not only enshrined in the hearts and memories of the people of Boston, but who, in the classical sense, belongs to the ages; and

Whereas, The Boston City Council is reminded on this occasion of President Kennedy's concern for the poor, the sick, and the downtrodden and that by his works and actions he inspired hope for the future; and

Whereas, The City of Boston will join the rest of the country in commemorating this memorial to the thirty-fifth President of the United States of America; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, extends to President Carter and his wife Rosalyn, a warm welcome on behalf of the City of Boston; and be it further

Resolved, That the Boston City Council invites President Carter to address the Boston City Council in the Council Chambers on his energy proposals regarding aid to the needy and elderly of Boston with their severely inflated fuel bills.

MAYOR OPPOSES "ALTERNATE FIVE"

Announces opposition to FAA overland flight patterns at Logan.

Mayor Kevin H. White announced on August 23, his strong opposition to the Federal Aviation Administration's decision to adopt the so-called "Alternate Five," or 195 degree heading, from Logan Airport. The Mayor believes the FAA leaves the city no choice but to continue its legal efforts to block the use of the overland aircraft routes which creates significant aircraft noise problem for South Boston and the City of Boston in general.

Mayor White stated, "The FAA is acting irresponsibly by reverting to overland aircraft patterns. It has been clearly proven that these routes are most harmful to the residents of South Boston in terms of noise pollution. South Boston community leaders and concerned residents have been meeting with the FAA for months to develop flight tracks from Logan that will bypass residential neighborhoods."

In fact, a recent Port Authority report agrees with the South Boston residents and clearly shows a number of overwater flight paths which are completely safe. The FAA's choosing to ignore these options puts the interests of the airlines ahead of the best interests of the people of Boston," Mayor White concluded.

The Mayor's statements are in direct response to the FAA's decision to refuse to implement overwater flight routes for aircraft using Runway 22R. Ironically, the 195 degree heading will also prove very damaging to the residents of South Shore communities such as Quincy and Hingham.

All affected communities are unanimous in their support of the overwater flight pattern.

MAYOR LAUDS CHINATOWN'S CULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO BOSTON

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 26, praised the "rich cultural contributions" Boston's Chinese community has made to the city at the tenth annual August Moon Festival in Chinatown.

This year's celebration, patterned after the traditional Chinese mid-autumn festival, "Chung Chiao Chieh," commemorates a "Decade of Growth" in Boston's Chinese community. Featured at the celebration, the largest festival on Chinatown's calendar, were displays of Chinese folk dancing and martial arts, demonstrations of traditional musical instruments and cooking, and arts and crafts exhibits.

Said Mayor White, "In many respects, the Chinatown neighborhood's growth has closely paralleled the growth of the entire city. Over the last ten years, we have made enormous progress in building upon the inherent strength of our neighborhoods. You can see the result of that hard work today in the vitality of neighborhoods and the city — a vitality well represented by Chinatown."

Other exhibits at the festival focused on important business activity in the Chinatown neighborhood — activity vital to the area's economic stability.

Filipino, Korean, and Japanese dancing and cooking displays were featured as part of the festivities.

GRANTS AVAILABLE TO ASSIST ELDERS

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 5, announced the availability of 200,200 in Fiscal Year 1979 Supplemental Funds of Title III of the Older Americans Act.

The funding, available through the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly/Area Agency on Aging, will be allocated in the form of one-year, nonrenewable grants to experimental programs which assist elders in maintaining independent living in their homes and communities.

The Area Agency on Aging requests the submission of written proposals by September 21, 1979, and will make funding decisions on October 29, 1979. All programs must begin operations by December 31, 1979. A Request for Proposal Packet or further grant information is available by calling Aluma Motenko at 725-4365.

NEW JAMAICA PLAIN HIGH SCHOOL OPENS

Jamaica Plain High School, one of the oldest of Boston's nineteen high schools, tracing its history to 1676, will reopen Thursday, September 6, introducing a new plant on a new location with twelve acres of surprising beauty embracing recreational and sports fields normally found only in spacious suburbia.

The new district school is located on Washington Street, halfway between the MBTA's Forest Hills and Green Street stations. Bus service will be provided only for special or isolated students.

The school's 1,054 students will report for first sessions as follows: September 6, Grade 9 only; September 7, Grade 10 only; September 10, Grade 11 only; September 11, Grade 12 only; September 12, all students.

The old Jamaica Plain High School, located on Elm Street within sight of the new plant, was built eighty-one years ago in 1898, and is the oldest high school building in Boston. It is expected eventually to be converted for extended life as housing for the elderly.

The new school has thirty-six classrooms, a cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium, a library-media center, and well-equipped areas for science, business, industrial arts, home economics, music, health, student publications, special services, and guidance.

Outdoor facilities include expansive areas for football, baseball, soccer, field hockey, tennis, and other sports with floodlighting for evening activities and stands for spectators.

"The parents of Jamaica Plain and Roxbury can really be proud of what has been accomplished," says Superintendent of Schools Robert Wood. "The future of their children will be enhanced by their new school's superb facilities."

Students will be greeted by Ronald Spratling as the school's new acting headmaster, formerly the acting community superintendent for District II, which includes Jamaica Plain.

Students will be grouped into four large units under the house plan with home rooms on the fourth and fifth floors. Laboratories and other facilities are on the lower floors.

House masters, department heads, guidance counselors, and other staff leaders devoted much time during August to developmental training in cooperation with experts on the house plan from Simmons College, their college pairing. Under the Tri-Lateral Program, Jamaica Plain High is paired with the Travelers Insurance Companies and the Boston Gas Company.

The new Jamaica Plain High School has superior design and construction because its core embraces what was formerly the distribution center of the Boston Gas Company. The school's architect was Boston's Newbury Street firm of Peirce, Pierce and Kramer, designers of the Jackson-Mann School in Allston.

Architect Robert McNair was project director for Jamaica Plain's newest pride and he says: "Selection of the site and Boston Gas Building proved most fortunate. The building lent itself nicely to conversion."

Jamaica Plain's new high school may well signal new beginnings of rebirth of properties flanking the MBTA's elevated railway as it passes through the community over

Washington Street. That's the opinion of McNair who adds: "Previously we had the well-built Gas Company building surrounded by old and unattractive commercial properties which included an area for impounded automobiles. Only one residence was taken."

"Now," McNair concludes, "we have the pleasant transformation to green fields, open space, and a highly attractive new high school. This could well be the preview of what probably will happen with new developments all along the line when the elevated structure is removed, as it will be in the not-too-distant future."

MAYOR COMMENDS CHARLESTOWN YOUTHS

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 21, commended a group of Charlestown youths for "rendering an important public service" in rescuing a Boston police officer from the wreckage of his burning motorcycle on the night of August 11.

At a reception for the young people and their families at City Hall, Mayor White presented the group with certificates of appreciation from the city.

Mayor White said, "These kids aren't angels, but no kid in the city can lay claim to that title. But there weren't any angels hanging around on the corner the night a policeman needed help. These kids were there, and because of their courage, a policeman is alive today."

The group is credited with rescuing Patrolman Dennis Vitale from the wreckage of his burning motorcycle after Vitale was pinned under his 800-pound, Harley Davidson when a car rammed into him on Bunker Hill Street in Charlestown. Vitale, a thirty-five-year-old father of three, was conscious after the collision, but the roll-bar of the motorcycle had wrapped around his ankle after the crash.

The young people honored in City Hall ceremonies were: David and Kevin Downey, Paul Dobey, Patricia Suprey, Paul Bird, Patricia Bradley, Thomas McGoff, Janet Sullivan, Ann Marie Yandle, and Patricia Cannata.

MAYOR WHITE PROCLAIMS SEPTEMBER "COMMUNITY SCHOOLS MONTH"

Mayor Kevin H. White has proclaimed September "Boston Community Schools Month" signaling the official kick-off of a city-wide, community schools, membership drive. The month-long membership drive is aimed at increasing community participation in the afternoon and evening educational and recreational programs for residents of all ages taking place each week at twenty Boston Community Schools.

Mayor White praised the Boston Community Schools Program for its commitment to identify and respond to the educational and social needs of the neighborhoods it serves. "Community education in this city has made a crucial difference in the lives of many Bostonians, young and old. I urge more people to find out what is available to them through the Boston Community Schools Program," said Mayor White.

The Boston Community Schools Program offers a variety of educational, cultural, recreational, and social programs for people of all ages during afternoon and evening hours at twenty Boston public school facilities. The program, inaugurated by Mayor White, grew out of the belief that these magnificent new facilities should service the whole community, thus becoming genuine community centers for Boston residents.

Director of the Mayor's Office of Community Schools Paul Grogan believes that the city-wide program has proven to be a focal point for coordinated city services responding to a wide range of community needs and interests. "The programming opportunities for participants are limitless, and it is our goal during the 'Boston Community Schools Month' to increase public awareness of our expanded educational services," said Grogan.

Fall registration will take place at all twenty community school sites throughout the month of September. For more information, call the Mayor's Office of Community Schools at 725-4920.

III. LETTERS OF THANKS

"Dear Commissioner:

I wish to take this opportunity to inform you that on a HOT Sunday, July 22, from about 1:30 to 4 p.m., the firemen on duty at 200 Cambridge Street were extremely kind and helpful to us when our care broke down and there were no gas stations open.

The men worked on our care (in between fire calls) and when they were finished, we were able to make our way to Concord, New Hampshire, to visit our daughter. We were most grateful (since we had a two-year-old child in the car with us who by the way, enjoyed the fire engines) and offered them something for their help but all refused.

We therefore wish to contribute this check to your Fire Fund and once again wish to extend to them our grateful appreciation. Men such as they are the finest and you sure can be proud of them.

Sincerely,
Jeanette & Bob Moser,
Union City, N.J. 07087."

SPECIAL COMMENDATION

The Fire Commissioner/Chief is pleased to commend the members involved (Engine Company 4, Ladder Company 24, and District 3) for extending the courtesy of the Boston Fire Department to citizens in need of assistance. The good-will generated by such a gesture is immeasurable — congratulations!

August 21, 1979.

"Dear Commissioner Paul:

I am writing to express my sincere thanks to you and to your wonderful men for your kindness at the time of the funeral of Cardinal John Wright. It was wonderful to see you and your men, along with Monsignor Keating, at the residence and also at the funeral ceremony, itself, at the Holy Name Parish, West Roxbury, August 17th. The solemnity of the occasion will long be remembered and so, too, will the presence of Boston's Finest Fire Fighters. May God bless you and them, always.

With best personal regards, I am
Sincerely in Christ,
Most Reverend Thomas V. Dally, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, Chancellor."

"Dear Commissioner:

On August 1, 1979, at about 9:20 in the evening, a fire was set apparently by vandals in some rubbish which was placed against the side wall of the building we occupy. Due to the prompt action of your unit, the fire was put out promptly and very little damage occurred.

We want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to you and your men. We are enclosing a small check which we ask you to place with the proper party.

Sincerely,
James Shapiro,
David Shapiro Co. Inc."

VETERANS' RETIREMENT

The Boston Retirement Board has approved the following veterans' applications for retirement.

Arthur P. McCarthy, 117 Gallivan Boulevard, Dorchester, police officer, Personnel (M.I.S.) Police Department.

CONTRACTS AMENDED

The Mayor has approved the amending of contracts, based on the following information:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Purchasing Division

Data Processing Machines

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On January 23, 1978, this office awarded a contract, approved by your Honor, to International Business Machines Corporation for the rental and maintenance of previously installed, data processing machines in accordance with the terms of IBM's State and Local Government Lease Plan, for the period from July 1, 1977, through June 30, 1982, at a cost not to exceed $6,614,008.

Permission is requested to amend the original contract by the amount of $4,791, so that the contract, as amended, shall not exceed $6,618,799, which is, in my opinion, a reasonable price.

The increase is requested to reflect machine specification changes as of September, November, December, 1977, and January, 1978.

Because this equipment is being rented under a long-term lease with IBM, in my opinion no useful purpose would be served by advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,
Frank F. Chin,
Purchasing Agent.

Job-Development Services

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend a contract with Education Collaborative for Greater Boston, Inc., (EdCo), 20 Kent Street, Brookline, Mass. 02146, to continue private-sector, job-development services, during the period October 1, 1978, to October 31, 1978. These services will enhance the employment opportunities of participants in EdCo's model work/study program serving out-of-school youth in the Boston Plan, Project YES.

This amendment will increase the contract amount by $3,381 to a total amount not to exceed $59,381. Funds for the continued operation of this contract will be provided from the Youth Incentive Entitlement Pilot Project (YIEPP) grant, under the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Acts of 1977, P.L. 93-95. The period of the contract will be extended one month, to become effective April 15, 1978, to October 31, 1978.

Because this amendment provides for additional services, at a reasonable rate, no public purpose would be served by advertising for bids in this instance. I therefore request approval to dispense with formal advertising in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Erik C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

Accounting Services, etc.

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend a contract with Mr. Paul Juraschek, 21 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass. 02215, to provide continued professional services to the Employment and Economic Policy Administration (EEPA). Mr. Juraschek will be assisting EEPA staff in reviewing administrative and accounting control procedures for all CETA titles. He will be instrumental in reconciling old federal grants and closing out the same; and his services will be utilized to augment the present staff in resolving highly technical accounting problems regarding the City of Boston's accounting system. Mr. Juraschek has demonstrated a knowledge of the intricacies of the city's accounting system and has proven himself particularly adept at resolving complex accounting questions.

Under the terms of the amendment, Mr. Juraschek's contract will be extended three months, to become effective for the period June 1, 1978, through December 31, 1978. The award will be increased by $2,000, to an amount not to exceed $6,800. The contractor will be compensated at a rate of $60 per diem. This action will enable EEPA to continue receiving the benefits of Mr. Juraschek's services for a longer term on a part-time basis.

Funds for the operation of this contract will be provided to the City of Boston through federal government grants under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973, P. L. 93-203.

As this is an award to continue the provision of professional services at a reasonable cost, no public purpose would be served by advertising for sealed bids. I therefore request approval to dispense with formal advertising in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Erik C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

Management Information System

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to amend a contract with Metasoftware, Inc., 320 Central Park West, New York, 10025, to provide continued professional services to the Employment and Economic Policy Administration. The contractor's additional duties will include:

1. Establishment of hardware and software requirements for the Management Information System for CETA Titles I, II, and VI; 2. analysis of and recommendations for staffing requirements and data for Elderly Services project; 3. supervision of the automated client tracking and payroll processing systems for "The Boston Plan Project YES."

Under the terms of this amendment, the contract amount will be increased by $31,000, to an amount not to exceed $68,400. The contract will continue to be effective April 10, 1978, through May 30, 1979.

Funds for the continued operation of this contract will be provided to the city through the Youth Incentive Entitlement Pilot (YIEPP) grant under the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act of 1977, P.L. 95-93.

Because this award is for additional professional services, at a reasonable cost, consistent with federal procurement requirements for CETA programs, and because of the knowledge and experience of the contractor, no public purpose would be served by formal advertising in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Erik C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

Public Relations Services

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request Honor's permission to amend a contract with Hill, Holliday, Connors and Cosmopolis, Inc., to provide additional advertising and public relations services to the Employment and Economic Policy Administration (EEPA) in support of recruitment operations "The Boston Plan Project YES." The amendment is necessary to extend the outreach campaign to achieve enrollee participation levels required by the Youth Incentive Entitlement Pilot Project (YIEPP) grant from the U.S. Department of Labor. Because this task involves the continuation of an ongoing service that is being rendered in a satisfactory manner, at a reasonable rate, no benefit could accrue to the city by soliciting bids.

This amendment will extend the contract two months to become effective for the period February 2, 1978, through November 15, 1978, and increase the award by $9,000, to an amount not to exceed $49,000. Funds for the operation of the amended contract will be provided to the city through a federal government grant under the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act of 1977, P.L. 95-93.

Since this request is for the continuation of satisfactory services at a reasonable rate, no public purpose would be served by formal advertising. I therefore request approval to dispense with inviting sealed bids by advertising in the City Record pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Erik C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT Educational Program

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On behalf of the School Committee of the City of Boston, I request your written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement and to award to Dorothy Washington the following amendments to a contract for participation in the development of educational programs for approximately 100 children and up to fifteen teachers.

Change termination date from June 30, 1978, to August 22, 1978.

Change in Article 4 line item, change on line one (1) is an additional thirty-five days to the 130 days and the rate of pay for the additional thirty-five days is per diem at the rate of $12.54 per hour which at six hours per day comes to the amount of $75.24 per day. Change contract amount from $9,750 to $12,383.40.

Compensation will be paid through Project ED 78-140B, Cost Center 067.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be provided under this contract and the expertise of the contractor in providing such services, it is the determination of the Board of Superintendents, and has been approved by the School Committee, that the public interest would not be served by public advertisement for bids.

Yours truly,
Edward Winter,
Secretary.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT Purchasing Division Perishable Foods

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On February 22, 1978, I wrote a letter to your Honor requesting permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and to award contracts to several companies for furnishing perishable foods and other edible commodities on the basis of weekly or monthly informal competitive bidding, to various city departments, for the period from July 1, 1978, through June 30, 1979. This request was approved by you on March 1, 1978.

Since that time, James J. Derba, Inc., One Griffin Way, Chelsea, Mass. 02150 has expressed an interest in entering into a contract with the city for the purpose of furnishing perishable foods and other edible commodities to various city departments, for the period from September 25, 1978, to June 30, 1979, inclusive.

Since the actual purchase of perishable foods and other edible commodities, which does not lend itself to formal public biddings, is based on informal competitive bidding and since it is in the best interests of the city to have as many bidders as possible, it is my opinion that advertising would serve no useful public purpose.

Respectfully yours,
Frank F. Chin,
Purchasing Agent.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Authority is requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to International Business Machines (IBM), Armonk, New York, with local offices at 610 Lincoln Street, Waltham, Mass. 02154, for the leasing and maintenance of previously installed IBM data processing machines for the Department of Health and Hospitals in accordance with the terms of IBM's State and Local Government Lease Plan.

The term of this contract is for five years pursuant to General Laws chapter 40, section 4, as amended, commencing on July 1, 1978, and continuing for a sixty-month period ending on June 30, 1983. The total cost of this contract for the five-year term is an amount not to exceed $787,861. The total cost for the fiscal year is $142,583. The city has the option to terminate this contract at the end of each fiscal year or, if the city elects to exercise its option to purchase on the effective date of purchase, IBM's State and Local Government Lease Plan will allow the Department of Health and Hospitals to reduce the cost of its presently installed data processing system (which in the past has been leased on a year-to-year basis) without significantly impairing its ability to make equipment alterations and reconfigurations. The more significant advantages of converting to this new lease plan are as follows:

1. Rental Price Reduction — Units of equipment which are placed under this agreement assume a rental price of about 8 percent less than rental under previous agreements. Units which will be placed under this longer-term lease agreement are the 370 computer, disk drives, tape drives, printer and selected controls.

2. Extra Shift Usage Charge — Presently the city pays extra shift usage charges when more than one shift of equipment usage occurs. Under the State and Local Government Lease Plan there are no additional usage (overtime) charges. We will have unlimited use for one basic monthly charge. This is a yearly savings of approximately $10,000.

3. Fiscal Year Price Protection/Rental Price Upper Limit — In the last two years the rental price of IBM equipment has risen 14 percent in two increments of 10 percent and 4 percent. Under this long-term lease price increases would be limited to a maximum of 5 percent per fiscal year. This would add more stability to our budgetary planning process.

4. Purchase Options Accruals — Since the Department of Health and Hospitals intends to purchase the equipment, the increased purchase accruals do provide a higher equity value to the city. Basically the rate and amount the city accrues by purchase options is increased by 15 percent. Under prior agreements, the city could accrue no more than 50 percent toward purchase. This new lease plan raises the limit of credit to 75 percent.

5. Termination or Purchase Option — The city has the right to cancel this agreement at the end of each fiscal year or upon execution of a purchase agreement.

In my opinion, the cost of this five-year lease is reasonable. Accordingly, for the reasons discussed above, I believe that public advertisement would serve no useful purpose and that it is in the city's best interests to enter into this contract with IBM under the terms and conditions stated above.

Respectfully yours,
Frank F. Chin,
Purchasing Agent.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT
Boarding and Securing, CDBG

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The following buildings or structures have been condemned by me as being in an unsafe and dangerous condition. Notices have been sent to the owners, but they have taken no steps to abate the dangerous condition. These buildings or structures are a menace to the neighborhood. The locations follow:

20 Linwood Street, Ward 11; 46 Linwood Street, Ward 11; 28 Balfour Street, Ward 13; 15 DeWolfe Street, Ward 13; 98 Nightingale Street, Ward 14; 15 Howe Street, Ward 15; 17 Howe Street, Ward 15; and 4 School Street, Ward 17.

Emergency bid submitted in bid box October 10, 1978, 11 A.M. One copy to Auditing Department. Box opened by Office of Development and Construction. These buildings are in an unsafe and dangerous condition. A hazard to the general public. It is also necessary to prevent further deterioration and the peril of fires.

Accordingly, in conformity with the provisions of chapter 802, Acts of 1972, as amended, particularly section 124 thereof, I have asked and have received your Honor's permission to enter these various premises and to board up and secure them.

Bidders were requested to submit an aggregate bid for the boarding and securing of these buildings or structures.

We have solicited Invitation bids, award to be made to the lowest qualified bidder, and have received the following:

Donald Clancy and Sons, $7,075; James G. Grant Co., Inc., $11,350; and Kenney Construction, $8,190.

Donald Clancy and Sons, 339 Dorchester Street, South Boston MA 02127, has submitted the lowest aggregate bid. This company is thoroughly familiar with this work, it carries all necessary insurance, and it has done satisfactory work for this department in the past.

Accordingly, the general public safety so requiring, I ask your Honor's approval for the awarding, without advertising, as required in the City Charter of a contract in the sum of $7,075, to Donald Clancy and Sons, 339 Dorchester Street, South Boston MA 02127.

Very truly yours,
Leo F. Martin,
For Building Commissioner.

EEPA Security Services

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to contract with the Inquilinos Boricuas en Accion, 405 Shawmut Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02118, for the purpose of operating the Villa Victoria Security Patrol project. Eight CETA Public Service Employment (PSE) participants will be employed and trained as security patrol members to patrol Parcel 19 (South End) in order to increase and maintain safety where possible. The CETA participants and duties will include accompanying elderly when picking up checks; orientating community residents in crime control and prevention; and notifying proper authorities in case of emergency.

Funds for the operation of the contract will be provided through a federal government grant to the City of Boston under Title VI-B of the Comprehensive and Training Act of 1973, P.L. 92-203. The contract will be effective for the period September 19, 1978, through June 1, 1979, at a total cost not to exceed $71,226.

The project was selected through a competitive evaluation based on the following criteria:

1) The ability of the project to employ the unskilled, long-term unemployed; 2) the ability of the project to provide suitable training to CETA enrollees; 3) the ability of the project agency to offer unsubsidized employment to CETA enrollees upon completion of the project; 4) the project's value in addressing the unmet needs of the residents of Boston; 5) the ability of the agency to administer the project and supervise the enrollees.

As this is a negotiated contract, at a reasonable cost, which conforms to federal procurement requirements for CETA programs, no public purpose would be served by formal advertising. Therefore, I request approval to dispense with inviting bids by advertising in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Eric C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

Pass Program

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to contract with the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (M.B.T.A.), 50 High Street, Boston, Mass. 02110, to provide 235 monthly passes to "The Boston Plan Project YES" counselors as part of its pass program. A pass program is necessary since the duties of a YES counselor include a substantial amount of travel on public transportation to work sites in many areas of the city for evaluations, meetings with enrollees and employers, and payroll.

Funds for the operation of this contract will be provided through a federal government grant to the City of Boston under Title III of the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act of 1977, P.L. 95-93. The contract will be effective for the period October 1, 1978, through September 30, 1979, at a total cost not to exceed $50,000.

Since the MBTA is the sole source for public transportation services and as this is a reasonable cost, no public purpose would be served by advertising for bids. Therefore, I request approval to dispense with formal advertising for bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code St. 4, s. 5.

Sincerely,
Eric C. Butler,
Acting Administrator.

Employment and Training Services

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to contract with the New England Council of CETA Prime Sponsors, Inc. (NECCPS), c/o Penobscot Consortium, P.O. Box 1136, Bangor, Maine 04401. Funds for this contract will be provided from a federal government grant to the City of Boston through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973, P.L. 93-203. The effective dates of operation of this contract will be from October 1, 1978, through September 30, 1979, inclusive, at a cost not to exceed $4,500.

Under the terms of the contract EEPA will be entitled to membership services in the New England Council of CETA Prime Sponsors, Inc.; these services include, but not limited to:

1) A forum to provide for the advancement of the profession of manpower administration, planning and operations and to provide a voice in the development of regional and national employment and training policies; 2) a clearinghouse for technical assistance beyond that which is provided by the Regional Office Employment and Training Institute; 3) a staff directory (annual) and personnel matching system for top- and middle-management positions; 4) a workshop series on topics of current interest to prime sponsors; 5) frequent publications including research, evaluation and critiques of significant positions on programs and topics in the employment and training fields; 6) a mechanism to provide interagency coordination and linkage and to mobilize resources on behalf of prime topics in the employment and training fields.

Given the professional nature of the services to be rendered and the singular qualifications of the contractor, no purpose would be served by advertising for sealed bids. I there-

OFFICE OF FAIR HOUSING Advertising Services

Dear Mayor White:

I hereby request your permission to dispense with public bidding and to award a contract in an amount not to exceed $2,000, to Metro Transit Advertising, located at 72 Sobin Park, South Boston, Mass., for the posting of materials advertising the Mayor's Office of Fair Housing within the Metropolitan Transit system. Payment for this contract will be made from Community Development Block Grant funds.

Under the terms of the agreement, Metro Transit Advertising will post ten subway posters in the subway and bus stations and 300 car cards within the subway cars and buses.

Under the terms of the agreement, it will be specified in the contract that the period of performance shall continue from May 1, 1978, but shall not extend beyond August 31, 1978, without prior approval from the city.

Metro Transit Advertising is the sole agency with the ability to post advertising within the transit system as specified by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority. Therefore, it is my view that public advertising would not serve any useful or practical purpose, and I recommend that a contractual relationship between the city and Metro Transit Advertising be established at this time.

Sincerely,

Eric McFadden,
Director.

All bidders will be required to certify as part of their proposal that they are able to furnish labor that can work in harmony with all other elements of labor employed or to be employed on the work.

All proposals must be from bidders of record on file at Room 714, City Hall. There will be a charge of five dollars ($5), NOT REFUNDABLE, for each set of contract documents taken out. If the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal. Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation, and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment, and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 10 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

A prebid conference will be held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, September 12, 1979, in the Hearing Room, 401 City Hall, One City Hall Square. It is essential that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

RECYCLING BOSTON'S SURPLUS BUILDINGS

Wyman School

11 Wyman Street, Jamaica Plain

Built in 1897, the Wyman School was closed in 1975, but reopened less than two years later as a private, professional clinic for children with learning disorders. Extensive remodeling of former classrooms has resulted in warm, cheery spaces for learning activities, observation, conference rooms, and offices. New ceilings, carpeting, and new mechanical systems yield the advantages of a modern building, at much less the cost. The enclosed outdoor space around the school creates a unique setting for outdoor therapy and recreation.

Perkins School

145 St. Botolph Street, Back Bay/South End

The Perkins School, built in 1891, will be the first Boston school converted to condominiums. Developer interest in the school has been high, reflecting the substantial city and private investment made in the St. Botolph neighborhood over the past several years. Conversion of the school will enhance the area's brownstone residential character, and its proximity to the Copley Square development, as well as a new stop on the MBTA Orange Line, will make it an outstanding example of convenient downtown living.

Fire House (Engine Company No. 41)
16 Harvard Avenue, Allston

Plans for the old Harvard Avenue fire station call for converting it to a replacement branch library to serve the residents of Allston and Brighton. Architectural concepts for this project include skylights, a large bay window facing the street, and a small outdoor sitting area. The building will also contain an elevator and other facilities for the elderly and handicapped.

Fire House (Engine Company No. 39)
344 Congress Street, South Boston

Congress Street's 1892 firehouse will soon become a fire museum. The Museum of Transportation (now located in Brookline) will exhibit its 1914 American LaFrance pumper there, along with other antique fire-fighting equipment. M.O.T.'s main building — a nineteenth-century warehouse which it will share with the Children's Museum — is located just around the corner.

District 5 Police Substation

1765 Centre Street, West Roxbury

Originally designed and used as a gas station, the former police substation is now a busy meat market serving West Roxbury residents. Extensive remodeling and a new parking area have made this building a handsome asset to Centre Street, West Roxbury's main commercial thoroughfare.

District 9 Police Station

409 Dudley Street, Roxbury

The former District 9 Police Station now serves as the headquarters of the Spanish Alliance, Inc. (Alianza Hispana), Boston's main social service agency for Spanish-speaking residents. Extensively renovated with funds provided by the city, the building contains modern classrooms, counseling offices, and indoor recreational space.

District 13 Police Station

28 Seaverns Street, Jamaica Plain

Only a short walk from the Centre Street shopping district, the Jamaica Plain Police Station will be a prime candidate for housing once its replacement facility is completed in 1979-80. Its residential setting and distinctive architecture make it one of the city's most attractive surplus buildings.

BOSTON ADDS FORTY-THREE NEW POLICE OFFICERS

Ten new police officers were assigned to District Eleven, Dorchester recently, after badge-pinning ceremonies in Brighton. They were part of a class of forty-three and have just completed fourteen weeks of training at the Police Academy. They will now be stationed at various posts within the department for nine months of additional on-the-job training.

The ten assigned are: Hugo R. Amate, Jane M. Edwards, Lorraine V. Henshaw, Wilbur E. Brittle, Joel Cochrane, Robert B. Thompson, Louis S. Coleman, John S. Kundy, Richard Memmolo, and Edward Shaughnessey.

The forty-three are members of the first class to be added to the force since January, 1978. They represent the first of more than 400 officers whom the Mayor had pledged to add to the Boston Police Department before the end of fiscal 1979.

The class was composed of twenty-two white males, thirteen black males, two Spanish males, and six black females. Seventeen members of the class have spent at least two years with the Police Department in its Cadet Program.

The Mayor said, "The assignment of the new officers reaffirms the city's commitment to the safety of each citizen, group, and neighborhood."

He continued that the officers "will be a vital part of the city's effort to increase the presence and visibility of public safety and service personnel in the neighborhoods."

LAFAYETTE! WE ARE HERE BOSTON AWAITS YOU

The City of Boston on August 26, demolished the Hayward Place Parking Facility to make way for the proposed Lafayette Place urban revitalization project.

The garage, a thirteen-story reinforced concrete "elevator"-type parking garage was taken down by the "implosion" demolition method, the first time such a demolition strategy has been employed in downtown Boston.

The implosion of the Hayward Garage means that more than 400 explosive charges will be planted at strategic spots within the building. Timed detonation of these charges at key support points allows the building to literally fall into its foundation in ten seconds.

The garage demolition cost $245,000 or nearly $100,000 less than the nearest bid using conventional "wrecking" demolition techniques.

Boston Real Property Commissioner Joanne A. Prevost said, "This demolition method is the cheapest and most efficient way to take down the garage. Cleanup will be accomplished within thirty days without the annoying interruptions, delays, and noise caused by traditional wrecking techniques."

Contractor for the demolition is Cleveland Wrecking Company, America's oldest and largest demolition contractor. The Los Angeles-based firm has worked on a variety of demolition projects in the metropolitan Boston area, including the demolition of the antiquated MBTA elevated line from Everett to North Station.

Cleveland Vice-President Harvey Stern said, "We have found that implosion is the best method to take down a wide variety of buildings. We always prefer the safest and most economical demolition methods."

The actual implosion was done by Cleveland's subcontractor, Controlled Demolition, Inc. (CDI), internationally renowned experts in the implosion field.

CDI founder and precision explosives pioneer John D. Loizeaux said, "We combine a little dynamite and a lot of gravity, and the building pulls itself down. We are proud of our record through twenty-five years of experience on more than 3,000 projects, ranging from delicate in-plant work to clearance of major structures. Our goal is to complete each job with flawless professionalism."

CDI's most famous job to date was the demolition of the massive Traymore Hotel in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

BOSTON EAGERLY AWAITS POPE'S VISIT

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 29, hailed the announcement of the visit of His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, to Boston on October 1 and 2.

"The visit by the Holy Father represents one of the most important visits by a religious leader and international dignitary in the city's history," said the Mayor. "I am pleased to offer him the city's warmest welcome, and give our complete support to preparations for his arrival."

The visit was announced on August 29, by the United States Catholic Conference in Washington and by Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston. Boston is the first stop on the Papal tour of the United States.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED AT SCIENCE MUSEUM

A gamut of volunteer opportunities is now open at Boston's Museum of Science, with training classes beginning in late September and early October.

The museum needs adult men and women to contribute at least a half-day each week in a variety of projects, ranging from discussion of exhibits with visitors to secretarial assignments.

Visitor guides help visitors understand exhibits by talking informally with them. Guides have a science background or science hobbies. In contrast, the emphasis for volunteers in Project Eye-Opener, which introduces inner-city children to the museum, is in making the children feel comfortable while getting acquainted with a few, child-related exhibits, such as live animals and a dinosaur model.

Another particularly child-related activity is serving as volunteer in the Arthur D. Little Discovery Room, planned for ages four through nine. Here volunteers help youngsters explore simple science concepts through a wide range of objects, from rocks to magnets, to magnifying glasses.

Volunteers also assist in the library and museum store. The library Houses more than 30,000 books and magazines of general science interest as well as specialized journals and children's books. The museum store stocks hobby materials, books, minerals, and various gift items.

With clerical and secretarial skills needed in almost every department of the museum, volunteers who enjoy office assignments become familiar with behind-the-scenes operations. Those looking for a chance to ease into the business world find a museum experience acknowledged by future employers.

Training classes for Eye-Opener starts September 24; for Discovery Room, October 13; and for Visitor Guides, October 24. All volunteers participate in a day orientation. To arrange an interview, call the Volunteer Office at 723-2500, extension 258.

BOSTIX: "AN INNOVATIVE STEP IN ARTS DEVELOPMENT"

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 26, hailed the Quincy Market opening of the new "Bostix" centralized ticket sales and information kiosk as "an innovative step in arts development" for Boston.

Bostix is the newest marketing service of Arts/Boston, a not-for-profit service organization dedicated to developing new audiences for the arts. Funds for the project have come from a variety of sources including a $2,500 grant from the City of Boston.

Mayor White Said, "The opening of Bostix kiosk symbolizes a marriage of sorts between two of the city's busiest areas: the Quincy Market and the Theatre District. The Bostix service will provide wider access to the arts than ever before, and that can only enhance the city's efforts to revitalize the Theatre District. If we are half as successful with the Theatre District as we have been with Jim Rouse and the markets, Bostix is going to need an addition to this kiosk soon."

Benjamin Thompson and Associates designed the 200-square-foot, 8-foot-tall, octagonal, steel and glass booth.

The Committee for Permanent Charities Fund has provided $30,000 toward the construction of the booth. The space for the ticket center was donated by the Rouse Company which also contributed $10,000 toward its development.

August 26 was the anniversary of the opening of the new Quincy Market four years ago.

MAYOR URGES: REVIEW CABLE TELEVISION

Mayor Kevin H. White on August 24, urged members of the Cable Television Review Commission to consider a number of specific technical issues in addition to its broad, cable television study.

In a letter to members of the Commission, Mayor White asked:

— consideration of priority cable installation in areas with faulty television reception;

— exploration of a more equitable rate structure for the city to employ in granting cable rights-of-way. The city found, in 1973, that the limits imposed by state and federal governments for right-of-ways left the city with an unfair financial burden in providing for cable regulatory costs, the costs of stimulating creative services for the community, and even the costs of undertaking a comprehensive and thorough franchising process; and a — study of methods by which the city can maximize local investment and ownership of the cable franchise, while still maintaining the highest technical and managerial standards.

In his letter to the group, dated August 21, Mayor White also raised the possibility of installing cable television for free, or at a reduced rate, in areas of the city which suffer from the interference of aircraft overflight.

Said Mayor White, "I understand that the commission has already begun to think about such difficult questions as whether Boston should have one cable television system or many; what measures can be taken to protect the city from winding up with a technically obsolete system; and what sorts of services a Boston cable system should provide. I urge you also to give careful consideration to the issues I have raised here."

CITY COUNCIL RESOLUTION

Councillor Louise Day Hicks introduced the following resolution.

Whereas, Boston is fighting its way through the tangled economic web that the energy crisis is weaving; and

Whereas, The most viable alternative to driving a car is an efficient public transportation system; and

Whereas, The MBTA is proposing a 100 percent fare increase which would cause serious financial hardship to the average Joe Citizen who uses the "T" daily and be catastrophic for the elderly of this city; and

Whereas, The proposed budget of the MBTA will reduce or eliminate passenger service on eleven lines; and

Whereas, A threat of halting the service of all lines on weekends if the $15 million budget request is not met, can be termed dictatorial and is an attempt to hold the citizens of Boston hostage for the mismanagement of the T; and

Whereas, At present, service on the Red Line is down and crime on the Orange Line is up; and

Whereas, A plan to spend one million dollar for uniforms for the employees is among the new proposals to the T, when new uniforms were just issued recently, and the fact that the employees do not want the new uniforms is an outrageous waste of taxpayers' money; and

Whereas, The people of Boston who must pay the annual deficit of the transit system are not receiving better service for the dollars spent; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, requests that Robert L. Foster, chairman of the MBTA, appear before the Boston City Council to give an accounting of this MBTA disservice to the City of Boston.

TREMONT STREET POST OFFICE SUSPENDS OPERATIONS

The United States Postal Service has announced it has been forced to discontinue operation of their Tremont Street Station at 170 Stuart Street, as of August 30.

This action was necessary because the Postal Service has been evicted from the premises by the lessor, as of the end of August.

Interim service will be available for postal customers, who currently use the Tremont Street Station, at the following Post Offices in the immediate vicinity:

1. Back Bay Annex, 90 Stuart Street; 2. Essex Station, 7 Exeter Place.

The Postal Service regrets any inconvenience to customers. An effort to acquire a suitable alternate site in the same general area, however is ongoing.

"KIDS FAIR" OBSERVANCE ON BOSTON COMMON

Mayor Kevin H. White, on August 26, opened the WBZ-TV-sponsored International Year of the Child observance, "Kidsfair" on Boston Common.

Mayor White said, "I can think of no finer tribute to the aspirations and achievements of children than today's 'Kidsfair.' Children are an enriching force within a city. A neighborhood without children has no spirit — it has no future. Today's observance serves to underscore our commitment to the needs of children, and acknowledges their significant contributions to the life of the city."

The free celebration, which ran from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., featured music, theatre, dance, and puppet shows by more than thirty-five different performing groups; sporting events and clinics with professionals from the Boston Celtics, Bruins and New England Teamen; free prizes and souvenirs; participatory games and crafts; and thirty "fun and learning" booths with information and activities sponsored by forty-six different Greater Boston service and cultural organizations.

SENIOR ART EXHIBIT AT CITY HALL

Senior art work from nursing homes throughout Boston will be on display at Boston City Hall's fifth floor Main Gallery, now through September 28, cosponsored by the Townsend Nursing Home and the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs.

The exhibit will explore various art mediums, including free-form poster art, color designs, tissue paper, polymer, cloth designs, collage, and paintings. The themes will be as original as each artist, spanning traditional modes as well as abstract design.

This unusual exhibit is free and open to the public, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT

Clinical Data Service

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to award, without advertising, a contract to Clinical Data Service, 1371 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., for the period July 1, 1978, through September 30, 1978, at a cost not to exceed $15,000.

This contract is being filed late because the department planned to purchase the necessary equipment to perform these tests, in-house. The Cardiology Department, after observing the operations of several monitors, have decided the one best suited for the Boston City Hospital would not be available until February, 1979.

Under this contract Clinical Data Service will supply recorders which are worn by patients to monitor heart activity over a period of several hours. Clinical Data Service then collects these recordings, reads, evaluates, and submits a written report on each patient to the attending physician who will use this report as a basis for further patient treatment.

Invitation for bids to provide these services for the period October 1, 1978, through February 28, 1979, was advertised in the City Record and the bid opening date will be September 26, 1978.

Therefore, because patient heart monitoring cannot be delayed, and because the decision to utilize outside laboratory services was made too late to effect a publicly advertised contract by July 1, 1978, I selected Clinical Data Service to provide this service for the interim period. Clinical Data Service has been utilized by the department and their effectiveness and reliability have been proven. The charges, which are reasonable, are the same as last year.

Very truly yours,
David L. Rosenbloom,
Commissioner.

Ambulance Servicing

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I request your Honor's permission to award, without advertising, a contract to Modular Ambulance Corporation, 2000 South Great Southwest Parkway, Grand Prairie, Texas 75051, for the period July 1, 1978, through June 30, 1979, at a cost not to exceed $7,983.36.

Under this contract, Modular Ambulance Corporation, the manufacturer of our modular ambulances, who have a contract with the department to repair and recondition eight patient compartment modules, and remount them on new chassis at their factory in Texas, will transport (drive) eight ambulances on an agreed schedule from Boston to Texas for reconditioning and remounting then transport (drive) them back to Boston.

The contract is being filed late because original discussions considered the possibility of our own personnel driving the ambulances, this proved more costly and less beneficial to the department. The reconditioning and remounting contract was prepared and transportation of ambulances was inadvertently left out of the specifications.

Therefore, inasmuch as Modular Ambulance is performing the necessary work on the ambulances, the award to this concern will result in a cost I deem to be reasonable. Other benefits will be a delay in the start of the warranty, until the ambulance is delivered in Boston and the return trip to Boston will allow Modular Ambulance to road test and make adjustments if necessary before the department accepts delivery.

In view of the above, no benefit would inure to the city by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,
David L. Rosenbloom,
Commissioner.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT Hockey Director Services

Dear Mayor White:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals by public advertising in the City Record, and to award a contract to Mr. John A. Whelan, 50 Monument Avenue, Charlestown, MA 02129, as director of the Boston Neighborhood Hockey League for the period from November 1, 1978, to April 30, 1979, at a total cost not to exceed $5,153.88. Mr. Whelan will be paid at a monthly rate of $858.98 for a period of six months which is to be charged to the Parks and Recreation Department budget 1-11-41 (29), Miscellaneous Contractual Services.

The services to be provided by Mr. Whelan will include organization of a complete city-wide hockey program for approximately 1,500 boys and girls, ages eight through fifteen. It will be his responsibility to obtain ice time, keep all records, supply all record-keeping material, conduct hockey instructional sessions, supplying instructional films and teaching aids, schedule all officials, settle all disputes, and enforce all regulations. In my opinion the contract cost is reasonable.

Due to the professional nature of the service to be rendered by Mr. Whelan, it is my opinion that no useful purpose would be served by advertising publicly for bids.

Very truly yours,
Alan M. Austin,
Commissioner.

Leasing Certain Premises

Dear Mayor White:

Under a delegation of its power from the Public Facilities Commission to the director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the director for Office of Public Service purposes. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the director to execute such lease, or extension thereof, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The demised premises consist of approximately 500 square feet of office space, located at 20 Parmenter Street in Boston.

The term of the lease will be twelve months, beginning July 1, 1978, and ending June 30, 1979.

The monthly rental will be $270, with the rental charge for this initial term not to exceed $3,240. I have determined that this cost is reasonable.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is not felt by the writer that public advertising would be useful in this instance.

Very truly yours,
Donald B. Manson,
Director.

Copies of said schedule may be obtained, without cost, upon application therefor at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Before commencing performance of this contract, the contractor shall provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under chapter 152 of the General Laws (the Workmen's Compensation Law, so called) to all persons to be employed under this contract and shall continue such insurance in full force and effect during the term of this contract.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the City of Boston Supplemental Minority Participation Section contract provision of the specifications and the obligation of the contractor and all subcontractors to take affirmative action in connection with employment practices throughout the work.

Anti-Discrimination Affirmative Action: During the performance of this contract, the general contractor shall agree and shall require that his subcontractors agree to the following:

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. The aforesaid section shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment advertising; recruitment layoff; termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation; conditions or privileges of employment, and selection for apprenticeship.

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the contractor shall undertake in good faith affirmative action measures designed to eliminate any discriminatory barriers in the terms and conditions of employment on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex, and to eliminate and remedy any effects of such discrimination in the past. Such affirmative action shall include positive measures to ensure equal opportunity in the area of hiring, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, layoff, or termination, rate of compensation, and in-service or apprenticeship training programs. Such affirmative action shall include all action required to guarantee equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religious creed, national origin, age, or sex. A purpose of this section is to ensure to the fullest extent possible an adequate supply of skilled tradesmen for this and future city public construction projects.

The contractor and his subcontractors shall maintain a not less than 30 percent ratio of minority employee manhours in each category of the total manhours worked on this contract, including but not limited to bricklayers, carpenters, cement masons, electricians, iron workers, operating engineers, and other classes of work designated by the Contract Compliance Unit, at the time of project advertisement.

The percent ratio requirement of minority employees manhours (paragraph 1) shall be determined in accordance with the city's policy on minority participation in impacted and non-impacted areas, i.e., 30 percent in im-

IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE REQUIREMENT, no bid for the award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the general contractor complies fully with the following requirements for Minority Business Enterprise Utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston contract, the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 30 percent of his bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business in which 51 percent of the beneficial ownership is held by one or more persons who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization Form," "Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a minority business and general contractor's letter of intent. The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. At the request of the city, one or more of the three lowest bidders may also be required to submit a Minority Business Identification Statement.

Contractors shall also avail themselves of the list of minority businesses to be provided by the city through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, Room 401, to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

A prebid conference will be held at 10 a.m., Wednesday, September 19, 1979, in the Hearing Room, 401 City Hall, One City Hall Square. It is essential that the prospective bidders have a representative attend.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO CHAPTER 370 OF THE ACTS OF 1963, WHICH MUST BE STRICTLY COMPLIED WITH. The Commissioner reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or any item or items of the proposal should he deem it to be for the best interest of the city so to do.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Boston Redevelopment Authority, under the provisions of chapter 149, section 44A to 44L, inclusive, of the Massachusetts General Laws, will receive sealed bids for Phase One Renovation Contract No. 1 for renovation and restoration of buildings located in the Charlestown Navy Yard, located in the Charlestown District, City of Boston, Mass., as follows: at City Hall, ninth floor, Room 910, Boston, Mass. (Attention: Engineering Department) as follows:

General bids will be received until 12 noon, Boston time, on September 24, 1979, and then at that time and place be publicly opened and read aloud. General bids shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the amount named hereinafter.

Filed subbids for the classes of work hereinafter listed shall be filed with the Boston Redevelopment Authority before 12 noon, Boston time, on September 14, 1979, and forthwith after that time will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority reserves the right to reject any or all general bids, if it be in the public interest so to do, and reserves the right to reject any subbid on any subtrade if it determines that such subbid does not represent the subbid of a person competent to perform the work as specified, or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition.

The work will include landscaping; cement; brick and granite paving; excavation and poured concrete; masonry and granite repairs and restoration; roofing; millwork; wood sash and door replacement and/or repair and weatherstripping; repairs and replacement copper gutters and leaders; new sheet metal; caulking and sealing; glazing replacement; and related items shown on the drawings.

Prospective bidders are requested to attend a prebid conference at the Boston Redevelopment Authority Shipyard Site Office, located in Building No. 32 in the former Naval Shipyard, at 9:30 a.m., Boston time on September 11, 1979. Proposed forms of contract documents, including drawings and technical specifications are on file at the office of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, City Hall, ninth floor, Room 910, Boston, Mass.

Each contractor must complete, sign, and file with his bid the Minority Business Utilization Form. Failure to do so will result in the rejection of the bid proposal. The three lowest responsive bidders are required to submit a "Minority Business and General Contractor's Letter of Intent." The letter of intent shall be completed and signed by the minority business enterprise and the general contractor within five days after the time set for receiving bids. Each bid must be accompanied by a bid deposit in amounts as listed below in the form of a bid bond, or cash, or a certified check on, or a treasurer's or cashier's check, payable to the Boston Redevelopment Authority. A bid bond shall be (a) in a form satisfactory to the Authority; (b) with a surety company qualified to do business in the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority; and (c) conditioned upon the faithful performance by the principal of the agreements contained in the subbid or general bid.

For General Bid	$10,000
For Subbids

Masonry	$7,800
Waterproofing, Dampproofing, and Caulking	100

A performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Authority and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price will be required of successful bidder.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the contract documents must be paid on this project, and that the contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Attention is also called to the requirements relating to Workmen's Compensation and conditions of employment and to the Boston Redevelopment Authority's Equal Employment Opportunity Policy adopted February 20, 1969, revised June, 1975, and to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Supplemental Equal Employment Opportunity Anti-Discrimination and Affirmative Action Program and City of Boston Affirmative Action Compliance with contract specifications and to the required certification of the bidder regarding equal employment opportunity.

Attention is also called to the Instructions to Bidders—Award of Contract: Rejection of Bids and the prohibition of abnormally high and abnormally low prices for any class or item of work.

Bids may be held by the Boston Redevelopment Authority for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of the bidders prior to awarding the contract.

These goals are applicable to all the contractor's construction work (whether or not it is federally assisted) performed in the covered areas.

As used in this notice, and in the contract, the covered area is Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westfield, Westwood, Winthrop, Winchester, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor, Massachusetts.

The A.B. and C. are included in the bid specifications.

No bid for award of this project will be considered acceptable unless the contractor complies fully with the following requirements for minority business enterprise utilization.

Pursuant to the supplemental minority participation section of the City of Boston and Boston Redevelopment Authority contract the contractor must give satisfactory assurance that at least 10 percent (30 percent for impact areas) of his/her bid price shall be expended for minority business enterprise. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term minority business enterprise means a business at least 51 percent of which is owned and controlled by minority group members or, in the case of a publicly owned business, at least 51 percent of the stock is owned by minority group members who are Black, Hispanic, Oriental, or American Indians.

Included with the contract documents are copies of the "Minority Business Utilization

Form," Minority Business Identification Statement," "Minority Business Utilization Progress Report," and the "Minority Business and the General Contractor's Letter of Intent."

Contractors shall also avail themselves to the list of minority businesses to be provided by the BRA through the Office of Minority Business Enterprise to facilitate compliance with these requirements.

The attention of all bidders is specifically directed to the provisions of the contract documents, including without limitation, the notice to all bidders (including subbidders), and provisions with respect to bonds, insurance, equal employment opportunity, minimum wages, time of performance, liquidated damages, and the requirements set forth in the specifications or supplemental equal employment opportunity anti-discrimination and affirmative action program contract provisions, and the requirements of mandatory compliance with section 3 of the Housing and Urban development Act of 1968 and Executive Order 11246. A statement of workforce need as required by section 3 and section 3 affirmative action plan shall be submitted with the contractor's proposal. Table AAP-1 to Table AAP-3 and Form AAP-1 and Form AAP-2 on pages ST 1-ST 7 should be filled out.

This requirement will be strictly adhered to. Proposals submitted without the required forms will be rejected. No bidder shall be eligible for award on this project unless he/she is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Authority his/her ability to comply with these requirements.

Attention is called to all prospective bidders that they are required to attend a prebid conference to discuss the federal, state, city, and BRA requirements regarding affirmative action and EEO. Also, to discuss the Minority Business Utilization Program, and goals and timetables for minorities and females. This conference will be held with the Contract Compliance Officer of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, Mr. Reggie Johnson, on Tuesday, September 11, 1979, at 11 a.m., in Room 901.

The Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in bidding, if it be in the public interest so to do.

Bids may be held by the Boston Redevelopment Authority for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of the bidders, prior to awarding the contract.

MAYOR WHITE'S "GOALS FOR BOSTON"

Unveils Development Plan for Neighborhoods

Mayor Kevin H. White on September 4, unveiled a comprehensive program designed to capitalize on the prosperity of development in downtown Boston to generate and foster increased and sustained development in the city's neighborhoods.

Said Mayor White, "To forge the link between the extensive public improvements of the 1970s with the more profound neighborhood development of the 1980s, today I am announcing a wide range of initiatives designed to "cash-in" on the major investments we have made in this city's neighborhoods over the past decade."

The centerpiece for that plan is the Neighborhood Development Action Strategy, a new policy approach to aid neighborhood development by:

- creating a neighborhood development bank from a variety of funding sources. One of these sources will be the federal Urban Development Action Grants (UDAG). Now, the city makes outright grants of those monies to qualified developers to attract them to the city. Under the new policy, those grants become loans. The city, in effect, will expect its cash investment returned with low interest. That bank will aim at the needs of neighborhood-based groups, small merchants, and local residents.
- developing a land bank to ensure that all tax-foreclosed city and HUD-owned properties are inventoried, managed, and marketed for the neighborhood-based development.
- establishing a new secretariat within city government to coordinate and focus all the city's legal and financial powers to launch neighborhood developments.

All development, and development-related projects will be approved by this panel only if they are consistent with strict requirements established by the city.

Said Mayor White, "For the first time in half a century, Boston is in the enviable position of managing development opportunities rather than trying to attract developers. We can afford to set standards for that future development. Our terms will be that the greatest benefit for the largest number of our people must be derived from any development plan."

Those development criteria, "Goals for Boston," are:

—City-assisted downtown development will subsidize neighborhood-based development by plowing-back profits on an escalating scale through the Neighborhood Development Fund. The city, taking advantage of its improved development position, will now make loans instead of grants to the downtown retail and commercial projects, and use those profits to invest in neighborhood development.

—Projects will be approved only if they are competitive, and they reinforce Boston's unique and distinctive character.

—Boston residents will be assured employment or first-priority hiring on "every other" new, permanent, or construction job created by private sector or by tax-exempt, non-profit, educational, medical, or cultural institution.

—Boston residents will not be victimized by private sector conversion of housing for condominiums or commercial development.

—Every graduating senior from a Boston public school, who chooses not to pursue higher education, will be guaranteed by the city a real job leading to a meaningful career in the private sector.

Over the next three weeks, Mayor White will unveil successful prototypes of the new development policy for the city in three model neighborhoods where the targeted approach has already been implemented.

Mayor Kevin H. White Remarks

Twenty years ago, when John Collins proclaimed "A New Boston," the post mortems had already been written about the Old Boston.

The sole focus was downtown. The neighborhoods remained neglected — written off by mayors and bankers as bad risks — a past without a future.

In the past twelve years, Boston has come back strong and with a balanced vitality between downtown and the neighborhoods, which is the envy of mayors and urbanologists from around the country.

Thirteen billion dollars of investment in the 70s alone — 200,000 jobs; Quincy Market and the Waterfront; Charlestown Navy Yard and the Downtown Crossing — to name just a few — thirty-two new schools, police stations, fire stations — an unprecedented investment in public improvements.

New tax revenues and new confidence, not just on State Street, but in neighborhoods from Jamaica Plain to Allston-Brighton.

The New Decade of the 80s brings accelerated economic progress and hope — one billion dollars of investment every year over the next four years, creating over 30,000 new jobs each year, and projections for the overall effect of development over the next decade reach as high as twenty billion dollars.

"Goals For Boston" . . .

That turn-around wasn't achieved by only the Mayor or through a single strategy. We seized a revolution in the service economy which gave us new life and solid prospects for the future, and we helped to set a positive, noncombative climate.

But the key was a city government committed to investing in the neighborhoods. Its Public Facilities are the jewels of Boston and a model for every city in America.

We achieved strength and stability in the neighborhoods through housing renovation, population stabilization, and public investment. We gave the private sector the confidence they required to bank on Boston's future for the first time in half a century.

The challenge of the 80s, and my vision for Boston as we enter that New Decade is to capture the economic success of the private sector — to manage it, to shape it, and to harness it for direct benefits for Bostonians.

Boston can now either let its commercial vitality direct its course, or we can master that success to build a future upon the strength of Boston, which lies in our neighborhoods and in our people.

Today, I am announcing two fundamentally new programs which will capture and manage that success so that we can shape our own future.

First: Goals for Boston — goals which will structure positive incentives and enforce strict requirements for all private development in the city.

A. City-assisted Downtown Development will subsidize neighborhood-based development by plowing-back profits on an escalating scale. Rather than simply awarding grants, the city now will make loans and in some instances become limited equity partners with successful businesses so that we can recapture for neighborhood investment the profit and proceeds of downtown retail and commercial projects.

B. Projects will only be approved if they are competitive, and if they reinforce Boston's distinctive character — its human scale, its history, its emphasis on access, and the premium we place on vitality and livability.

C. For every other new permanent or construction job created by private sector or by tax-exempt, nonprofit educational, medical, or cultural institutions, Bostonians will be assured employment and first priority in hiring.

D. There will be no victimization of residents through private sector conversion of housing, condominiums, or commercial development. Our first commitment has always been and will remain the elderly — and if private developers have to foresake some of their profits to allow the elderly to remain, then that will be the price they will be forced to pay.

E. For every senior graduating from a Boston Public School, who chooses not to pursue higher education, the city, working together with our private industry council under Bill Edgerly's leadership, Superintendent Wood, and CETA will guarantee a real job leading to a meaningful career in the private sector. This will be an incentive to stay in school. This will be a galvanizing concept around which public education can be directed. It will be a promise which I, as Mayor, will be held to and a charge that I, as Mayor, will force the private sector to honor.

The second major initiative I am announcing today is a neighborhood strategy which reinforces these goals for Boston and uses new financial mechanisms to strengthen the vitality and diversity of Boston's neighborhoods.

A. I will convene next month the first meeting of the new Development Secretariat, which I will chair. This secretariat will coordinate and focus all of the city's legal and financial mechanisms and direct them in a targeted way to launch Neighborhood Action Strategies. All development, all land management, all UDAC and CDBG funding, all CETA projects and all city capital improvements will be approved by this secretariat only if they are consistent with the goals for Boston and our targeted objective for neighborhood development.

B. A Land Bank will be established to ensure that all tax-foreclosed city and HUD-owned properties are inventoried, managed, and marketed for neighborhood-based development strategy.

C. A Neighborhood Development Bank will be created which will capture the proceeds from the profits and repayments from city investment in downtown development as well as the profits from the sale of unusable foreclosed properties. This fund will be a bank — small at first, but growing with the success of downtown projects. It will use its equity and lending capacity to assist neighborhood-based groups, small merchants, and local residents. It will funnel the same technical assistance and financial subsidies that the city historically has targeted downtown, town, but this time, all these resources, all this talent, and all this additional financial assistance will be available to the neighborhoods.

D. As successful prototypes, I will unveil over the next three weeks plans for three Model Neighborhoods — Lower Mills,

The Neighborhood Development Action Strategy

Development Secretariat

Mayor White will create a panel of city administration experts on development, jobs, tax policy, and assessing to examine the role of city development agencies and their changing role in a changing Boston.

Specifically, the panel, dubbed the Development Secretariat, will be mandated to undertake a comprehensive land inventory; review all city planning and development agencies and their roles; recommend tax policy changes to encourage neighborhood development; recommend new Community Development Block Grant strategies to encourage neighborhood development; develop the mechanism to implement the Neighborhood Development Action Strategy, and designate target neighborhoods for the plan.

The membership of the panel will be the Mayor, chairman; the Vice-Mayor; Deputy Mayor for Fiscal Affairs; Boston Redevelopment Authority Director; Economic Development and Industrial Corporation Director; Employment and Economic Policy Administration Director; Public Facilities Department Commissioner; Real Property Department Commissioner; Office of Program Development Director; and Assessment Department Commissioner.

Development Secretariat is mandated to undertake comprehensive land inventory; review all city planning and development agencies; recommend tax policy changes to encourage neighborhood development; recommend CDBG guidelines to encourage neighborhood development; recommend mechanisms to implement the strategy; and designate target neighborhoods.

Goals for Boston

One of the sternest tests of the overall development strategy for Boston in the 1980s is whether or not we serve the interests of Boston and its neighborhoods by creating new opportunities for its people, while still maintaining the integrity and commercial vitality of the neighborhoods.

To meet that test, to provide development which serves the needs of every level of the community, we must meet these six goals:

—More competitive development projects must be undertaken, and they must capitalize on Boston's unique character.

—Every other new job in the city should be earmarked for a Bostonian, and that means permanent as well as construction jobs.

—No neighborhoods or sections of neighborhoods should be exploited or victimized through new commercial or residential development.

—A private sector job must be guaranteed for every graduate of the Boston Public Schools.

The Strategy

Because of the strategy Boston has pursued over the past decade — robust downtown commercial development coupled with a comprehensive program of neighborhood improvements — the stage is now set for us to undertake a concerted, well-orchestrated effort aimed at revitalizing the neighborhood commercial districts.

The foundation to accomplish that goal is in place: — through public improvements, we have stabilized the neighborhoods, making them attractive to present residents as well as potential residents, and assuring a market for future neighborhood commercial investments — and, we have positioned Boston as a place where developers are competing for investment opportunities.

Boston is now in the enviable position of managing development opportunities rather than trying to create them. Through that economic strength, Boston can quite literally "call the shots" to use the success of the downtown development projects to pay for the neighborhood development projects.

Neighborhood Development Fund

The fund will be set up through the federal Urban Development Action Grants (UDAG).

Previously, those grants had been awarded to developers for downtown projects. Now, the vitality of the downtown area no longer requires the city to provide such an incentive for development.

We will now make those UDAG grants available to developers in the form of loans. The proceeds of those loans will be funneled into a Neighborhood Development Fund.

The goal of that fund is to finance an infrastructure by which neighborhood development can be nurtured.

The fund will make direct grants; provide loans and loan guarantees; provide interest rate subsidies; and tie into related state and federal financing mechanisms.

The UDAG grant monies will be used as a revolving fund to finance this program, along with capital budget monies, Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds, and general revenue appropriations.

The UDAG monies will reap $75 to $100 million over the next four years.

Land Inventory and Marketing Program

Vacant land in the city represents an untapped asset. Lots which now lay fallow possess substantial development potential if marketed properly.

Undeveloped vacant lots, with their attendant blight, are a poor influence on the neighborhood.

Surplus real estate owned by the city, the Boston Redevelopment Authority, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, will be catalogued and marketed as a resource for neighborhood development.

Model Neighborhoods

The city's goal for the new Neighborhood Development Action Strategy can be most vividly portrayed by the consolidation of planning and development resources represented by the revitalization plans for Dorchester Lower Mills, Roslindale Square, and Blue Hill Avenue.

Those neighborhoods are the prototypes for future neighborhood development.

"Goals For Boston" . . .

velopment across the city because of three elements:

- The Public Infrastructure Is Already in Place. It's easier and cheaper to undertake major development in areas already equipped with the full array of public physical infrastructure (streets, sidewalks, lights) and the full array of public services readily accessible (garbage collection, street cleaning, fire, police, libraries).

- Neighborhood Commercial Revitalization Has a Positive Impact on the Entire Neighborhood. Most of Boston's neighborhoods have a distinct business district which provides a focal point and an identity for the neighborhood. When the business heart of the neighborhood beats strongly, the whole neighborhood is more vital.

- A Wide Range of Financing Mechanisms Can Be Drawn on and Consolidated at the Neighborhood Level. A variety of government financial resources are available for older urban business districts. Neighborhoods can effectively attract and manage such programs with the right kind of guidance. Authoritative, neighborhood commercial groups, possibly under the aegis of multipurpose community corporations, may be the mechanism for managing these programs in the future.

September 11, 1979.

Whereas, There is a very high rate of unemployment in the City of Boston, particularly among the youth of the city, both white and minority;

Whereas, The effect of this high level of unemployment has a serious, substantial, and deleterious effect for all the neighborhoods of the City of Boston, resulting in the physical deterioration of the neighborhoods, vandalism, and crime;

Whereas, There is a particularly high rate of unemployment and underemployment for Boston residents who have worked or seek work in the construction industry;

Whereas, The City of Boston expends substantial sums of money derived from federal, state, and city taxes paid by Boston residents upon public works projects in the city, hence city residents are entitled to receive some direct benefit from such expenditures;
